British Order Military Probe Of Nun's Death

Confusion Grows; New Battle Fought

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Jan. 21 (AP)—The controversy over who killed the American nun, Sister Anthony, grew more confused today and the British ordered a secret military court of inquiry into the incident.

Even as fresh contradictions developed over the death of the 52-year-old nun, killed on the porch of a French convent during a battle in Ismailia Saturday, Britons and Egyptians fought a new skirmish in a cemetery.

A British officer said four Egyptians were killed and five captured and 2,000 rounds of ammunition found inside a tomb during today's battle. A British officer was wounded.

Eyewitnesses Claimed

The nun, who was Brigitte Ann Timbers, Peekskill, N. Y., before she took the veil in the French Order of Saint Vincent DePaul, was killed Saturday when she stepped out of the convent to welcome British tanks during a four-hour battle in Ismailia.

Gen. Sir George Erskine, British commander in the Suez Canal zone, stoutly insisted today there were eyewitnesses from inside the convent who saw Egyptian "thugs" shoot her down.

Egyptian officials, including the acting foreign minister, as categorically asserted that she was killed "by British bullets."

Interior Minister Faud Serag El Din Pasha declared Egypt's own investigation had "proved beyond any doubt" that Sister Anthony was killed by the British. He said a post mortem showed she was killed from long range.

British May Back Down

But a British staff officer showed signs today of backing down after U. S. Consul Lamar Mulliner of Cairo had come to attend a funeral mass for the sister and discuss her death with British and Egyptian authorities.

Asked by reporters if there was an eyewitness to the shooting, the staff officer said "not to the actual shooting."

He said there were only such witnesses "as have been found in the convent."

Though he read what he described as the statement of an eyewitness, it contained no indication that the person who made it actually saw Sister Anthony shot.

American Envoy To Spain Resigns

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Stanton Griffis, American ambassador to Spain since March, 1951, resigned today.

He told President Truman he wanted to return to private life after nearly 10 years of government service, and the approach of his 65th birthday.

Mr. Truman, in accepting the resignation dated Dec. 17, said he did so "with reluctance" and that Griffis' retirement date could be set later.

A New York banker, Griffis was the first American diplomat of top rank sent to Franco Spain since 1945.

The United Nations General Assembly, in a 1946 resolution voted a partial boycott of the Spanish dictator, Francisco Franco, and U. S. envoys of secondary rank had been assigned to the Madrid post.

Griffis' tour of duty as ambassador—following repeal of the U. N. boycott—featured efforts to tie Spain more closely to Western Europe's defense against communism. Negotiations for the use of Spanish bases for American naval and air forces got under way. Original overtures were begun by the late chief of naval operations, Adm. Forrest P. Sherman.

Donald Dame, Met Tenor, Found Dead

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 21 (AP) — Donald Dame, 34, Metropolitan Opera Company tenor, was found dead in bed here today.

He was to have sung a leading role here tonight in a touring Metropolitan Opera production of "Die Fledermaus."

Leonard Schafer, Lancaster County deputy sheriff, said the body was found by Dame's hotel roommate, Howard Jarrett.

Dame was known to radio listeners for his appearances for several years on a Sunday night network show, the American Album of Familiar Music.

No Primary For M'Arthur

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) —An aide of Gen. Douglas MacArthur said tonight the general would have his name withdrawn from the Illinois presidential preference primary.

Col. Lawrence Bunker quoted MacArthur as saying his name was entered "without his knowledge and he will have his name withdrawn."

Bunker said the general didn't know his name was entered until tonight and added: "I suppose he'll do something about it tomorrow."

Petitions putting the general in the April 8 primary along with Harold E. Stassen and Sen. Robert Taft were filed in Springfield, Ill., by Lar Daly, Chicago. Daly is founder and director general of the "MacArthur and McCarthy for '52 Club."

Daly said the MacArthur petitions contained 3,225 names and remarked:

"We are aware that Gen. MacArthur is not a candidate but we believe he'd accept a draft."

Administration Urges Japanese Pact Ratification

Acheson, Bradley Dulles Prod Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Administration leaders told the Senate today it can lay a foundation for peace and security in the Pacific by ratifying the Japanese peace treaty and three related pacts.

Swift approval of the diplomatic agreements, Secretary of State Acheson told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "will lay a strong foundation for our policy in the Pacific and profoundly strengthen the community of freedom-loving nations."

In addition to the peace treaty the committee has before it a closely related set of three security pacts with the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand, and Japan.

Dulles Urges Ratification

The essence of the agreements, Acheson said, "lies in the recognition by each party that an armed attack in the Pacific area upon one of its partners of the treaty would be dangerous to its peace and security."

"Accordingly each declares that it would act to meet the common danger," the secretary said.

John Foster Dulles, one of Acheson's senior advisors and the leading State Department negotiator with the Japanese, told the senators ratification must be voted to keep Japan from becoming "a captive of communism."

Bradley Endorses Pacts

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, also supported ratification, stating the pacts will "contribute very materially to peace in the Pacific."

Although testifying that the Defense Department is in "full accord" with the treaties, Bradley said American military leaders hope that the peace pact will not go into effect until an administrative agreement has been worked out with Japan for the maintenance of U. S. troops there.

Dulles said the State Department fully expects the administrative agreement to become effective at the same time.

Britain May Break With China If War Flares Up

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—A diplomatic official said today Britain has promised the United States she will consider withdrawing her recognition of Red China if the Korean war breaks out again on a major scale.

British leaders right now feel a major flareup of the Korean war is not likely, however, the informant stressed. As long as there is no serious outbreak of new fighting, he added, Britain will continue her policy of maintaining some form of diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime.

Intelligence 'Leak' Reports Investigated

Employes Sought Probe, House Told

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — House members were told today a sweeping inquiry is underway to determine whether vital secrets have been leaking out of the nation's nerve-center for intelligence reports from all over the globe.

Rep. Busbey (R-Ill) said the case represents "the sorry spectacle of loyal American officers and civilian employes being compelled to resort to a petition to the Congress to intervene in order that persons of questionable loyalty and security be removed from sensitive positions."

Eight-Day Probe

Busbey's remarks followed a speech by Rep. Cox (D-Ga) in which Cox said at least eight investigating bodies are looking into complaints dealing with the Army Signal Corps intelligence agency.

The agency receives reports from fact and rumor-gathering agents around the world. It employes 90 civilians and 21 uniformed personnel.

Cox told the House 10 agency employes asked for the inquiry. He said three of the ten were Army officers, headed by Lt. Col. Ollie J. Allen, who was transferred to California only last month.

Allen feared his transfer was designed to silence him, Cox said, so he made a recording of his observations, plus a request for an investigation and corrective measures "in cases where the internal security of the United States is jeopardized."

Documents Missing

Cox did not say what cases were cited by Allen in his recorded statement.

However, the Chicago Tribune reported Saturday night that 10 agency employes had asked Congress to investigate alleged subversive conditions in their unit.

The newspaper story said the inquiry to date had shown "no record" for 57 "top secret" documents. Army intelligence officers said later a new check located either "certificates of destruction" or the documents themselves in a large number of cases but that 11 documents are still missing.

President's IRB Plan Is Assailed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Members of a House inquiry committee today assailed President Truman's plan to reorganize the Internal Revenue Bureau as a hastily contrived package designed to soften the impact of tax scandals.

Legislators in both houses of Congress have generally been cool to the President's plan. Among other things, it would abolish the 64 regional collectors of internal revenue, who are politically appointed. They would be replaced by 25 civil service regional collectors.

Nevertheless, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) told newsmen after a White House visit this forenoon he is confident the House will approve the program. Rayburn said he passed that word to Mr. Truman.

The speaker said the House will vote on the measure this week, probably Saturday.

The House group is considering a resolution to reject Mr. Truman's reorganization plan. It will go into effect automatically unless the House or Senate rejects it.

Japanese Diet Meets

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Japanese Diet, confronting diverse problems of approaching sovereignty, opens today a session which probably will be its last under the occupation.

The parliamentary meeting is due to last through May 7, and Japanese generally believe that prior to that time the peace treaty of San Francisco will have gone into effect.

Rep. Mack Crosses Pacific In His Globe-Girdling Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Congressman Peter F. Mack, Jr., landed at International Airport today after the last—and longest—over-water leg of his globe-girdling flight in a tiny single-engine plane. He made the 2,436-mile hop from Honolulu in about 16 hours.

The Illinois Democrat was met by a large group of newspaper and radio reporters and photographers. Also on hand were San Francisco Chamber of Commerce officials and representatives of the Beechcraft Airplane Company.

Mack was over the airport control tower at 4:54 p. m. (PST) but remained aloft several minutes to burn up some excess fuel. He landed at 5:10 p. m. Mack left Honolulu at 10:54 p. m. last night (12:54 a. m. PST).

The trim red and silver Beechcraft Bonanza was the same one used by the late Bill Odom on his record-breaking flight from Honolulu to Teterboro, N. J., in 1949. On the current flight the specially-equipped plane carried 269 gallons of gasoline, enough for 27 hours of flight.

Ends Pacific Hop

Congressman Peter F. Mack, Jr., of Illinois waves a cheery greeting from the cabin of his small single-engine plane after he arrived at San Francisco last night from Honolulu. He made the 2,436-mile hop, the last and longest over-water leg of his globe-girdling flight, in 16 hours. (Story at bottom of page)

Three Tunisians Slain, 20 Injured As Police Break Up Nationalist Demonstration

TUNIS, TUNISIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Three Tunisians were killed and 20 wounded, some seriously, tonight in a new nationalist demonstration at Nabeul, a coastal town southeast of here.

A clash between the demonstrators and police occurred just at nightfall outside the headquarters of the local Tunisian governor.

When the police moved in to break up the gathering, some of the demonstrators climbed to nearby roofs and began throwing grenades, French authorities said. It was these grenades that caused the casualties, they reported.

Reinforcements Arrive

Mobile guard reinforcements from neighboring Algeria rolled into this strife-torn protectorate today to bolster French efforts to quell bloody nationalist rioting for home rule.

Armored cars and troops surrounded the Arab section of the capital, while police in the European section stopped and searched Tunisians for weapons.

Nationalist demonstrators, clamoring for independence from French rule, continued to gather in front of the French resident-general's headquarters. They answered police orders to disperse with a shower of stones and were fired on in return. Two persons were injured, adding to the scores of wounded since the violence started four days ago. More than a dozen persons have been killed.

Slain Nationalists Buried

A funeral was held today for 11 nationalist demonstrators who were killed or died of wounds in a clash Saturday with police at Mateur, 40 miles west of Tunis.

Several acts of sabotage on telephone lines were reported in Tunis. Nationalist demonstrators stoned streetcars. Most stores in the European area of the city kept their shutters down. Only bakers, coal merchants and tobacco stores were open for business in the Arab section of the city.

Butler Proposes Income Tax Cuts For Newlyweds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) today proposed to cut the income tax 50 per cent for young couples of low income during the first three years of their marriage.

Butler sent a letter to Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, asking that his proposal be considered.

The purpose behind the proposal, he said, "is to lighten the financial burden upon newly-married couples having a combined income of $3,500 or less in order to make it possible for them to establish a home."

IBM Monopoly Charged In Suit

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — The government filed monopoly charges today against the International Business Machines Corp., world's largest maker of tabulating equipment.

The civil anti-trust suit was entered in federal court here.

IBM was accused of hoarding patents, joining international cartels and keeping a tight hold on its machines so as to milk users for service and repair costs.

With headquarters in New York, IBM has more than 140 offices in 59 countries. The complaint charges that the firm controls more than 90 per cent of all tabulating business in this country and 95 per cent of all tabulating machines used by the government.

The government charged that IBM will not sell its machines but only lease them under "burdensome and unreasonable restrictions."

Churchill Has Cold; Reception Cancelled

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—A city reception and parade for Winston Churchill was called off today, with the explanation that the 77-year-old, British prime minister has a severe cold.

Churchill came here from his Washington conference with President Truman for a few days of privacy with his old friend, Financier Bernard Baruch.

President Keeps 1952 Political Plans Secret

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—With his three major messages now before Congress, President Truman clung today to the secret of his 1952 political plan.

The White House would give no indication whether Mr. Truman will seek reelection, retire from politics at the end of the year, or seek election to the Senate or House from Missouri.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short was reminded that Mr. Truman once told a news conference here that he would not disclose his plans until after he had submitted his "state of the union," economic and budget messages to Congress. The budget message, last of the three, went to Capitol Hill at noon today.

Peiping Radio Blasts Allied Airfield Stand

Delegates Confer Only 15 Minutes

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Jan. 22. (AP)—Allied and Red truce delegates discussing the thorny airfield issue met today for only 15 minutes.

The quick adjournment — third such in three days—emphasized the unyielding positions of both sides.

The Peiping radio said this morning that Allied demands for "restrictions on airfields can have no reason other than holding up and torpedoing the armistice negotiations."

"We have submitted every possible reasonable proposal," the official Chinese Communist radio said. "Further changes are impossible."

The radio added, in comment on the other roadblock in the truce path, that "we will never move from the principle of unconditional release and repatriation of all war prisoners."

The subcommittee on prisoner exchange, which also met at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EST, Monday) in an adjoining tent at Panmunjom, was continuing its talks.

Meanwhile, Communist witnesses were giving Allied liaison officers their versions of an Allied plane attack Friday which the Reds charged hit one of their truce convoys near Kaesong.

The Allies acknowledged that four planes bombed and strafed a highway bridge in the area and may have hit the Communist vehicles.

On the stalled airfield issue, which has held up agreement on supervision of an armistice for more than seven weeks, it seemed obvious there was no hope of progress unless:

The Allies or Reds made some sort of concession or one side or the other made a completely new proposal.

Both sides have insisted they will not back down. Both said they had exhausted all arguments on the issue and finally run out of words.

U. N. RAIDERS BATTLE REDS

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Jan. 22. (AP)—Allied night raiders attacked a Communist hill position on the Korean western front twice Monday but withdrew after a two-hour battle with grenade-tossing Chinese Reds.

The U. S. Eighth Army communique said the raiding patrol disengaged at 4 a. m., after it received a "heavy concentration" of Red machinegun fire, hand grenades and small arms.

Allied artillery hammered the Reds for 50 minutes without shaking them loose from their entrenched positions.

Russians Tried To Help Vogeler

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Robert A. Vogeler said today that some officers in the Russian army joined a plot to deliver him from the Hungarian prison where he spent 17 months as an accused spy.

Vogeler told of the escape plan in announcing that he had arranged for former Maj. Nikita Kabiakov, one of the co-conspirators, and his wife and two children to come to the United States.

Vogeler said the plot was arranged by Mrs. Vogeler and some Soviet officers. He said a general and a colonel disappeared after it was discovered and that Kabiakov and his family fled to the American zone of Austria.

Vogeler, who declined to give details of the plans for his escape, was released after lengthy negotiations by the U. S. State Department.

Zuckert Named To AEC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Eugene M. Zuckert, assistant secretary of the Air Force, was named today to take the place of Sumner T. Pike on the Atomic Energy Commission.

Budget In Brief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Truman proposed today an $85,444,000,000 budget-amounting to $550 for each man, woman and child in the country.

This was the picture he laid before Congress in the annual message outlining the administration's financial plans for the fiscal year which starts July 1:

Federal income would be $70,998,000,000, compared with an estimated $62,680,000,000 in the current year. The estimated income is based on present tax laws.

Outgo would be $85,000,000,000, compared with $70,881,000,000 estimated for this year.

That would result in a deficit of $14,446,000,000. This year's deficit is estimated at $8,201,000,000.

The national debt by June 30, 1953, would reach $274,992,000,000. By next June 30, it is estimated, it will be $260,222,000,000.

Sixty cents out of every dollar in the budget would go to the military services—a total of $51,200,000,000.

Foreign aid was earmarked for $10,844,000,000. Thirteen cents out of every dollar would go for international affairs.

The remaining 27 cents out of each dollar would be split up this way: Veteran benefits, pension and so on, 5 cents; social security, health and welfare, 3 cents.; natural resources, including atomic energy, 4 cents; interest on the national debt, 7 cents; other purposes, 8 cents.

U. S. Resists Red Plan To Admit 14 Countries To U.N.

Italy Is Particularly Interested In Scheme

PARIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—The United States is under heavy pressure in the U. N. assembly to accept a Soviet Russian ombinus proposal for the admission of 14 countries to the U. N. from both sides of the iron curtain.

Washington is maintaining a firm stand against all such pressure, American sources said, basing it's stand on principles of international morality. The prospect is no new members will be admitted at the Paris Assembly.

Italy Interested In Plan

Italy was said to be particularly interested in the Soviet plan. Sources familiar with the views of the Italian delegation here said the Italians would be happy if the Americans would relax their opposition to the iron curtain countries and accept a deal which would put Italy, along with the other applicants, except the Republic of Korea, into the U. N. Russia excluded Korea from its proposal and will continue to veto the Seoul government.

Malik Makes Proposal

The back-stage jockeying on the membership question came out late today when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik formally proposed in the Assembly's Political Committee a resolution recommending Security Council approval of the following applications:

Albania (pending six years), Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, Outer Mongolia, (all have failed to get a majority in the Security Council), and Finland, Ireland, Italy, Portugal, Nepal, Ceylon, Jordan, Austria (all vetoed by Russia) and the newest nation, Libya.

Twins, Then Triplets

OMAHA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Lt. Col. Silvio D. Lanzoni, 32, officer in the Strategic Air Command, took care of the twins and their younger sister today, while waiting for his wife to come home from the hospital—with triplets.

Mrs. Lanzoni gave birth to two girls and a boy at Offutt Air Force Base hospital yesterday. The other Lanzoni children are four-year-old twins Gary and Greg, and Katrina, who will be two next month.

Vinson Urges Second Atom Sub, Another Giant Carrier

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee today asked Congress to authorize the Navy to build a second deadly atom-powered submarine and a second giant carrier able to handle atom bomb-carrying planes.

A bill which Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) offered would authorize the Navy to spend about $1,150,000,000 to build new ships and renovate others.

The introduction of the Vinson bill highlights concern of public officials about the submarine menace of Soviet Russia. The Red fleet has never been outstanding as a surface force. But their rising interest in underwater vessels has sparkplugged U. S. Navy counter-measures.

In asking for a second atom-powered submarine, Vinson gave no details other than to say it will have "full submarine attack capabilities."

The hull of the first nuclear powered submarine is now under construction at the Electric Boat Company ways in Groton, Conn. It is scheduled for completion in 1954. The Navy and the Atomic Energy Commission are at work on the power plant.

Republicans, Many Demos Call For Cuts

President Seeks $85,444,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Truman laid down today a "road to security" spending program of $85,444,000,000 for 1952-53. Many members of the election year Congress promptly protested it was too much and would have to be trimmed by billions.

It was far and away the largest federal budget since World War II, and the largest in history, except in time of all-out war. It figures out to $550 for each person in the country. Mr. Truman acknowledged it was "a heavy burden" but called it "the price of peace."

Pointing to a prospective deficit of some $14,400,000,000 in the fiscal year which starts July 1, the Republican leadership in the House got out a statement saying the budget "proves that spending and more spending is the only answer the President has for any problem, large or small."

Many Democrats joined in the outcry against the size of the budget, but such complaints are heard every January. When it comes to performance, Congress usually votes pretty close to what the President asks. In three of the last five years, it has approved even more.

George, O'Conor Call For Cuts

Sen. George (D-Ga) called for cuts of "about five to seven billion," Rep. Mahon (D-Texas), head of the subcommittee which considers military appropriations, said "we are going to have to pare" the request for $51,200,000,000 for the armed services. Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) urged cuts of four or five billion dollars.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, the GOP floor leader, called the fiscal blueprint "shocking."

Rep. Taber of New York, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, said "we must reduce appropriations to a point where we can balance the budget."

Mr. Truman asknowledged he has given up hope of that during the nation's defense buildup. He said he will settle reluctantly for a tax rise of perhaps 4½ billion dollars. That would leave a deficit of nearly 10 billions.

At a budget briefing, Mr. Truman told newsmen he wants the same tax rates he asked Congress to vote last year. The legislators turned him down then, and many of them have said they will do so again.

This is an election year for all House members and a third of the senators.

Mr. Truman also said he will ask Congress to approve an expansion of the nation's atomic program of between five and six billion dollars. This was not included in the budget, because actual spending will not come in the next fiscal year. Mr. Truman said it would be spread over about five years.

30,000-Word Message

The President, in a 30,000-word budget message, declared that an "enormously expensive" buildup of strength at home and aboard is needed to check the threat of Communist aggression.

"Despite its size," he said, "this is

Foreign Policy Draws Taft Fire

BELOIT, Wis., Jan. 21 (AP) —Sen. Taft declared tonight that "in the history of this country there have never been seven years of such disastrous foreign policy as that of this administration."

In his first speech in the Wisconsin primary campaign, the Ohio Republican, a candidate for the presidential nomination, hammered at his theme that "the Korean war is a Truman war."

In a prepared speech at a Rock County Women's Republican Club Lincoln Day dinner, Taft said that "probably a stalemate peace for the moment is better than a stalemate war, but the whole sorry history cannot be interpreted as anything but a tremendous failure in foreign policy."

"This administration has been dominated by a strange Communist sympathy, by a complete absence of consistency and principle, and by the worst of judgment," he said.

"We offer a reorganization of the State Department, to put in charge men of ability and sound judgment to make the day to day decisions, men who believe in the principles of America and are consistently guided by those principles."

Taft asserted that "the pro-Communist policies of the State Department" had "fully justified" Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) "in his demand for an investigation of conditions in that department."

Intelligence 'Leak' Reports Investigated

Employes Sought Probe, House Told

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — House members were told today a sweeping inquiry is underway to determine whether vital secrets have been leaking out of the nation's nerve-center for intelligence reports from all over the globe.

Rep. Busbey (R-Ill) said the case represents "the sorry spectacle of loyal American officers and civilian employes being compelled to resort to a petition to the Congress to intervene in order that persons of questionable loyalty and security be removed from sensitive positions."

Eight-Day Probe

Busbey's remarks followed a speech by Rep. Cox (D-Ga) in which Cox said at least eight investigating bodies are looking into complaints dealing with the Army Signal Corps intelligence agency.

The agency receives reports from fact and rumor-gathering agents around the world. It employes 90 civilians and 21 uniformed personnel.

Cox told the House 10 agency employes asked for the inquiry. He said three of the ten were Army officers, headed by Lt. Col. Ollie J. Allen, who was transferred to California only last month.

Allen feared his transfer was designed to silence him, Cox said, so he made a recording of his observations, plus a request for an investigation and corrective measures "in cases where the internal security of the United States is jeopardized."

Documents Missing

Cox did not say what cases were cited by Allen in his recorded statement.

However, the Chicago Tribune reported Saturday night that 10 agency employes had asked Congress to investigate alleged subversive conditions in their unit.

The newspaper story said the inquiry to date had shown "no record" for 57 "top secret" documents. Army intelligence officers said later a new check located either "certificates of destruction" or the documents themselves in a large number of cases but that 11 documents are still missing.

President's IRB Plan Is Assailed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Members of a House inquiry committee today assailed President Truman's plan to reorganize the Internal Revenue Bureau as a hastily contrived package designed to soften the impact of tax scandals.

Legislators in both houses of Congress have generally been cool to the President's plan. Among other things, it would abolish the 64 regional collectors of internal revenue, who are politically appointed. They would be replaced by 25 civil service regional collectors.

Nevertheless, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) told newsmen after a White House visit this forenoon he is confident the House will approve the program. Rayburn said he passed that word to Mr. Truman.

The speaker said the House will vote on the measure this week, probably Saturday.

The House group is considering a resolution to reject Mr. Truman's reorganization plan. It will go into effect automatically unless the House or Senate rejects it.

Japanese Diet Meets

TOKYO, Tuesday, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Japanese Diet, confronting diverse problems of approaching sovereignty, opens today a session which probably will be its last under the occupation.

The parliamentary meeting is due to last through May 7, and Japanese generally believe that prior to that time the peace treaty of San Francisco will have gone into effect.

Three Tunisians Slain, 20 Injured As Police Break Up Nationalist Demonstration

TUNIS, TUNISIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Three Tunisians were killed and 20 wounded, some seriously, tonight in a new nationalist demonstration at Nabeul, a coastal town southeast of here.

A clash between the demonstrators and police occurred just at nightfall outside the headquarters of the local Tunisian governor.

When the police moved in to break up the gathering, some of the demonstrators climbed to nearby roofs and began throwing grenades, French authorities said. It was these grenades that caused the casualties, they reported.

Reinforcements Arrive

Mobile guard reinforcements from neighboring Algeria rolled into this strife-torn protectorate today to bolster French efforts to quell bloody nationalist rioting for home rule.

Armored cars and troops surrounded the Arab section of the capital, while police in the European section stopped and searched Tunisians for weapons.

Nationalist demonstrators, clamoring for independence from French rule, continued to gather in front of the French resident-general's headquarters. They answered police orders to disperse with a shower of stones and were fired on in return. Two persons were injured, adding to the scores of wounded since the violence started four days ago. More than a dozen persons have been killed.

Slain Nationalists Buried

A funeral was held today for 11 nationalist demonstrators who were killed or died of wounds in a clash Saturday with police at Mateur, 40 miles west of Tunis.

Several acts of sabotage on telephone lines were reported in Tunis. Nationalist demonstrators stoned streetcars. Most stores in the European area of the city kept their shutters down. Only bakers, coal merchants and tobacco stores were open for business in the Arab section of the city.

Butler Proposes Income Tax Cuts For Newlyweds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) today proposed to cut the income tax 50 per cent for young couples of low income during the first three years of their marriage.

Butler sent a letter to Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, asking that his proposal be considered.

The purpose behind the proposal, he said, "is to lighten the financial burden upon newly-married couples having a combined income of $3,500 or less in order to make it possible for them to establish a home."

IBM Monoply Charged In Suit

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — The government filed monopoly charges today against the International Business Machines Corp., world's largest maker of tabulating equipment.

The civil anti-trust suit was entered in federal court here.

IBM was accused of hoarding patents, joining international cartels and keeping a tight hold on its machines so as to milk users for service and repair costs.

With headquarters in New York, IBM has more than 140 offices in 59 countries. The complaint charges that the firm controls more than 90 per cent of all tabulating business in this country and 95 per cent of all tabulating machines used by the government.

The government charged that IBM will not sell its machines but only lease them under "burdensome and unreasonable restrictions."

Churchill Has Cold; Reception Cancelled

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—A city reception and parade for Winston Churchill was called off today, with the explanation that the 77-year-old, British prime minister has a severe cold.

Rep. Mack Crosses Pacific In His Globe-Girdling Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Congressman Peter F. Mack, Jr., landed at International Airport today after the last—and longest—over-water leg of his globe-girdling flight in a tiny single-engine plane. He made the 2,436-mile hop from Honolulu in about 16 hours.

The Illinois Democrat was met by a large group of newspaper and radio reporters and photographers. Also on hand were San Francisco Chamber of Commerce officials and representatives of the Beechcraft Airplane Company.

Mack was over the airport control tower at 4:54 p. m. (PST) but remained aloft several minutes to burn up some excess fuel. He landed at 5:10 p. m. Mack left Honolulu at 10:54 p. m. last night (12:54 a. m. PST).

The trim red and silver Beechcraft Bonanza was the same one used by the late Bill Odom on his record-breaking flight from Honolulu to Teterboro, N. J., in 1949. On the current flight the specially-equipped plane carried 269 gallons of gasoline, enough for 27 hours of flight.

Delegates Confer Only 15 Minutes

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Jan. 22. (AP)—Allied and Red truce delegates discussing the thorny airfield issue met today for only 15 minutes.

The quick adjournment — third such in three days—emphasized the unyielding positions of both sides.

The Peiping radio said this morning that Allied demands for "restrictions on airfields can have no reason other than holding up and torpedoing the armistice negotiations."

"We have submitted every possible reasonable proposal," the official Chinese Communist radio said. "Further changes are impossible."

The radio added, in comment on the other roadblock in the truce path, that "we will never move from the principle of unconditional release and repatriation of all war prisoners."

The subcommittee on prisoner exchange, which also met at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EST, Monday) in an adjoining tent at Panmunjom, was continuing its talks.

Meanwhile, Communist witnesses were giving Allied liaison officers their versions of an Allied plane attack Friday which the Reds charged hit one of their truce convoys near Kaesong.

The Allies acknowledged that four planes bombed and strafed a highway bridge in the area and may have hit the Communist vehicles.

On the stalled airfield issue, which has held up agreement on supervision of an armistice for more than seven weeks, it seemed obvious there was no hope of progress unless:

The Allies or Reds made some sort of concession or one side or the other made a completely new proposal.

Both sides have insisted they will not back down. Both said they had exhausted all arguments on the issue and finally run out of words.

U. N. RAIDERS BATTLE REDS

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Jan. 22. (AP)—Allied night raiders attacked a Communist hill position on the Korean western front twice Monday but withdrew after a two-hour battle with grenade-tossing Chinese Reds.

The U. S. Eighth Army communique said the raiding patrol disengaged at 4 a. m., after it received a "heavy concentration" of Red machinegun fire, hand grenades and small arms.

Allied artillery hammered the Reds for 50 minutes without shaking them loose from their entrenched positions.

Russians Tried To Help Vogeler

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Robert A. Vogeler said today that some officers in the Russian army joined a plot to deliver him from the Hungarian prison where he spent 17 months as an accused spy.

Vogeler told of the escape plan in announcing that he had arranged for former Maj. Nikita Kabiakov, one of the co-conspirators, and his wife and two children to come to the United States.

Vogeler said the plot was arranged by Mrs. Vogeler and some Soviet officers. He said a general and a colonel disappeared after it was discovered and that Kabiakov and his family fled to the American zone of Austria.

Vogeler, who declined to give details of the plans for his escape, was released after lengthy negotiations by the U. S. State Department.

President Keeps 1952 Political Plans Secret

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—With his three major messages now before Congress, President Truman clung today to the secret of his 1952 political plan.

The White House would give no indication whether Mr. Truman will seek reelection, retire from politics at the end of the year, or seek election to the Senate or House from Missouri.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short was reminded that Mr. Truman once told a news conference here that he would not disclose his plans until after he had submitted his "state of the union," economic and budget messages to Congress. The budget message, last of the three, went to Capitol Hill at noon today.

Budget In Brief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Truman proposed today an $85,444,000,000 budget-amounting to $550 for each man, woman and child in the country.

This was the picture he laid before Congress in the annual message outlining the administration's financial plans for the fiscal year which starts July 1:

Federal income would be $70,998,000,000, compared with an estimated $62,680,000,000 in the current year. The estimated income is based on present tax laws.

Outgo would be $85,000,000,000, compared with $70,881,000,000 estimated for this year.

That would result in a deficit of $14,446,000,000. This year's deficit is estimated at $8,201,000,000.

The national debt by June 30, 1953, would reach $274,992,000,000. By next June 30, it is estimated, it will be $260,222,000,000.

Sixty cents out of every dollar in the budget would go to the military services—a total of $51,200,000,000.

Foreign aid was earmarked for $10,844,000,000. Thirteen cents out of every dollar would go for international affairs.

The remaining 27 cents out of each dollar would be split up this way: Veteran benefits, pension and so on, 5 cents; social security, health and welfare, 3 cents; natural resources, including atomic energy, 4 cents; interest on the national debt, 7 cents; other purposes, 8 cents.

U. S. Resists Red Plan To Admit 14 Countries To U.N.

Italy Is Particularly Interested In Scheme

PARIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—The United States is under heavy pressure in the U. N. assembly to accept a Soviet Russian ombinus proposal for the admission of 14 countries to the U. N. from both sides of the iron curtain.

Washington is maintaining a firm stand against all such pressure, American sources said, basing it's stand on principles of international morality. The prospect is no new members will be admitted at the Paris Assembly.

Italy Interested In Plan

Italy was said to be particularly interested in the Soviet plan. Sources familiar with the views of the Italian delegation here said the Italians would be happy if the Americans would relax their opposition to the iron curtain countries and accept a deal which would put Italy, along with the other applicants, except the Republic of Korea, into the U. N. Russia excluded Korea from its proposal and will continue to veto the Seoul government.

Malik Makes Proposal

The back-stage jockeying on the membership question came out late today when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik formally proposed in the Assembly's Political Committee a resolution recommending Security Council approval of the following applications:

Albania (pending six years), Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, Outer Mongolia, (all have failed to get a majority in the Security Council), and Finland, Ireland, Italy, Portugal, Nepal, Ceylon, Jordan, Austria (all vetoed by Russia) and the newest nation, Libya.

Twins, Then Triplets

OMAHA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Lt. Col. Silvio D. Lanzoni, 32, officer in the Strategic Air Command, took care of the twins and their younger sister today, while waiting for his wife to come home from the hospital—with triplets.

Mrs. Lanzoni gave birth to two girls and a boy at Offutt Air Force Base hospital yesterday. The other Lanzoni children are four-year-old twins Gary and Greg, and Katrina, who will be two next month.

Vinson Urges Second Atom Sub, Another Giant Carrier

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee today asked Congress to authorize the Navy to build a second deadly atom-powered submarine and a second giant carrier able to handle atom bomb-carrying planes.

A bill which Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) offered would authorize the Navy to spend about $1,150,000,000 to build new ships and renovate others.

The introduction of the Vinson bill highlights concern of public officials about the submarine menace of Soviet Russia. The Red fleet has never been outstanding as a surface force. But their rising interest in underwater vessels has sparkplugged U. S. Navy counter-measures.

In asking for a second atom-powered submarine, Vinson gave no details other than to say it will have "full submarine attack capabilities."

The hull of the first nuclear powered submarine is now under construction at the Electric Boat Company ways in Groton, Conn. It is scheduled for completion in 1954. The Navy and the Atomic Energy Commission are at work on the power plant.

Republicans, Many Demos Call For Cuts

President Seeks $85,444,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Truman laid down today a "road to security" spending program of $85,444,000,000 for 1952-53. Many members of the election year Congress promptly protested it was too much and would have to be trimmed by billions.

It was far and away the largest federal budget since World War II, and the largest in history, except in time of all-out war. It figures out to $550 for each person in the country. Mr. Truman acknowledged it was "a heavy burden" but called it "the price of peace."

Pointing to a prospective deficit of some $14,400,000,000 in the fiscal year which starts July 1, the Republican leadership in the House got out a statement saying the budget "proves that spending and more spending is the only answer the President has for any problem, large or small."

Many Democrats joined in the outcry against the size of the budget, but such complaints are heard every January. When it comes to performance, Congress usually votes pretty close to what the President asks. In three of the last five years, it has approved even more.

George, O'Conor Call For Cuts

Sen. George (D-Ga) called for cuts of "about five to seven billion," Rep. Mahon (D-Texas), head of the subcommittee which considers military appropriations, said "we are going to have to pare" the request for $51,200,000,000 for the armed services. Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) urged cuts of four or five billion dollars.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, the GOP floor leader, called the fiscal blueprint "shocking."

Rep. Taber of New York, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, said "we must reduce appropriations to a point where we can balance the budget."

Mr. Truman asknowledged he has given up hope of that during the nation's defense buildup. He said he will settle reluctantly for a tax rise of perhaps 4½ billion dollars. That would leave a deficit of nearly 10 billions.

At a budget briefing, Mr. Truman told newsmen he wants the same tax rates he asked Congress to vote last year. The legislators turned him down then, and many of them have said they will do so again.

This is an election year for all House members and a third of the senators.

Mr. Truman also said he will ask Congress to approve an expansion of the nation's atomic program of between five and six billion dollars. This was not included in the budget, because actual spending will not come in the next fiscal year. Mr. Truman said it would be spread over about five years.

30,000-Word Message

The President, in a 30,000-word budget message, declared that an "enormously expensive" buildup of strength at home and aboard is needed to check the threat of Communist aggression.

"Despite its size," he said, "this is

Foreign Policy Draws Taft Fire

BELOIT, Wis., Jan. 21 (AP) —Sen. Taft declared tonight that "in the history of this country there have never been seven years of such disastrous foreign policy as that of this administration."

In his first speech in the Wisconsin primary campaign, the Ohio Republican, a candidate for the presidential nomination, hammered at his theme that "the Korean war is a Truman war."

In a prepared speech at a Rock County Women's Republican Club Lincoln Day dinner, Taft said that "probably a stalemate peace for the moment is better than a stalemate war, but the whole sorry history cannot be interpreted as anything but a tremendous failure in foreign policy."

"This administration has been dominated by a strange Communist sympathy, by a complete absence of consistency and principle, and by the worst of judgment," he said.

"We offer a reorganization of the State Department, to put in charge men of ability and sound judgment to make the day to day decisions, men who believe in the principles of America and are consistently guided by those principles."

Taft asserted that "the pro-Communist policies of the State Department" had "fully justified" Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) "in his demand for an investigation of conditions in that department."

British Order Military Probe Of Nun's Death

Confusion Grows; New Battle Fought

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Jan. 21 (AP)—The controversy over who killed the American nun, Sister Anthony, grew more confused today and the British ordered a secret military court of inquiry into the incident.

Even as fresh contradictions developed over the death of the 52-year-old nun, killed on the porch of a French convent during a battle in Ismailia Saturday, Britons and Egyptians fought a new skirmish in a cemetery.

A British officer said four Egyptians were killed and five captured and 2,000 rounds of ammunition found inside a tomb during today's battle. A British officer was wounded.

Eyewitnesses Claimed

The nun, who was Brigitte Ann Timbers, Peekskill, N. Y., before she took the veil in the French Order of Saint Vincent DePaul, was killed Saturday when she stepped out of the convent to welcome British tanks during a four-hour battle in Ismailia.

Gen. Sir George Erskine, British commander in the Suez Canal zone, stoutly insisted today there were eyewitnesses from inside the convent who saw Egyptian "thugs" shoot her down.

Egyptian officials, including the acting foreign minister, as categorically asserted that she was killed "by British bullets."

Interior Minister Faud Serag El Din Pasha declared Egypt's own investigation had "proved beyond any doubt" that Sister Anthony was killed by the British. He said a post mortem showed she was killed from long range.

British May Back Down

But a British staff officer showed signs today of backing down after U. S. Consul Lamar Mulliner of Cairo had come to attend a funeral mass for the sister and discuss her death with British and Egyptian authorities.

Asked by reporters if there was an eyewitness to the shooting, the staff officer said "not to the actual shooting."

He said there were only such witnesses "as have been found in the convent."

Though he read what he described as the statement of an eyewitness, it contained no indication that the person who made it actually saw Sister Anthony shot.

American Envoy To Spain Resigns

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Stanton Griffis, American ambassador to Spain since March, 1951, resigned today.

He told President Truman he wanted to return to private life after nearly 10 years of government service, and the approach of his 65th birthday.

Mr. Truman, in accepting the resignation dated Dec. 17, said he did so "with reluctance" and that Griffis' retirement date could be set later.

A New York banker, Griffis was the first American diplomat of top rank sent to Franco Spain since 1945.

The United Nations General Assembly, in a 1946 resolution voted a partial boycott of the Spanish dictator, Francisco Franco, and U. S. envoys of secondary rank had been assigned to the Madrid post.

Griffis' tour of duty as ambassador—following repeal of the U. N. boycott—featured efforts to tie Spain more closely to Western Europe's defense against communism. Negotiations for the use of Spanish bases for American naval and air forces got under way. Original overtures were begun by the late chief of naval operations, Adm. Forrest P. Sherman.

Donald Dame, Met Tenor, Found Dead

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 21 (AP) — Donald Dame, 34, Metropolitan Opera Company tenor, was found dead in bed here today.

He was to have sung a leading role here tonight in a touring Metropolitan Opera production of "Die Fledermaus."

Leonard Schafer, Lancaster County deputy sheriff, said the body was found by Dame's hotel roommate, Howard Jarrett.

Dame was known to radio listeners for his appearances for several years on a Sunday night network show, the American Album of Familiar Music.

No Primary For M'Arthur

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) —An aide of Gen. Douglas MacArthur said tonight the general would have his name withdrawn from the Illinois presidential preference primary.

Col. Lawrence Bunker quoted MacArthur as saying his name was entered "without his knowledge and he will have his name withdrawn."

Bunker said the general didn't know his name was entered until tonight and added: "I suppose he'll do something about it tomorrow."

Petitions putting the general in the April 8 primary along with Harold E. Stassen and Sen. Robert Taft were filed in Springfield, Ill., by Lar Daly, Chicago. Daly is founder and director general of the "MacArthur and McCarthy for '52 Club."

Daly said the MacArthur petitions contained 3,225 names and remarked:

"We are aware that Gen. MacArthur is not a candidate but we believe he'd accept a draft."

Acheson, Bradley Dulles Prod Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Administration leaders told the Senate today it can lay a foundation for peace and security in the Pacific by ratifying the Japanese peace treaty and three related pacts.

Swift approval of the diplomatic agreements, Secretary of State Acheson told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "will lay a strong foundation for our policy in the Pacific and profoundly strengthen the community of freedom-loving nations."

In addition to the peace treaty the committee has before it a closely related set of three security pacts with the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand, and Japan.

Dulles Urges Ratification

The essence of the agreements, Acheson said, "lies in the recognition by each party that an armed attack in the Pacific area upon one of its partners of the treaty would be dangerous to its peace and security."

"Accordingly each declares that it would act to meet the common danger," the secretary said.

John Foster Dulles, one of Acheson's senior advisors and the leading State Department negotiator with the Japanese, told the senators ratification must be voted to keep Japan from becoming "a captive of communism."

Bradley Endorses Pacts

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, also supported ratification, stating the pacts will "contribute very materially to peace in the Pacific."

Although testifying that the Defense Department is in "full accord" with the treaties, Bradley said American military leaders hope that the peace pact will not go into effect until an administrative agreement has been worked out with Japan for the maintenance of U. S. troops there.

Dulles said the State Department fully expects the administrative agreement to become effective at the same time.

Britain May Break With China If War Flares Up

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—A diplomatic official said today Britain has promised the United States she will consider withdrawing her recognition of Red China if the Korean war breaks out again on a major scale.

British leaders right now feel a major flareup of the Korean war is not likely, however, the informant stressed. As long as there is no serious outbreak of new fighting, he added, Britain will continue her policy of maintaining some form of diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime.

Intelligence 'Leak' Reports Investigated

Three Tunisians Slain, 20 Injured As Police Break Up Nationalist Demonstration

TUNIS, TUNISIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Three Tunisians were killed and 20 wounded, some seriously, tonight in a new nationalist demonstration at Nabeul, a coastal town southeast of here.

A clash between the demonstrators and police occurred just at nightfall outside the headquarters of the local Tunisian governor.

When the police moved in to break up the gathering, some of the demonstrators climbed to nearby roofs and began throwing grenades, French authorities said. It was these grenades that caused the casualties, they reported.

Reinforcements Arrive

Mobile guard reinforcements from neighboring Algeria rolled into this strife-torn protectorate today to bolster French efforts to quell bloody nationalist rioting for home rule.

Armored cars and troops surrounded the Arab section of the capital, while police in the European section stopped and searched Tunisians for weapons.

More than a dozen persons have been killed.

Slain Nationalists Buried

A funeral was held today for 11 nationalist demonstrators who were killed or died of wounds in a clash Saturday with police at Mateur, 40 miles west of Tunis.

Several acts of sabotage on telephone lines were reported in Tunis. Nationalist demonstrators stoned streetcars. Most stores in the European area of the city kept their shutters down. Only bakers, coal merchants and tobacco stores were open for business in the Arab section of the city.

Butler Proposes Income Tax Cuts For Newlyweds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) today proposed to cut the income tax 50 per cent for young couples of low income during the first three years of their marriage.

Butler sent a letter to Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, asking that his proposal be considered.

The purpose behind the proposal, he said, "is to lighten the financial burden upon newly-married couples having a combined income of $3,500 or less in order to make it possible for them to establish a home."

IBM Monoply Charged In Suit

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — The government filed monopoly charges today against the International Business Machines Corp., world's largest maker of tabulating equipment.

The civil anti-trust suit was entered in federal court here.

IBM was accused of hoarding patents, joining international cartels and keeping a tight hold on its machines so as to milk users for service and repair costs.

With headquarters in New York, IBM has more than 140 offices in 59 countries. The complaint charges that the firm controls more than 90 per cent of all tabulating business in this country and 95 per cent of all tabulating machines used by the government.

The government charged that IBM will not sell its machines but only lease them under "burdensome and unreasonable restrictions."

Churchill Has Cold; Reception Cancelled

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—A city reception and parade for Winston Churchill was called off today, with the explanation that the 77-year-old, British prime minister has a severe cold.

Churchill came here from his Washington conference with President Truman for a few days of privacy with his old friend, Financier Bernard Baruch.

Churchill is due to leave for England tomorrow night.

Peiping Radio Blasts Allied Airfield Stand

Delegates Confer Only 15 Minutes

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Jan. 22. (AP)—Allied and Red truce delegates discussing the thorny airfield issue met today for only 15 minutes.

The quick adjournment — third such in three days—emphasized the unyielding positions of both sides.

The Peiping radio said this morning that Allied demands for "restrictions on airfields can have no reason other than holding up and torpedoing the armistice negotiations."

"We have submitted every possible reasonable proposal," the official Chinese Communist radio said. "Further changes are impossible."

The radio added, in comment on the other roadblock in the truce path, that "we will never move from the principle of unconditional release and repatriation of all war prisoners."

The subcommittee on prisoner exchange, which also met at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EST, Monday) in an adjoining tent at Panmunjom, was continuing its talks.

Meanwhile, Communist witnesses were giving Allied liaison officers their versions of an Allied plane attack Friday which the Reds charged hit one of their truce convoys near Kaesong.

The Allies acknowledged that four planes bombed and strafed a highway bridge in the area and may have hit the Communist vehicles.

On the stalled airfield issue, which has held up agreement on supervision of an armistice for more than seven weeks, it seemed obvious there was no hope of progress unless:

The Allies or Reds made some sort of concession or one side or the other made a completely new proposal.

Both sides have insisted they will not back down. Both said they had exhausted all arguments on the issue and finally run out of words.

U. N. RAIDERS BATTLE REDS

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Jan. 22. (AP)—Allied night raiders attacked a Communist hill position on the Korean western front twice Monday but withdrew after a two-hour battle with grenade-tossing Chinese Reds.

The U. S. Eighth Army communique said the raiding patrol disengaged at 4 a. m., after it received a "heavy concentration" of Red machinegun fire, hand grenades and small arms.

Allied artillery hammered the Reds for 50 minutes without shaking them loose from their entrenched positions.

Russians Tried To Help Vogeler

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Robert A. Vogeler said today that some officers in the Russian army joined a plot to deliver him from the Hungarian prison where he spent 17 months as an accused spy.

Vogeler told of the escape plan in announcing that he had arranged for former Maj. Nikita Kabiakov, one of the co-conspirators, and his wife and two children to come to the United States.

Vogeler said the plot was arranged by Mrs. Vogeler and some Soviet officers. He said a general and a colonel disappeared after it was discovered and that Kabiakov and his family fled to the American zone of Austria.

Vogeler, who declined to give details of the plans for his escape, was released after lengthy negotiations by the U. S. State Department.

Zuckert Named To AEC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Eugene M. Zuckert, assistant secretary of the Air Force, was named today to take the place of Sumner T. Pike on the Atomic Energy Commission.

President Keeps 1952 Political Plans Secret

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—With his three major messages now before Congress, President Truman clung today to the secret of his 1952 political plan.

The White House would give no indication whether Mr. Truman will seek reelection, retire from politics at the end of the year, or seek election to the Senate or House from Missouri.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short was reminded that Mr. Truman once told a news conference here that he would not disclose his plans until after he had submitted his "state of the union," economic and budget messages to Congress. The budget message, last of the three, went to Capitol Hill at noon today.

Budget In Brief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Truman proposed today an $85,444,000,000 budget-amounting to $550 for each man, woman and child in the country.

This was the picture he laid before Congress in the annual message outlining the administration's financial plans for the fiscal year which starts July 1:

Federal income would be $70,998,000,000, compared with an estimated $62,680,000,000 in the current year. The estimated income is based on present tax laws.

Outgo would be $85,000,000,000, compared with $70,881,000,000 estimated for this year.

That would result in a deficit of $14,446,000,000. This year's deficit is estimated at $8,201,000,000.

The national debt by June 30, 1953, would reach $274,992,000,000. By next June 30, it is estimated, it will be $260,222,000,000.

Sixty cents out of every dollar in the budget would go to the military services—a total of $51,200,000,000.

Foreign aid was earmarked for $10,844,000,000. Thirteen cents out of every dollar would go for international affairs.

The remaining 27 cents out of each dollar would be split up this way: Veteran benefits, pension and so on, 5 cents; social security, health and welfare, 3 cents.; natural resources, including atomic energy, 4 cents; interest on the national debt, 7 cents; other purposes, 8 cents.

U. S. Resists Red Plan To Admit 14 Countries To U.N.

Italy Is Particularly Interested In Scheme

PARIS, Jan. 21 (AP)—The United States is under heavy pressure in the U. N. assembly to accept a Soviet Russian ombinus proposal for the admission of 14 countries to the U. N. from both sides of the iron curtain.

Washington is maintaining a firm stand against all such pressure, American sources said, basing it's stand on principles of international morality. The prospect is no new members will be admitted at the Paris Assembly.

Italy Interested In Plan

Italy was said to be particularly interested in the Soviet plan. Sources familiar with the views of the Italian delegation here said the Italians would be happy if the Americans would relax their opposition to the iron curtain countries and accept a deal which would put Italy, along with the other applicants, except the Republic of Korea, into the U. N. Russia excluded Korea from its proposal and will continue to veto the Seoul government.

Malik Makes Proposal

The back-stage jockeying on the membership question came out late today when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik formally proposed in the Assembly's Political Committee a resolution recommending Security Council approval of the following applications:

Albania (pending six years), Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, Outer Mongolia, (all have failed to get a majority in the Security Council), and Finland, Ireland, Italy, Portugal, Nepal, Ceylon, Jordan, Austria (all vetoed by Russia) and the newest nation, Libya.

Twins, Then Triplets

OMAHA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Lt. Col. Silvio D. Lanzoni, 32, officer in the Strategic Air Command, took care of the twins and their younger sister today, while waiting for his wife to come home from the hospital—with triplets.

Mrs. Lanzoni gave birth to two girls and a boy at Offutt Air Force Base hospital yesterday. The other Lanzoni children are four-year-old twins Gary and Greg, and Katrina, who will be two next month.

Republicans, Many Demos Call For Cuts

President Seeks $85,444,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Truman laid down today a "road to security" spending program of $85,444,000,000 for 1952-53. Many members of the election year Congress promptly protested it was too much and would have to be trimmed by billions.

It was far and away the largest federal budget since World War II, and the largest in history, except in time of all-out war. It figures out to $550 for each person in the country. Mr. Truman acknowledged it was "a heavy burden" but called it "the price of peace."

Pointing to a prospective deficit of some $14,400,000,000 in the fiscal year which starts July 1, the Republican leadership in the House got out a statement saying the budget "proves that spending and more spending is the only answer the President has for any problem, large or small."

Many Democrats joined in the outcry against the size of the budget, but such complaints are heard every January. When it comes to performance, Congress usually votes pretty close to what the President asks. In three of the last five years, it has approved even more.

George, O'Conor Call For Cuts

Sen. George (D-Ga) called for cuts of "about five to seven billion," Rep. Mahon (D-Texas), head of the subcommittee which considers military appropriations, said "we are going to have to pare" the request for $51,200,000,000 for the armed services. Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) urged cuts of four or five billion dollars.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, the GOP floor leader, called the fiscal blueprint "shocking."

Rep. Taber of New York, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, said "we must reduce appropriations to a point where we can balance the budget."

Mr. Truman asknowledged he has given up hope of that during the nation's defense buildup. He said he will settle reluctantly for a tax rise of perhaps 4½ billion dollars. That would leave a deficit of nearly 10 billions.

At a budget briefing, Mr. Truman told newsmen he wants the same tax rates he asked Congress to vote last year. The legislators turned him down then, and many of them have said they will do so again.

This is an election year for all House members and a third of the senators.

Mr. Truman also said he will ask Congress to approve an expansion of the nation's atomic program of between five and six billion dollars. This was not included in the budget, because actual spending will not come in the next fiscal year. Mr. Truman said it would be spread over about five years.

30,000-Word Message

The President, in a 30,000-word budget message, declared that an "enormously expensive" buildup of strength at home and aboard is needed to check the threat of Communist aggression.

"Despite its size," he said, "this is

Foreign Policy Draws Taft Fire

BELOIT, Wis., Jan. 21 (AP) —Sen. Taft declared tonight that "in the history of this country there have never been seven years of such disastrous foreign policy as that of this administration."

In his first speech in the Wisconsin primary campaign, the Ohio Republican, a candidate for the presidential nomination, hammered at his theme that "the Korean war is a Truman war."

In a prepared speech at a Rock County Women's Republican Club Lincoln Day dinner, Taft said that "probably a stalemate peace for the moment is better than a stalemate war, but the whole sorry history cannot be interpreted as anything but a tremendous failure in foreign policy."

"This administration has been dominated by a strange Communist sympathy, by a complete absence of consistency and principle, and by the worst of judgment," he said.

"We offer a reorganization of the State Department, to put in charge men of ability and sound judgment to make the day to day decisions, men who believe in the principles of America and are consistently guided by those principles."

Taft asserted that "the pro-Communist policies of the State Department" had "fully justified" Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) "in his demand for an investigation of conditions in that department."

Vinson Urges Second Atom Sub, Another Giant Carrier

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee today asked Congress to authorize the Navy to build a second deadly atom-powered submarine and a second giant carrier able to handle atom bomb-carrying planes.

A bill which Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) offered would authorize the Navy to spend about $1,150,000,000 to build new ships and renovate others.

The introduction of the Vinson bill highlights concern of public officials about the submarine menace of Soviet Russia. The Red fleet has never been outstanding as a surface force. But their rising interest in underwater vessels has sparkplugged U. S. Navy counter-measures.

In asking for a second atom-powered submarine, Vinson gave no details other than to say it will have "full submarine attack capabilities."

The hull of the first nuclear powered submarine is now under construction at the Electric Boat Company ways in Groton, Conn. It is scheduled for completion in 1954. The Navy and the Atomic Energy Commission are at work on the power plant.

Jury To Receive Delaney Case

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The fate of Denis W. Delaney, deposed collector of internal revenue charged with accepting bribes in mishandling tax cases, will be placed in the hands of a federal jury tomorrow.

Only Judge Charles E. Wyzanski's charge remains before the jury of 11 men and one woman begins deliberation on evidence introduced through ten days of testimony.

Defense Attorney C. Keefe Hurley made his final argument this morning; the prosecutor, Special Assistant Attorney General John H. Mitchell, in the afternoon.

Mitchell demanded conviction of all six counts contained in two indictments. Such a verdict could bring maximum penalties of 18 years in prison and fines totaling $27,500.

Delaney is charged with soliciting and accepting $7,500 to influence his tax decisions and with falsely certifying as satisfied $180,000 in tax liens.

In his argument, Hurley concentrated on the credibility of the prosecution's chief accuser, Daniel Friedman, New York insurance salesman. Friedman testified, and Delaney agreed, they entered into an agreement to split "fees" obtained by Friedman.

Any Way You Look At It, Truman's Budget Is Big One

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Every time the clock ticks off a minute the next fiscal year, the government would spend more than $163,000 under President Truman's new budget—almost 10 million dollars an hour.

No one would want to tackle it, but just say you wanted to count out the budget, dollar by dollar.

If you counted a dollar every second for eight hours a day, 40 hours a week, it would take you 11,416 years to do the job.

These are indications of the scope of the $85,444,000,000 federal spending program the President proposed to Congress today for the year beginning next July 1.

Almost Blind Beggar Wins Italian Pool

VENICE, Italy, Jan. 21 (AP)—An almost blind Venetian beggar became a multi-millionaire in lire today, having correctly guessed all of yesterday's winners in the Italian soccer pool.

He nearly passed up his winnings. Because of his poor sight, 72-year-old Teodoro Causin last night did not notice the posted results. A friend, who checked his ticket today, discovered Causin had won.

Causin won about 4,240,000 lire ($6,784) on an investment of 100 lire (16 cents).

Mountain Slope Yields Bodies Of Three Fliers

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Jan. 21 (AP) — A snow-covered Olympics mountain slope that spared the lives of five crashed airmen yesterday yielded the bodies of their three comrades today.

A report via a Coast Guard helicopter pilot told of the bodies being found between the B-17 mercy plane wreckage, at 5,000 feet, and the summit. They had been thrown out in the plane's wild, bouncing 1,300-foot tobogganing down the slope Saturday.

The B-17 of the McChord Air Force Base rescue squadron crashed in a snowstorm on its flight home from the search for 36 victims of a home-bound Korean airlift plane off a Canadian coastal island.

McKeldin Calls Rec Conference

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 21 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has called together some 600 persons for a state house conference this Saturday on public recreation.

Recreation departments, health, educational and social agencies and religious groups have been asked to participate, the Department of Information said today.

Dr. Joseph Prendergast, executive secretary of the National Recreation Association, and Mark McClaskey, director of community education in Brooklyn (N. Y.), will speak.

"Community Responsibility for Recreation" will be the theme of the conference.

"The discussions are designed to determine the extent of interest in a state-wide program of recreation," the information department added. "The possibility of establishing a division of recreation in the Department of State Forests and Parks has been under discussion for some time."

not a budget for all-out mobilization. It is a budget carefully planned to carry us a long way forward on the road to security—at a pace which is not only within our present economic capacity, but which will enable us to grow stronger in the years to come.

"If new international tensions do not develop, and if no further aggressions are attempted, I hope we will be able to reduce budget expenditures about the fiscal year 1954."

The budget Mr. Truman sent to Congress today is for the 1953 fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1952.

It is $14,500,000,000 larger than this year's budget and $45,300,000,000 larger than the government's spending program in 1950, the last full fiscal year before the outbreak of war in Korea.

It may well, the President said, push the national debt as high as the present law allows—to $275,000,000,000 by June 30, 1953. Interest alone on the debt accounts for seven per cent of the new budget.

Mr. Truman earmarked more than three-fourths of his budget for "major national security programs"—the armed forces, foreign aid, atomic energy, promotion of defense production and economic stability, civil defense and merchant marine.

He proposed $51,200,000,000 for the military services alone, to give the nation:

An Air Force of 143 wings.

An Army of 21 divisions.

A Navy with 408 major combatant vessels and 16 large carrier air groups.

A Marine Corps of three divisions.

On top of this, the President asked $10,844,000,000 for "international security and foreign relations"—most of it in the form of military assistance to the nation's European and other allies.

Mr. Truman put the cost of non-security spending at $20,300,000,000 in the coming year—nearly $1,000,000,000 below the present level.

Better Pastures Mean More Milk Production

Maryland farmers can step up milk production, reduce feed costs and conserve soil and water resources by carrying out the pasture improvement practices emphasized in the 1952 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

Blandford emphasizes that, in general, about 38 per cent of all feed consumed by dairy cattle now comes from pasture crops, but that far less concentrated feed would be needed if more pasture improvement practices were carried out.

Liquor Dealer Guarded After Divorcee Slain

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—A 51-year-old liquor store owner remained under police guard in a hospital tonight after allegedly shooting to death a 39-year-old divorcee.

No charge probably will be filed until the man is ready to leave the hospital, and his identification was withheld until a formal charge was filed.

He received injuries when he threw himself into the path of a car last night after trying unsuccessfully to shoot himself in the head. But the gun wouldn't go off. He tried to talk policemen into shooting him down, but they wouldn't.

Police said the shooting victim was Miss Louise Carter Campbell, a secretary and assistant sales manager in a downtown firm.

A local girl who gave her age as 19, was picked up by police after phoning them and saying she was going to commit suicide.

She was released after a "good talking to" by authorities.

New Crisis Reached In Baltimore Strike

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—The rock-ribbed deadlock in the city's transit dispute reached another crisis tonight when company and union officials broke up without scheduling further talks.

The current series which started four days ago apparently brought the disputants no closer to agreement than when they started negotiating.

To The People Of Cumberland

I have read with a great deal of interest the regretable developments surrounding the discontinuance of the Dye House at the Celanese plant. It would appear to me that many citizens do not realize the serious blow that the closing of this unit will deal to the already suffering economy of our community. One obtains a greater appreciation of the loss which this will mean to our community, by calculating the effort which must be put forth to obtain a new industry which would employ the same number of workers as will be left unemployed by the closing of the Dye House. A new industry employing an equivalent number would no doubt request building space, tax exemptions and cash considerations amounting to several hundred thousand dollars. That is assuming that a new industry could be located.

The employees who stand to be displaced, have through their Union representatives made a generous offer to donate their severance pay towards the modernization of the Dye House in a desperate effort to retain this unit for our community. I sincerely urge the present City officials to place this prob' on the top of their agenda; it should be given top priority by the City, The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, The Junior Association of Commerce, South Cumberland Businessmens Association, the newly formed Better Businessmens Association and all groups who profess an interest in the economic future of our city. A joint plea by these groups, if strong enough, might be heard and heeded by the Celanese Corporation.

Any Way You Look At It, Truman's Budget Is Big One

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Every time the clock ticks off a minute the next fiscal year, the government would spend more than $163,000 under President Truman's new budget—almost 10 million dollars an hour.

No one would want to tackle it, but just say you wanted to count out the budget, dollar by dollar.

If you counted a dollar every second for eight hours a day, 40 hours a week, it would take you 11,416 years to do the job.

These are indications of the scope of the $85,444,000,000 federal spending program the President proposed to Congress today for the year beginning next July 1.

Almost Blind Beggar Wins Italian Pool

VENICE, Italy, Jan. 21 (AP)—An almost blind Venetian beggar became a multi-millionaire in lire today, having correctly guessed all of yesterday's winners in the Italian soccer pool.

He nearly passed up his winnings.

Because of his poor sight, 72-year-old Teodoro Causin last night did not notice the posted results. A friend, who checked his ticket today, discovered Causin had won.

Causin won about 4,240,000 lire ($6,784) on an investment of 100 lire (16 cents).

Mountain Slope Yields Bodies Of Three Fliers

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Jan. 21 (AP) — A snow-covered Olympics mountain slope that spared the lives of five crashed airmen yesterday yielded the bodies of their three comrades today.

A report via a Coast Guard helicopter pilot told of the bodies being found between the B-17 mercy plane wreckage, at 5,000 feet, and the summit. They had been thrown out in the plane's wild, bouncing 1,300-foot tobogganing down the slope Saturday.

The B-17 of the McChord Air Force Base rescue squadron crashed in a snowstorm on its flight home from the search for 36 victims of a home-bound Korean airlift plane off a Canadian coastal island.

McKeldin Calls Rec Conference

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 21 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has called together some 600 persons for a state house conference this Saturday on public recreation.

Recreation departments, health, educational and social agencies and religious groups have been asked to participate, the Department of Information said today.

Dr. Joseph Prendergast, executive secretary of the National Recreation Association, and Mark McClaskey, director of community education in Brooklyn (N. Y.), will speak.

"Community Responsibility for Recreation" will be the theme of the conference.

"The discussions are designed to determine the extent of interest in a state-wide program of recreation," the information department added. "The possibility of establishing a division of recreation in the Department of State Forests and Parks has been under discussion for some time."

not a budget for all-out mobilization. It is a budget carefully planned to carry us a long way forward on the road to security—at a pace which is not only within our present economic capacity, but which will enable us to grow stronger in the years to come.

"If new international tensions do not develop, and if no further aggressions are attempted, I hope we will be able to reduce budget expenditures about the fiscal year 1954."

The budget Mr. Truman sent to Congress today is for the 1953 fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1952.

It is $14,500,000,000 larger than this year's budget and $45,300,000,000 larger than the government's spending program in 1950, the last full fiscal year before the outbreak of war in Korea.

It may well, the President said, push the national debt as high as the present law allows—to $275,000,000,000 by June 30, 1953. Interest alone on the debt accounts for seven per cent of the new budget.

Mr. Truman earmarked more than three-fourths of his budget for "major national security programs"—the armed forces, foreign aid, atomic energy, promotion of defense production and economic stability, civil defense and merchant marine.

He proposed $51,200,000,000 for the military services alone, to give the nation:

A total of 3,700,000 men in the armed forces by mid-1953—an increase of 100,000 over the planned total at the middle of this year.

An Air Force of 143 wings.

An Army of 21 divisions.

A Navy with 408 major combatant vessels and 16 large carrier air groups.

A Marine Corps of three divisions.

On top of this, the President asked $10,844,000,000 for "international security and foreign relations"—most of it in the form of military assistance to the nation's European and other allies.

Mr. Truman put the cost of non-security spending at $20,300,000,000 in the coming year—nearly $1,000,000,000 below the present level.

Better Pastures Mean More Milk Production

Maryland farmers can step up milk production, reduce feed costs and conserve soil and water resources by carrying out the pasture improvement practices emphasized in the 1952 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

Blandford emphasizes that, in general, about 38 per cent of all feed consumed by dairy cattle now comes from pasture crops, but that far less concentrated feed would be needed if more pasture improvement practices were carried out.

Liquor Dealer Guarded After Divorcee Slain

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—A 51-year-old liquor store owner remained under police guard in a hospital tonight after allegedly shooting to death a 39-year-old divorcee.

No charge probably will be filed until the man is ready to leave the hospital, and his identification was withheld until a formal charge was filed.

He received injuries when he threw himself into the path of a car last night after trying unsuccessfully to shoot himself in the head. But the gun wouldn't go off. He tried to talk policemen into shooting him down, but they wouldn't.

Police said the shooting victim was Miss Louise Carter Campbell, a secretary and assistant sales manager in a downtown firm.

Give Me Love Or Give Me Death

A local girl who gave her age as 19, was picked up by police after phoning them and saying she was going to commit suicide.

She told questioners at the county investigators office, yesterday, she was going to kill herself because another girl had stolen her boy friend.

New Crisis Reached In Baltimore Strike

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—The rock-ribbed deadlock in the city's transit dispute reached another crisis tonight when company and union officials broke up without scheduling further talks.

The current series which started four days ago apparently brought the disputants no closer to agreement than when they started negotiating.

To The People Of Cumberland

I have read with a great deal of interest the regretable developments surrounding the discontinuance of the Dye House at the Celanese plant. It would appear to me that many citizens do not realize the serious blow that the closing of this unit will deal to the already suffering economy of our community. One obtains a greater appreciation of the loss which this will mean to our community, by calculating the effort which must be put forth to obtain a new industry which would employ the same number of workers as will be left unemployed by the closing of the Dye House. A new industry employing an equivalent number would no doubt request building space, tax exemptions and cash considerations amounting to several hundred thousand dollars. That is assuming that a new industry could be located.

The employees who stand to be displaced, have through their Union representatives made a generous offer to donate their severance pay towards the modernization of the Dye House in a desperate effort to retain this unit for our community. I sincerely urge the present City officials to place this prob' on the top of their agenda; it should be given top priority by the City, The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, The Junior Association of Commerce, South Cumberland Businessmens Association, the newly formed Better Businessmens Association and all groups who profess an interest in the economic future of our city. A joint plea by these groups, if strong enough, might be heard and heeded by the Celanese Corporation.

Jury To Receive Delaney Case

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The fate of Denis W. Delaney, deposed collector of internal revenue charged with accepting bribes in mishandling tax cases, will be placed in the hands of a federal jury tomorrow.

Only Judge Charles E. Wyzanski's charge remains before the jury of 11 men and one woman begins deliberation on evidence introduced through ten days of testimony.

Defense Attorney C. Keefe Hurley made his final argument this morning; the prosecutor, Special Assistant Attorney General John H. Mitchell, in the afternoon.

Mitchell demanded conviction of all six counts contained in two indictments. Such a verdict could bring maximum penalties of 18 years in prison and fines totaling $27,500.

Delaney is charged with soliciting and accepting $7,500 to influence his tax decisions and with falsely certifying as satisfied $180,000 in tax liens.

In his argument, Hurley concentrated on the credibility of the prosecution's chief accuser, Daniel Friedman, New York insurance salesman. Friedman testified, and Delaney agreed, they entered into an agreement to split "fees" obtained by Friedman.

SYMBOL OF HOPE

FLOWERS express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.

And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"

Because...like life...flowers flourish and fade. But there is something in their vital beauty that cannot wholly perish.

When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles.

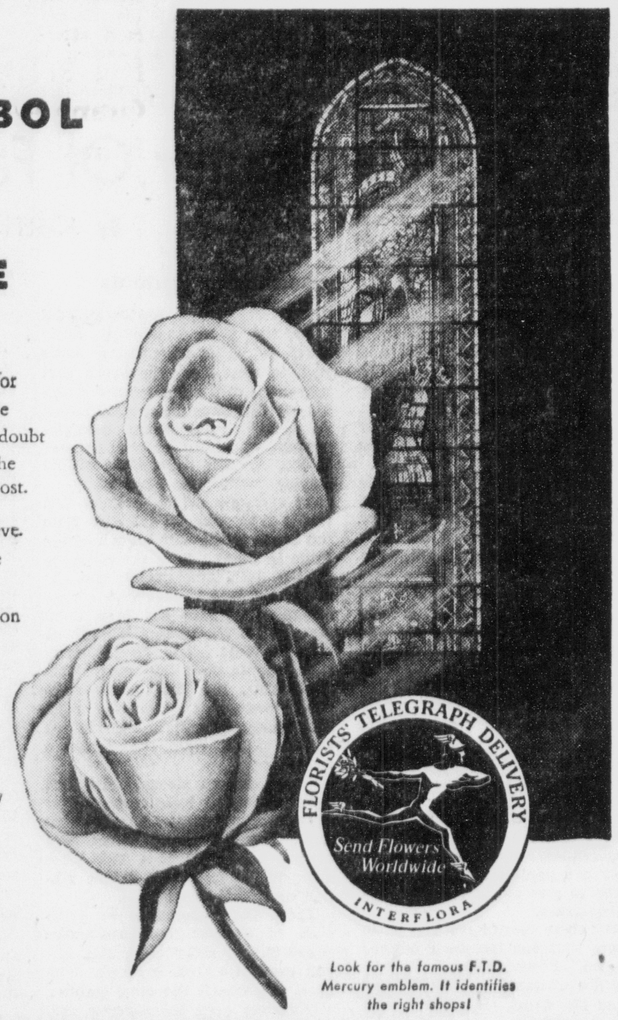
SYMBOL OF HOPE



FLOWERS express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.
And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"
Because...like life...flowers flourish and fade. But there is something in their vital beauty that cannot wholly perish.
When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles.

For Outperforming all other American Cars...

In the Grinding Tests that Won it the Motor Trend Magazine Award, Chrysler proved itself the Best Engineered Car in America

CHRYSLER SURPASSED ALL OTHERS WHEN MOTOR TREND TESTED FOR:
★ Average Braking Distance in Feet
★ Ton Miles per Gallon
★ Average Acceleration in Seconds
★ Acceleration Over Standing ¼ Mile in Seconds
★ Average Top Speed in M.P.H.
★ Maximum Road Horsepower
★ Pounds per Road Horsepower
★ Maximum Torque in Lbs.-Ft.
★ Maximum Brake Mean Effective Pressure
★ First in Total Points

15 different American stock automobiles—equipped as you buy them—were driven by Motor Trend Magazine as hard as steel and rubber can be driven. In these actual road tests of efficiency and performance, measured by the most accurate instruments obtainable, Chrysler proved itself superior to all others. In 13 tests Chrysler was first in 7—tied in 2, making a total of 9 out of 13 . . . and first in total points!
Only by taking an engine to the limit of its potential, only by turning the corners at high speeds, applying brakes for emergency stops, torturing body, springs and shock absorbers, can you learn just what performance you can expect from the make of car you drive. Results of the Motor Trend tests were conclusive . . . as Chrysler, again, proved itself the one best car in America.
The Motor Trend Award, like the numerous other honors today's Chrysler has won, is both a proof of and a tribute to Chrysler's magnificent FirePower engine and master engineering. Each demonstrates why, among men and women who know automobiles . . . Chrysler is always the first choice.

"Sliding" Price Supports

Repeal of the "sliding scale" provisions of the present farm price support law was recommended by President Truman in his annual economic report transmitted to Congress on January 16. Revision of the law, so that farmers would not be penalized for raising abundant crops, had been advocated earlier in January by the National Farmers Union, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange.

"Farmers are now being asked to produce more than ever before," the President said in his report. "The 'sliding scale' in existing price support legislation has aroused concern in the minds of many farmers, who fear that cooperation in expanding production to meet the present emergency might later result in serious losses to them. The government's price support operations obviously should further attainment of production objectives, and they should not penalize producers for their full and patriotic cooperation with the agricultural program."

The present farm price support law for wheat, corn, cotton, and other basic commodities was enacted in 1948-49. The 1948 Hope-Aiken Act was an amalgamation of widely varying House and Senate bills.

The Senate bill had called for support of basic agricultural commodities at 75 per cent of parity in periods of normal supply. When supply sank to 70 per cent of normal, the support price would rise to 90 per cent of parity—the World War II level. When supply soared to 130 per cent of normal, the support price would drop to 60 per cent of parity.

The House bill called for continued support of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice, peanuts, dairy products, hogs, poultry, eggs, and potatoes at 90 per cent of parity. The Secretary of Agriculture could lower, from 90 per cent to a minimum of 60 per cent of parity, the supports for other commodities, including soybeans, flaxseed, American-Egyptian cotton. The support program would be extended to June 30, 1950.

The compromise arrived at in conference put the House plan into effect until December 31, 1949. The Senate plan was to cover future years.

Congress in 1949 rejected the administration-sponsored Brannan plan, which called for direct production payments—subsidies. The final bill was again a compromise between House and Senate plans.

A new parity formula included costs of hired farm labor. Basic commodities were supported at 90 per cent of the higher parity through 1950, as proposed by the Senate. Price supports were to be at 80 to 90 per cent of parity in 1951; 75 to 90 per cent in 1952 and 1953. After 1954 the Anderson plan, if not previously repealed or modified, would govern. This provided for support of basic commodities at 75 to 90 per cent of a "modern," moving-base parity.

The annual economic review of the Council of Economic Advisers, which accompanied the President's report, pointed out that the present high level of farm output, 40 per cent above the 1935-39 average, "has been a major restraint on inflation." The advisers noted that if farmers cooperated in building up reserves of farm commodities to "safe or desirable levels," they might be penalized by having support prices reduced from 90 per cent of parity to as low as 75 per cent.

Internationalize Suez?

Churchill's suggestion on the Suez Canal when he spoke to Congress last Thursday has stirred up a hornet's nest in Washington as well as in Cairo, and even in the British Foreign Office. The British prime minister wanted the United States, also France and Turkey, to station at least "token forces" in the Suez Canal area. (These three powers, with Britain, several months ago made a proposal to Egypt, which she rejected, that she join them in the projected Middle East Command, the headquarters of which would presumably be the British base at Suez.)

However, the presence of foreign troops, other than British, in the Suez Canal zone would violate the existing British-Egyptian treaty. And the reaction of our Congress, when Churchill told it that the Suez Canal had "become an international rather than a national responsibility," seemed to be: "Then you ought to have it internationalized."

Thirty-five years ago, Woodrow Wilson declared that one cause of international friction, if not of international war, lay in control by one nation over waterways of vital concern to other nations. The 12th of his 14 points of peace called for internationalizing the Dardanelles—that is, having it "permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations under international guaranties."

But various nations pointed out at the peace conference of Paris in 1919 that it would be illogical to internationalize the Dardanelles without internationalizing the Suez Canal. Thereupon the British quickly observed that it would be equally illogical to internationalize the Suez Canal without internationalizing the Panama Canal. And that was that.

Uncle Sam's Island Wards

Sometimes there is valid, reason for questioning the advantages of civilization. The natives of Micronesia, who are having civilization thrust upon them as a result of the transfer of control over their scattered islands to the United States since the end of the Pacific war, may perhaps not be blamed if they are inclined to raise the question.

The report made to the United Nations of U. S. trusteeship over the island area that was formerly a Japanese mandate is that the native people are "fast coming of age in a modern world" and showing "increasing ability to undertake responsibility."

But, alas, the Micronesians not only are being introduced to what are termed the advantages of civilization—trade and communications and governmental responsibility—but they have been required to give place for experimentation with that most horrendous development of modern science, the atom bomb.

It seems safe to predict that Micronesia, which includes the Marshalls, the Carolinas and the Mariana Islands, will never become a closely knit, throbbing, modern center. Its 55,730 inhabitants are likely to remain the wards of the United States for a long time, and fairly expensive ones, too. It cost $7,556,509 to care for them in the year ended June 30, offset only by revenues of $346,327.

The trusteeship report commented that a self-sustaining economy for the islands is remote, since "the meagerness of their natural resources precludes anything but a subsistence economy." The idyllic aspect of island life, often set forth in the theater and in fiction, seemed a delusion to thousands of Americans in the armed forces, who saw Micronesia during the war, where squalor, disease and want were obvious.

Basic reason for the presence of the United States in the former Japanese mandates is strategic. Nevertheless, there is something of an obligation to do as well as possible for the natives. But the cost should be held within reason.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Mites Get Under Your Skin

The itch is a synonym for one of our most common skin diseases, scabies. This condition is especially prevalent during the winter months and can produce lesions over the entire body except the face and scalp.

The culprit is a horrible looking parasite barely visible to the naked eye but discernible under a magnifying glass. The female is twice as large as the male and is the trouble-maker so far as we are concerned. The married couple live originally on the surface but after impregnation papa dies and mama burrows beneath the uppermost layer of the skin to deposit her eggs. The burrow is seen under the magnifying glass as a slightly elevated, straight, tortuous, or dotted line with a blister at one end representing the site of penetration.

The webs between the fingers are favorite localities but the disease is likely to spread from the fingers to the wrists, forearms, armpits, abdomen, and genitals. If it were not for the itching the disorder would be easy to diagnose because of the typical burrow pattern with the tiny blister at one end but scratching distors the picture and before long the area becomes irritated, pustular, swollen and red. In many instances it looks like a severe form of eczema and feels twice as bad.

In this respect the eruption varies considerably in different cases. Its appearance is altered by the duration of the disorder, the degree of personal cleanliness, and treatment, as well as by the manner in which the infection is acquired. Those who picked up the itch mite in unclean beds or from linen in a dirty hotel or motel have lesions principally upon the trunk and lower abdomen. When it is contracted manually from other sources the outbreak usually begins on the hands.

Successful treatment requires perserverance and the ability to follow directions. The time honored sulfur ointment is being replaced gradually by benzyl benzoate. This product is the active ingredient of balsam of Peru and is preferred because it is easy to apply, has no odor, and does not stain the skin, underclothing, bedding, or linen. Furthermore, it rarely irritates unless the skin is tender or raw from previous scratching.

Treatment begins with a hot bath lasting 20 minutes. While the body is wet, the lotion is applied from the neck to the fingers and from the shoulders to the toes. A second application is advisable after the first dries. The same clothing may be worn after bathing and the medicine should be allowed to remain on the skin for 48 hours, after which another bath is taken and, if necessary, benzyl benzoate is applied for the third time. Fresh clothing is then donned.

Many other remedies for scabies are available but thoroness of application is more important than the type of ointment used. The victim of these bothersome mites should stick to one preparation that is known to be effective and avoid those with fantastic claims.

TEETHING

Mrs. S. writes: Every time my baby gets a new tooth he develops symptoms of a cold, with running nose and cough. Why should teething affect him in this way?

REPLY

This probably is coincidental; teething does not cause colds. The process does make the child more irritable and now and then interferes with sleeping and eating. Should these disturbances lower resistance, infections may take over.

VIRAL PNEUMONIA

L. W. writes: Is virus pneumonia considered a chronic condition?

REPLY

No. The disease comes and goes and the victim is left with little or no immunity. Fatigue is a common aftermath and some individuals get the impression that the disease is chronic when the tired feeling persists for months or years.

SUSPECTS MICE

Mrs. J. H. writes: I read your article about mice and rickettsialpox. I have the symptoms you mention; the illness started with a water blister on my thigh which became infected and spread. Several weeks later my temperature rose and my neck and armpits started bothering me. We have just built a new home and in the process we had to live in a garage where there were mice. How could I find out if I have this disease?

REPLY

Diagnosis is made through a study of the blood. Virus studies are difficult and only a few laboratories have the facilities for making tests of this nature. The skin eruption associated with this disease (which you do not mention) usually disappears in three to eight days. Even if you did have rickettsialpox, the chances are that you have recovered by now.

STOMACH CANCER

S. L. writes: Must cancer of the stomach be well along before the victim loses weight?

REPLY

In general, this is true.

Tax Delinquents Protected By Secrecy Law; Outcome Of New Orleans Gangsters' Tax Liens May Never Be Told; Law Should Permit Public Inspection

WASHINGTON — Down in New Orleans two big shots of the underworld have been in tax trouble but, under the present rules of the Internal Revenue Bureau, not one word can be said about it.

The two men are Carlos Marcello and Silvestro Carollo, the first having served time in Atlanta for selling marijuana; the second, a leader of the Mafia, having been ordered deported. Nevertheless, both are protected by official secrecy as far as their tax delinquency is concerned.

What the Internal Revenue Bureau states is that if any details of tax delinquency or tax frauds are revealed to the press or public, that official would be subject to $10,000 fine and a term in jail.

This strict secrecy is one reason why tax influence has been so rife in Washington. It is also one thing the King Committee on tax frauds should study this week.

Here is how the secrecy order works in the case of the New Orleans gangsters:

Carlos Marcello of Jefferson Parish, just outside New Orleans, was rated by the Kefauver Committee as the No. 1 bad man of the area. He is the associate of Dandy Phil Kastel, the partner of Frankie Costello, got a year and a day for peddling marijuana, and had a tax lien slapped on him and his brother Vincent for $76,800.

Only Washington Knows

This tax lien was filed by the Internal Revenue collector on May 19, 1939, in order to protect the government in its collection of taxes; but there is no record as to how that lien was settled. The public has no way of knowing whether Marcello's taxes were paid in full, compromised or dropped.

Local Deputy Collector John J. Sehrt, when queried by the New Orleans Item, said he did not know. The records, he said, had been destroyed; besides, these cases are settled in Washington.

Against the other New Orleans gangster, Silvestro Carollo, four tax liens were filed in 1945, totalling $62,024. All were marked discharged on March 28, 1946.

Carollo has a lot of political influence. Though he served three stretches for bootlegging, narcotics, and attempted murder, he always got out, and, in the case of the murder rap, received a full pardon from the governor of Louisiana. Later, 1936, when he went back to jail on a narcotics charge, the federal government decided he was an undesirable citizen and ordered him to Italy, only to have Louisiana's back-slapping Congressman Jimmy Morrison come to his rescue with several private bills to keep him in the U. S. A.

Despite Congressman Morrison, Carollo's record was too black, and he was deported, April 30, 1947, only to be picked up on July 4, 1950, right back in New Orleans. He had been ordered back by "Lucky" Luciano, the world's top narcotics smuggler.

In Carollo's case, local tax officials also did not know whether tax liens had been paid in full or "adjusted." All such matters, it was explained, were handled in Washington.

Accordingly, this columnist called on Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue Alvin Cross, in charge of accounts and collections. Mr. Cross has been in Internal Revenue for some 20 years and has a good record as a conscientious public servant. I explained the situation of the two New Orleans gangsters and asked whether their taxes had been paid in full or compromised.

"I do not know, and if I did know, I could not tell you," Mr. Cross replied. "Under Section 55 (E) it is a penitentiary offense for anyone to give out information regarding taxes."

"But these men have served in Atlanta and one has been ordered deported," I remonstrated.

"It doesn't make any difference," replied Mr. Cross, "the law is clear against publishing tax returns on tax settlements."

"These are two men who have had a lot of political influence," I continued. "How can the public ascertain whether they used their influence to adjust their taxes rather than pay up in full?"

Mr. Cross repeated that under the law passed by Congress there was just no way it could be done.

Secretary of Treasury Rules

"Who makes the final decision as to whether an unpaid tax is to be paid in full or compromised?" I asked.

"The secretary of the Treasury," replied Mr. Cross. "It cannot be made by the local collector, nor is it made in this bureau. It goes up to the secretary of the Treasury himself."

I then approached Mr. Cross from another angle. Pointing out that the secrecy statute on tax returns was passed to protect honest and prompt taxpayers, I suggested that the secrecy rule should be different when a man became delinquent and it was necessary to file a tax lien against him.

"When these two gangsters in New Orleans had liens slapped on them, it all became a matter of public record," I pointed out. "Automatically the cloak of secrecy was removed.

"This publication of a tax lien,"

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Trouble Over Hollywood

The conflict among Communists, anti-Communists and simpletons in Hollywood is a source of grief to everyone in that industry. The number of Communists in the industry is comparatively small, but they are an effective, well-entrenched element who know how to fight. And they are now fighting for a livelihood.

The bulk of those involved in the present excitement, which includes a $1,000,000 libel suit and a shameless money settlement with some of the Hollywood Ten, are men and women who had a wonderful time posing as progressives and liberals when it was popular to be a pal of Uncle Joe, and who now want to pose as conservatives when it is perilous to be pro-Russian.

Most of them were insincere then and they are insincere now. Most of them are intellectual wisps in the wind, without purpose other than to be popular and to seem to be intelligent and to make a good-sized income. Most of them could not be pro-Marxist or anti-Marxist because they have not the slightest idea of what either term means. I have the conviction that the so-called greatest minds in Hollywood, who are often described as possessing little short of genius, could not pass a written examination on philosophic or economic subjects which they include in their repertoire.

The settlements with the Hollywood Ten started last summer when these men, who had established their own position before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, sued under their contracts. Most Americans were angered by their conduct, which included jail sentences for contempt.

The top men of the industry met at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and decided not to employ those who were in contempt of Congress—a perfectly sound and American decision. Those dismissed thereupon sued under the terms of their contracts for damages. As is usual in such matters, the lawyers got into the situation and some of them expressed the view that the meeting of the top men in the industry at the Waldorf might be interpreted as a conspiracy.

Conspiracy against whom—against avowed Communists? Against those who defied Congress and were sent to jail in contempt? Against men and women who had had their day in court and did not take it?

Such legalistic advice would be contemptible were it not that lawyers these days tell one — off the record, of course — that no one can know how a New Deal judge is going to decide a case. No cowardice can be as profound as the legalistic, because lawyers know the worst about their own profession and about judges.

Just ordinary Americans, like you and me, take chances every day that this is still a free country and that Americans can meet to discuss the problems of their country and condemn its enemies. I attend such meetings all the time and have not yet been sued for a conspiracy against Joe Stalin.

However, some Hollywood companies and their lawyers think otherwise. Last summer they sought advice, and one of the advisers told them not to make Communists rich by letting them win huge sums in court, as though their cases were sewed up.

Result: According to "Variety":

"Checks turned over to attorney Robert W. Kenny, acting for the plaintiffs, ended two suits — the breach of contract actions brought against Metro by Lester Cole and Dalton Trumbo. It also ended participation by Metro, WB (Warner Brothers), Universal and Columbia in the general conspiracy action brought against the studios by Albert Maltz and the other members of the group . . ."

This settlement clears no one of anything. It simply means that the companies were advised by their lawyers not to stand trial. It does not mean that the plaintiffs or the defendants are not at fault.

Hollywood has to face this problem constructively. Most actors, writers, directors, producers and even executives are not Communists. Many have made stupid records for themselves to show off; some were actually liberals and progressives. Most are just in the mummer business.

The few hundred Communists in show business are enemies of America and nobody needs to spend his money supporting enemies. And many Americans will not spend their money enriching Communists, or those who employ them.

The constructive job is to isolate the Communists, so that honest men may know them for what they are. Then the rest can go about their business properly. This can never be done as long as lawyers treat Stalin's conspiracy against America with the legalisms that only work in Stalin's favor.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON.—Just as Americans were beginning to feel a sense of relief that Great Britain and the United States were working together in their policies toward Korea and Red China, the British Foreign Office has thrown a monkey wrench into the machinery.

This comes at a time when almost everybody here was feeling enthusiastic about the success of Prime Minister Churchill's mission and about the splendid impression he made.

For the British Foreign Office has not only disheartened many Americans but it has also stabbed the prime minister in the back and cast doubt on his ability to make good on the pledges he so firmly gave to the American government.

The British prime minister told Congress last week: "Our two countries are agreed that if the truce we seek is reached only to be broken, our response will be prompt, resolute and effective."

Rug Pulled Out

Here was a warning that the Communists could not possibly misunderstand. They had been counting on the division between Britain and America over Korean policy. They have been successful in the past in driving a wedge between the two countries based on the unwise recognition of the Communist regime in China by Britain in the first place. Now, at the moment when the warning words of Churchill were calculated to show the Communists that Britain and America stood together, the British Foreign Office pulls the rug from under the feet of both governments and weakens the hand of the UN negotiators who are trying to work out an armistice calling for the return of prisoners and at the same time carrying the assurance that the flow of blood—largely American—will cease.

If the Communists had agents in the British Foreign Office they could not have done more than was accomplished in diluting the strength of the Churchill pledge. It revives in Congress impressing that the British are tricky—which impressions Mr. Churchill has done so much to dispel. It was certainly giving aid and comfort to the enemy at a crucial moment.

Various dispatches reflected the Foreign Office viewpoint. Thus the London correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune described the conference of the Foreign Office spokesman with the press as follows:

"It was explained here that Mr. Churchill's statement was not intended as a blanket approval for any action which the United States might like to adopt in retaliation for a Communist violation of a Korean truce. Britain, it was explained, has not finally agreed to any specific action, and adheres to the principle of prior consultation and agreement before any new action is taken.

"At the same time, Mr. Churchill's statement was said to have been intended as a warning to Communist China that Britain will not necessarily withhold approval of any forceful action proposed by the United States, such as direct air attack on China proper, in the event that a truce is violated."

This is the kind of double talk which not only confuses Americans but encourages the Communist negotiators to believe that they can break a truce and there will be a prolonged palaver about it such as has been going on for months in the Korean negotiations. It also misleads. For the implication there is that if a truce is broken, the United States alone would plan to take action and the British in their own time would give it lukewarm consideration. The truth is that all the representatives of the 12 nations which have troops in Korea meet regularly in Washington and when a decision is made it is the agreement of all UN nations and not America alone.

Disclosed Plans Prematurely

There were such meetings last week to explore a future course of action in Korea if the truce were not honored and it is to be presumed the British prime minister knew the nature of those agreements. Certainly this is top-secret stuff on the military side and it ill becomes the British Foreign Office to tell the enemy that no agreement has been reached or that the pledge given by the British prime minister doesn't really mean what it says and is subject to future debate and revision. This isn't the first time the Foreign Office has disclosed prematurely Allied intentions on military operations in Korea.

Some Americans will doubtless infer now that the British Foreign Office has in it men in sympathy with the attitude of the "left wing" of the British Labor party which has always wanted the Allies to quit Korea and make a peace at any price. Or it could mean that under pressure of British Labor politics, anticipating a partisan political attack on the prime minister when he gets home, the Foreign Office is trying to throw the partisans off the track and tell them that nothing really has been agreed to and that they will still have a chance to argue about it.

The net effect is to reassure the Communist negotiators in Korea that the solidarity of the Allies is merely a paper proposition and that actually it doesn't mean very much more.

Maybe the prime minister will look into all this when he gets home. Meanwhile the blood of American and British and other troops in Korea will continue to be shed as the disunited nations lumber along with an enemy ready to take advantage of such division and dissension instead of impressing them by policies of firmness and unity.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Eisenhower Portents

WASHINGTON

In the general political hurly burly, too little attention is being paid to news from the South that may decisively influence the struggle for the Republican nomination. In brief, the Southern delegates rounded up by the forces of Senator Robert A. Taft show signs of not staying rounded up after all.

As everyone ought to know, the traffic in Republican delegates from the South is the only branch of the trade in human flesh not outlawed by the 14th Amendment and the Mann Act. The leading practicioner for many a year has been John Marshall, a Washington lawyer and longtime Taft friend. By the exertions of Marshall and other Taft lieutenants, the Taft forces have come into every convention from 1940 onwards with a nice lot of human cattle from the Southern states.

In the current struggle, the Taft camp claims to have secured over 150 Southern delegates already. This herd, if not dispersed before convention time, will be a Taft asset every bit as important as the Illinois and Ohio delegations.

These facts constitute no criticism of Senator Taft, since the supporters of every other Republican candidate seek Southern delegates in precisely the same manner, and merely envy the superior skill of the Taftian experts. Political human nature, the distinctly sordid quadrennial struggle for Southern delegates is an inevitable result of the immense over-representation of the one-party South in the Republican convention. At the same time, there is no doubt at all these serious losses in the Southern delegations will be about the most serious setback the Taft movement can suffer.

Taft Forces Set Back

All this in turn highlights to significance of the stirrings in the South since General Dwight D. Eisenhower declared his Republicanism and his candidacy. Because the Huey Long dynasty struggled to perpetuate itself afforded the main drama of the recent Louisiana primary, no one has even noticed that the Taft forces in Louisiana simultaneously suffered a heavy setback.

The improbable appearance of two Republican candidates for lieutenant governor caused a Republican primary also to be held in Louisiana last week. By some quirk in the Louisiana law, the voting was limited to New Orleans Parish. But in New Orleans Parish, which is of course vastly the most important in the state, a pro-Eisenhower faction headed by the able lawyer, John M. Wisdom, swept the board. Of 12 places on the state central committee, Eisenhower men took 10; and of 20 places on the parish executive committee, Eisenhower men took 15.

It is not clear as yet whether this heavy initial defeat will upset Republican national committeeman John E. Jackson's traditional control of Louisiana's 13 Republican delegates. Jackson, the Taft leader in the state, can perhaps neutralize Wisdom's triumph in New Orleans by appealing to the other Louisiana parishes. Yet this recent vote of Louisiana Republicans must still be accounted a highly significant straw in the wind. Louisiana can no longer be called in the bag for Taft, which has been the phrase thus far rather complacently used at Taft headquarters. Wisdom claims, indeed, that he will take an Eisenhower delegation to Chicago.

Another state officially claimed as in the bag for Taft was Kentucky. Judge Charles Dawson, Republican senatorial nominee at the last election and titular leader of Kentucky Republicans, some time ago organized a pro-Taft movement including 105 of the party chieftains in the state. Again, there seemed to be no likelihood that Taft would be successfully challenged in Kentucky until Eisenhower announced.

Kentucky Split Expected

Almost at that moment, however, an Eisenhower movement took shape, headed by the hard-hitting Representative Thurston Morton of Louisville and Judge James Park, of Lexington. Howes Mead, former congressman from Kentucky's Republican mountain district, has joined in, along with several other men of influence, and former Senator John Sherman Cooper, the Kentucky Republican commanding the widest personal support, is also strongly cooperating. The Taft men got into the field soon enough so that the local experts think they will told a majority of Kentucky's 25 man delegation, but a split is expected, with an undetermined but valuable share of the delegates going to Eisenhower.

One swallow does not make a summer, and a few delegates lost to Taft in Kentucky and Louisiana do not mean that his whole prospective herd of Southern delegates will scatter before Chicago. Yet the developments in Louisiana and Kentucky must be considered in conjunction with the powerful endorsement of Eisenhower by several of the leading newspapers in other Southern states. Overall, it can at least be said that the Taft headquarters claims to control almost the whole convention representation of the South, which formerly sounded so convincing, are not really convincing any longer. Taft still has the edge in the South, but the outcome there is uncertain, as it is elsewhere.

"Sliding" Price Supports

Repeal of the "sliding scale" provisions of the present farm price support law was recommended by President Truman in his annual economic report transmitted to Congress on January 16. Revision of the law, so that farmers would not be penalized for raising abundant crops, had been advocated earlier in January by the National Farmers Union, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange.

"Farmers are now being asked to produce more than ever before," the President said in his report. "The 'sliding scale' in existing price support legislation has aroused concern in the minds of many farmers, who fear that cooperation in expanding production to meet the present emergency might later result in serious losses to them. The government's price support operations obviously should further attainment of production objectives, and they should not penalize producers for their full and patriotic cooperation with the agricultural program."

The present farm price support law for wheat, corn, cotton, and other basic commodities was enacted in 1948-49. The 1948 Hope-Aiken Act was an amalgamation of widely varying House and Senate bills.

The Senate bill had called for support of basic agricultural commodities at 75 per cent of parity in periods of normal supply. When supply sank to 70 per cent of normal, the support price would rise to 90 per cent of parity—the World War II level. When supply soared to 130 per cent of normal, the support price would drop to 60 per cent of parity.

The House bill called for continued support of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice, peanuts, dairy products, hogs, poultry, eggs, and potatoes at 90 per cent of parity. The Secretary of Agriculture could lower, from 90 per cent to a minimum of 60 per cent of parity, the supports for other commodities, including soybeans, flaxseed, American-Egyptian cotton. The support program would be extended to June 30, 1950.

The compromise arrived at in conference put the House plan into effect until December 31, 1949. The Senate plan was to cover future years.

Congress in 1949 rejected the administration-sponsored Brannan plan, which called for direct production payments—subsidies. The final bill was again a compromise between House and Senate plans.

A new parity formula included costs of hired farm labor. Basic commodities were supported at 90 per cent of the higher parity through 1950, as proposed by the Senate. Price supports were to be at 80 to 90 per cent of parity in 1951; 75 to 90 per cent in 1952 and 1953. After 1954 the Anderson plan, if not previously repealed or modified, would govern. This provided for support of basic commodities at 75 to 90 per cent of a "modern," moving-base parity.

The annual economic review of the Council of Economic Advisers, which accompanied the President's report, pointed out that the present high level of farm output, 40 per cent above the 1935-39 average, "has been a major restraint on inflation." The advisers noted that if farmers cooperated in building up reserves of farm commodities to "safe or desirable levels," they might be penalized by having support prices reduced from 90 per cent of parity to as low as 75 per cent.

Internationalize Suez?

Churchill's suggestion on the Suez Canal when he spoke to Congress last Thursday has stirred up a hornet's nest in Washington as well as in Cairo, and even in the British Foreign Office. The British prime minister wanted the United States, also France and Turkey, to station at least "token forces" in the Suez Canal area. (These three powers, with Britain, several months ago made a proposal to Egypt, which she rejected, that she join them in the projected Middle East Command, the headquarters of which would presumably be the British base at Suez.)

However, the presence of foreign troops, other than British, in the Suez Canal zone would violate the existing British-Egyptian treaty. And the reaction of our Congress, when Churchill told it that the Suez Canal had "become an international rather than a national responsibility," seemed to be: "Then you ought to have it internationalized."

Thirty-five years ago, Woodrow Wilson declared that one cause of international friction, if not of international war, lay in control by one nation over waterways of vital concern to other nations. The 12th of his 14 points of peace called for internationalizing the Dardanelles — that is, having it "permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations under international guaranties."

But various nations pointed out at the peace conference of Paris in 1919 that it would be illogical to internationalize the Dardanelles without internationalizing the Suez Canal. Thereupon the British quickly observed that it would be equally illogical to internationalize the Suez Canal without internationalizing the Panama Canal. And that was that.

Uncle Sam's Island Wards

Sometimes there is valid, reason for questioning the advantages of civilization. The natives of Micronesia, who are having civilization thrust upon them as a result of the transfer of control over their scattered islands to the United States since the end of the Pacific war, may perhaps not be blamed if they are inclined to raise the question.

The report made to the United Nations of U. S. trusteeship over the island area that was formerly a Japanese mandate is that the native people are "fast coming of age in a modern world" and showing "increasing ability to undertake responsibility."

But, alas, the Micronesians not only are being introduced to what are termed the advantages of civilization—trade and communications and governmental responsibility—but they have been required to give place for experimentation with that most horrendous development of modern science, the atom bomb.

It seems safe to predict that Micronesia, which includes the Marshalls, the Carolinas and the Mariana Islands, will never become a closely knit, throbbing, modern center. Its 55,730 inhabitants are likely to remain the wards of the United States for a long time, and fairly expensive ones, too. It cost $7,556,509 to care for them in the year ended June 30, offset only by revenues of $346,327.

The trusteeship report commented that a self-sustaining economy for the islands is remote, since "the meagerness of their natural resources precludes anything but a subsistence economy." The idyllic aspect of island life, often set forth in the theater and in fiction, seemed a delusion to thousands of Americans in the armed forces, who saw Micronesia during the war, where squalor, disease and want were obvious.

Basic reason for the presence of the United States in the former Japanese mandates is strategic. Nevertheless, there is something of an obligation to do as well as possible for the natives. But the cost should be held within reason.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Mites Get Under Your Skin

The itch is a synonym for one of our most common skin diseases, scabies. This condition is especially prevalent during the winter months and can produce lesions over the entire body except the face and scalp.

The culprit is a horrible looking parasite barely visible to the naked eye but discernible under a magnifying glass. The female is twice as large as the male and is the trouble-maker so far as we are concerned. The married couple live originally on the surface but after impregnation papa dies and mama burrows beneath the uppermost layer of the skin to deposit her eggs. The burrow is seen under the magnifying glass as a slightly elevated, straight, tortuous, or dotted line with a blister at one end representing the site of penetration.

The webs between the fingers are favorite localities but the disease is likely to spread from the fingers to the wrists, forearms, armpits, abdomen, and genitals. If it were not for the itching the disorder would be easy to diagnose because of the typical burrow pattern with the tiny blister at one end but scratching distors the picture and before long the area becomes irritated, pustular, swollen and red. In many instances it looks like a severe form of eczema and feels twice as bad.

In this respect the eruption varies considerably in different cases. Its appearance is altered by the duration of the disorder, the degree of personal cleanliness, and treatment, as well as by the manner in which the infection is acquired. Those who picked up the itch mite in unclean beds or from linen in a dirty hotel or motel have lesions principally upon the trunk and lower abdomen. When it is contracted manually from other sources the outbreak usually begins on the hands.

Successful treatment requires perserverance and the ability to follow directions. The time honored sulfur ointment is being replaced gradually by benzyl benzoate. This product is the active ingredient of balsam of Peru and is preferred because it is easy to apply, has no odor, and does not stain the skin, underclothing, bedding, or linen. Furthermore, it rarely irritates unless the skin is tender or raw from previous scratching.

Treatment begins with a hot bath lasting 20 minutes. While the body is wet, the lotion is applied from the neck to the fingers and from the shoulders to the toes. A second application is advisable after the first dries. The same clothing may be worn after bathing and the medicine should be allowed to remain on the skin for 48 hours, after which another bath is taken and, if necessary, benzyl benzoate is applied for the third time. Fresh clothing is then donned.

Many other remedies for scabies are available but thoroness of application is more important than the type of ointment used. The victim of these bothersome mites should stick to one preparation that is known to be effective and avoid those with fantastic claims.

TEETHING

Mrs. S. writes: Every time my baby gets a new tooth he develops symptoms of a cold, with running nose and cough. Why should teething affect him in this way?

REPLY

This probably is coincidental; teething does not cause colds. The process does make the child more irritable and now and then interferes with sleeping and eating. Should these disturbances lower resistance, infections may take over.

VIRAL PNEUMONIA

L. W. writes: Is virus pneumonia considered a chronic condition?

REPLY

No. The disease comes and goes and the victim is left with little or no immunity. Fatigue is a common aftermath and some individuals get the impression that the disease is chronic when the tired feeling persists for months or years.

SUSPECTS MICE

Mrs. J. H. writes: I read your article about mice and rickettsialpox. I have the symptoms you mention; the illness started with a water blister on my thigh which became infected and spread. Several weeks later my temperature rose and my neck and armpits started bothering me. We have just built a new home and in the process we had to live in a garage where there were mice. How could I find out if I have this disease?

REPLY

Diagnosis is made through a study of the blood. Virus studies are difficult and only a few laboratories have the facilities for making tests of this nature. The skin eruption associated with this disease (which you do not mention) usually disappears in three to eight days. Even if you did have rickettsialpox, the chances are that you have recovered by now.

STOMACH CANCER

S. L. writes: Must cancer of the stomach be well along before the victim loses weight?

REPLY

In general, this is true.

Tax Delinquents Protected By Secrecy Law; Outcome Of New Orleans Gangsters' Tax Liens May Never Be Told; Law Should Permit Public Inspection

WASHINGTON — Down in New Orleans two big shots of the underworld have been in tax trouble but, under the present rules of the Internal Revenue Bureau, not one word can be said about it.

The two men are Carlos Marcello and Silvestro Carollo, the first having served time in Atlanta for selling marijuana; the second, a leader of the Mafia, having been ordered deported. Nevertheless, both are protected by official secrecy as far as their tax delinquency is concerned.

What the Internal Revenue Bureau states is that if any details of tax delinquency or tax frauds are revealed to the press or public, that official would be subject to $10,000 fine and a term in jail.

This strict secrecy is one reason why tax influence has been so rife in Washington. It is also one thing the King Committee on tax frauds should study this week.

Here is how the secrecy order works in the case of the New Orleans gangsters:

Carlos Marcello of Jefferson Parish, just outside New Orleans, was rated by the Kefauver Committee as the No. 1 bad man of the area. He is the associate of Dandy Phil Kastel, the partner of Frankie Costello, got a year and a day for peddling marijuana, and had a tax lien slapped on him and his brother Vincent for $76,800.

Only Washington Knows

This tax lien was filed by the Internal Revenue collector on May 19, 1939, in order to protect the government in its collection of taxes; but there is no record as to how that lien was settled. The public has no way of knowing whether Marcello's taxes were paid in full, compromised or dropped.

Local Deputy Collector John J. Sehrt, when queried by the New Orleans Item, said he did not know. The records, he said, had been destroyed; besides, these cases are settled in Washington.

Against the other New Orleans gangster, Silvestro Carollo, four tax liens were filed in 1945, totalling $62,024. All were marked discharged on March 28, 1946.

Carollo has a lot of political influence. Though he served three stretches for bootlegging, narcotics, and attempted murder, he always got out, and, in the case of the murder rap, received a full pardon from the governor of Louisiana. Later, 1936, when he went back to jail on a narcotics charge, the federal government decided he was an undesirable citizen and ordered him to Italy, only to have Louisiana's back-slapping Congressman Jimmy Morrison come to his rescue with several private bills to keep him in the U. S. A.

Despite Congressman Morrison, Carollo's record was too black, and he was deported, April 30, 1947, only to be picked up on July 4, 1950, right back in New Orleans. He had been ordered back by "Lucky" Luciano, the world's top narcotics smuggler.

In Carollo's case, local tax officials also did not know whether tax liens had been paid in full or "adjusted." All such matters, it was explained, were handled in Washington.

Accordingly, this columnist called on Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue Alvin Cross, in charge of accounts and collections. Mr. Cross has been in Internal Revenue for some 20 years and has a good record as a conscientious public servant. I explained the situation of the two New Orleans gangsters and asked whether their taxes had been paid in full or compromised.

"I do not know, and if I did know, I could not tell you," Mr. Cross replied. "Under Section 55 (E) it is a penitentiary offense for anyone to give out information regarding taxes."

"But these men have served in Atlanta and one has been ordered deported," I remonstrated.

"It doesn't make any difference," replied Mr. Cross, "the law is clear against publishing tax returns on tax settlements."

"These are two men who have had a lot of political influence," I continued. "How can the public ascertain whether they used their influence to adjust their taxes rather than pay up in full?"

Mr. Cross repeated that under the law passed by Congress there was just no way it could be done.

Secretary of Treasury Rules

"Who makes the final decision as to whether an unpaid tax is to be paid in full or compromised?" I asked.

"The secretary of the Treasury," replied Mr. Cross. "It cannot be made by the local collector, nor is it made in this bureau. It goes up to the secretary of the Treasury himself."

I then approached Mr. Cross from another angle. Pointing out that the secrecy statute on tax returns was passed to protect honest and prompt taxpayers, I suggested that the secrecy rule should be different when a man became delinquent and it was necessary to file a tax lien against him.

"When these two gangsters in New Orleans had liens slapped on them, it all became a matter of public record," I pointed out. "Automatically the cloak of secrecy was removed.

"This publication of a tax lien,"

These Days

Trouble Over Hollywood

The conflict among Communists, anti-Communists and simpletons in Hollywood is a source of grief to everyone in that industry. The number of Communists in the industry is comparatively small, but they are an effective, well-entrenched element who know how to fight. And they are now fighting for a livelihood.

The bulk of those involved in the present excitement, which includes a $1,000,000 libel suit and a shameless money settlement with some of the Hollywood Ten, are men and women who had a wonderful time posing as progressives and liberals when it was popular to be a pal of Uncle Joe, and who now want to pose as conservatives when it is perilous to be pro-Russian.

Most of them were insincere then and they are insincere now. Most of them are intellectual wisps in the wind, without purpose other than to be popular and to seem to be intelligent and to make a good-sized income. Most of them could not be pro-Marxist or anti-Marxist because they have not the slightest idea of what either term means. I have the conviction that the so-called greatest minds in Hollywood, who are often described as possessing little short of genius, could not pass a written examination on philosophic or economic subjects which they include in their repertoire.

The settlements with the Hollywood Ten started last summer when these men, who had established their own position before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, sued under their contracts. Most Americans were angered by their conduct, which included jail sentences for contempt.

The top men of the industry met at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and decided not to employ those who were in contempt of Congress—a perfectly sound and American decision. Those dismissed thereupon sued under the terms of their contracts for damages. As is usual in such matters, the lawyers got into the situation and some of them expressed the view that the meeting of the top men in the industry at the Waldorf might be interpreted as a conspiracy.

Conspiracy against whom—against avowed Communists? Against those who defied Congress and were sent to jail in contempt? Against men and women who had had their day in court and did not take it?

Such legalistic advice would be contemptible were it not that lawyers these days tell one — off the record, of course — that no one can know how a New Deal judge is going to decide a case. No cowardice can be as profound as the legalistic, because lawyers know the worst about their own profession and about judges.

Just ordinary Americans, like you and me, take chances every day that this is still a free country and that Americans can meet to discuss the problems of their country and condemn its enemies. I attend such meetings all the time and have not yet been sued for a conspiracy against Joe Stalin.

However, some Hollywood companies and their lawyers think otherwise. Last summer they sought advice, and one of the advisers told them not to make Communists rich by letting them win huge sums in court, as though their cases were sewed up.

Result: According to "Variety":

"Checks turned over to attorney Robert W. Kenny, acting for the plaintiffs, ended two suits — the breach of contract actions brought against Metro by Lester Cole and Dalton Trumbo. It also ended participation by Metro, WB (Warner Brothers), Universal and Columbia in the general conspiracy action brought against the studios by Albert Maltz and the other members of the group . . ."

This settlement clears no one of anything. It simply means that the companies were advised by their lawyers not to stand trial. It does not mean that the plaintiffs or the defendants are not at fault.

Hollywood has to face this problem constructively. Most actors, writers, directors, producers and even executives are not Communists. Many have made stupid records for themselves to show off; some were actually liberals and progressives. Most are just in the mummer business.

The few hundred Communists in show business are enemies of America and nobody needs to spend his money supporting enemies. And many Americans will not spend their money enriching Communists, or those who employ them.

The constructive job is to isolate the Communists, so that honest men may know them for what they are. Then the rest can go about their business properly. This can never be done as long as lawyers treat Stalin's conspiracy against America with the legalisms that only work in Stalin's favor.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON,—Just as Americans were beginning to feel a sense of relief that Great Britain and the United States were working together in their policies toward Korea and Red China, the British Foreign Office has thrown a monkey wrench into the machinery.

This comes at a time when almost everybody here was feeling enthusiastic about the success of Prime Minister Churchill's mission and about the splendid impression he made.

For the British Foreign Office has not only disheartened many Americans but it has also stabbed the prime minister in the back and cast doubt on his ability to make good on the pledges he so firmly gave to the American government.

The British prime minister told Congress last week: "Our two countries are agreed that if the truce we seek is reached only to be broken, our response will be prompt, resolute and effective."

Rug Pulled Out

Here was a warning that the Communists could not possibly misunderstand. They had been counting on the division between Britain and America over Korean policy. They have been successful in the past in driving a wedge between the two countries based on the unwise recognition of the Communist regime in China by Britain in the first place. Now, at the moment when the warning words of Churchill were calculated to show the Communists that Britain and America stood together, the British Foreign Office pulls the rug from under the feet of both governments and weakens the hand of the UN negotiators who are trying to work out an armistice calling for the return of prisoners and at the same time carrying the assurance that the flow of blood—largely American—will cease.

If the Communists had agents in the British Foreign Office they could not have done more than was accomplished in diluting the strength of the Churchill pledge. It revives in Congress impressing that the British are tricky—which impressions Mr. Churchill has done so much to dispel. It was certainly giving aid and comfort to the enemy at a crucial moment.

Various dispatches reflected the Foreign Office viewpoint. Thus the London correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune described the conference of the Foreign Office spokesman with the press as follows:

"It was explained here that Mr. Churchill's statement was not intended as a blanket approval for any action which the United States might like to adopt in retaliation for a Communist violation of a Korean truce. Britain, it was explained, has not finally agreed to any specific action, and adheres to the principle of prior consultation and agreement before any new action is taken.

"At the same time, Mr. Churchill's statement was said to have been intended as a warning to Communist China that Britain will not necessarily withhold approval of any forceful action proposed by the United States, such as direct air attack on China proper, in the event that a truce is violated."

This is the kind of double talk which not only confuses Americans but encourages the Communist negotiators to believe that they can break a truce and there will be a prolonged palaver about it such as has been going on for months in the Korean negotiations. It also misleads. For the implication there is that if a truce is broken, the United States alone would plan to take action and the British in their own time would give it lukewarm consideration. The truth is that all the representatives of the 12 nations which have troops in Korea meet regularly in Washington and when a decision is made it is the agreement of all UN nations and not America alone.

Disclosed Plans Prematurely

There were such meetings last week to explore a future course of action in Korea if the truce were not honored and it is to be presumed the British prime minister knew the nature of those agreements. Certainly this is top-secret stuff on the military side and it ill becomes the British Foreign Office to tell the enemy that no agreement has been reached or that the pledge given by the British prime minister doesn't really mean what it says and is subject to future debate and revision. This isn't the first time the Foreign Office has disclosed prematurely Allied intentions on military operations in Korea.

Some Americans will doubtless infer now that the British Foreign Office has in it men in sympathy with the attitude of the "left wing" of the British Labor party which has always wanted the Allies to quit Korea and make a peace at any price. Or it could mean that under pressure of British Labor politics, anticipating a partisan political attack on the prime minister when he gets home, the Foreign Office is trying to throw the partisans off the track and tell them that nothing really has been agreed to and that they will still have a chance to argue about it.

The net effect is to reassure the Communist negotiators in Korea that the solidarity of the Allies is merely a paper proposition and that actually it doesn't mean very much more.

Maybe the prime minister will look into all this when he gets home. Meanwhile the blood of American and British and other troops in Korea will continue to be shed as the disunited nations lumber along with an enemy ready to take advantage of such division and dissension instead of impressing them by policies of firmness and unity.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON

In the general political hurly burly, too little attention is being paid to news from the South that may decisively influence the struggle for the Republican nomination. In brief, the Southern delegates rounded up by the forces of Senator Robert A. Taft show signs of not staying rounded up after all.

As everyone ought to know, the traffic in Republican delegates from the South is the only branch of the trade in human flesh not outlawed by the 14th Amendment and the Mann Act. The leading practicioner for many a year has been John Marshall, a Washington lawyer and longtime Taft friend. By the exertions of Marshall and other Taft lieutenants, the Taft forces have come into every convention from 1940 onwards with a nice lot of human cattle from the Southern states.

In the current struggle, the Taft camp claims to have secured over 150 Southern delegates already. This herd, if not dispersed before convention time, will be a Taft asset every bit as important as the Illinois and Ohio delegations.

These facts constitute no criticism of Senator Taft, since the supporters of every other Republican candidate seek Southern delegates in precisely the same manner, and merely envy the superior skill of the Taftian experts. Political human nature, the distinctly sordid quadrennial struggle for Southern delegates is an inevitable result of the immense over-representation of the one-party South in the Republican convention. At the same time, there is no doubt at all these serious losses in the Southern delegations will be about the most serious setback the Taft movement can suffer.

Taft Forces Set Back

All this in turn highlights to significance of the stirrings in the South since General Dwight D. Eisenhower declared his Republicanism and his candidacy. Because the Huey Long dynasty struggled to perpetuate itself afforded the main drama of the recent Louisiana primary, no one has even noticed that the Taft forces in Louisiana simultaneously suffered a heavy setback.

The improbable appearance of two Republican candidates for lieutenant governor caused a Republican primary also to be held in Louisiana last week. By some quirk in the Louisiana law, the voting was limited to New Orleans Parish. But in New Orleans Parish, which is of course vastly the most important in the state, a pro-Eisenhower faction headed by the able lawyer, John M. Wisdom, swept the board. Of 12 places on the state central committee, Eisenhower men took 10; and of 20 places on the parish executive committee, Eisenhower men took 15.

It is not clear as yet whether this heavy initial defeat will upset Republican national committeeman John E. Jackson's traditional control of Louisiana's 13 Republican delegates. Jackson, the Taft leader in the state, can perhaps neutralize Wisdom's triumph in New Orleans by appealing to the other Louisiana parishes. Yet this recent vote of Louisiana Republicans must still be accounted a highly significant straw in the wind. Louisiana can no longer be called in the bag for Taft, which has been the phrase thus far rather complacently used at Taft headquarters. Wisdom claims, indeed, that he will take an Eisenhower delegation to Chicago.

Another state officially claimed as in the bag for Taft was Kentucky. Judge Charles Dawson, Republican senatorial nominee at the last election and titular leader of Kentucky Republicans, some time ago organized a pro-Taft movement including 105 of the party chieftains in the state. Again, there seemed to be no likelihood that Taft would be successfully challenged in Kentucky until Eisenhower announced.

Kentucky Split Expected

Almost at that moment, however, an Eisenhower movement took shape, headed by the hard-hitting Representative Thurston Morton of Louisville and Judge James Park, of Lexington. Howes Mead, former congressman from Kentucky's Republican mountain district, has joined in, along with several other men of influence, and former Senator John Sherman Cooper, the Kentucky Republican commanding the widest personal support, is also strongly cooperating. The Taft men got into the field soon enough so that the local experts think they will told a majority of Kentucky's 25 man delegation, but a split is expected, with an undetermined but valuable share of the delegates going to Eisenhower.

One swallow does not make a summer, and a few delegates lost to Taft in Kentucky and Louisiana do not mean that his whole prospective herd of Southern delegates will scatter before Chicago. Yet the developments in Louisiana and Kentucky must be considered in conjunction with the powerful endorsement of Eisenhower by several of the leading newspapers in other Southern states. Overall, it can at least be said that the Taft headquarters claims to control almost the whole convention representation of the South, which formerly sounded so convincing, are not really convincing any longer. Taft still has the edge in the South, but the outcome there is uncertain, as it is elsewhere.

"Sliding" Price Supports

Repeal of the "sliding scale" provisions of the present farm price support law was recommended by President Truman in his annual economic report transmitted to Congress on January 16. Revision of the law, so that farmers would not be penalized for raising abundant crops, had been advocated earlier in January by the National Farmers Union, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange.

"Farmers are now being asked to produce more than ever before," the President said in his report. "The 'sliding scale' in existing price support legislation has aroused concern in the minds of many farmers, who fear that cooperation in expanding production to meet the present emergency might later result in serious losses to them. The government's price support operations obviously should further attainment of production objectives, and they should not penalize producers for their full and patriotic cooperation with the agricultural program."

The present farm price support law for wheat, corn, cotton, and other basic commodities was enacted in 1948-49. The 1948 Hope-Aiken Act was an amalgamation of widely varying House and Senate bills.

The Senate bill had called for support of basic agricultural commodities at 75 per cent of parity in periods of normal supply. When supply sank to 70 per cent of normal, the support price would rise to 90 per cent of parity—the World War II level. When supply soared to 130 per cent of normal, the support price would drop to 60 per cent of parity.

The House bill called for continued support of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice, peanuts, dairy products, hogs, poultry, eggs, and potatoes at 90 per cent of parity. The Secretary of Agriculture could lower, from 90 per cent to a minimum of 60 per cent of parity, the supports for other commodities, including soybeans, flaxseed, American-Egyptian cotton. The support program would be extended to June 30, 1950.

The compromise arrived at in conference put the House plan into effect until December 31, 1949. The Senate plan was to cover future years.

Congress in 1949 rejected the administration-sponsored Brannan plan, which called for direct production payments—subsidies. The final bill was again a compromise between House and Senate plans.

A new parity formula included costs of hired farm labor. Basic commodities were supported at 90 per cent of the higher parity through 1950, as proposed by the Senate. Price supports were to be at 80 to 90 per cent of parity in 1951; 75 to 90 per cent in 1952 and 1953. After 1954 the Anderson plan, if not previously repealed or modified, would govern. This provided for support of basic commodities at 75 to 90 per cent of a "modern," moving-base parity.

The annual economic review of the Council of Economic Advisers, which accompanied the President's report, pointed out that the present high level of farm output, 40 per cent above the 1935-39 average, "has been a major restraint on inflation." The advisers noted that if farmers cooperated in building up reserves of farm commodities to "safe or desirable levels," they might be penalized by having support prices reduced from 90 per cent of parity to as low as 75 per cent.

Internationalize Suez?

Churchill's suggestion on the Suez Canal when he spoke to Congress last Thursday has stirred up a hornet's nest in Washington as well as in Cairo, and even in the British Foreign Office. The British prime minister wanted the United States, also France and Turkey, to station at least "token forces" in the Suez Canal area. (These three powers, with Britain, several months ago made a proposal to Egypt, which she rejected, that she join them in the projected Middle East Command, the headquarters of which would presumably be the British base at Suez.)

However, the presence of foreign troops, other than British, in the Suez Canal zone would violate the existing British-Egyptian treaty. And the reaction of our Congress, when Churchill told it that the Suez Canal had "become an international rather than a national responsibility," seemed to be: "Then you ought to have it internationalized."

Thirty-five years ago, Woodrow Wilson declared that one cause of international friction, if not of international war, lay in control by one nation over waterways of vital concern to other nations. The 12th of his 14 points of peace called for internationalizing the Dardanelles—that is, having it "permanently opened as a free passage to the ships and commerce of all nations under international guaranties."

But various nations pointed out at the peace conference of Paris in 1919 that it would be illogical to internationalize the Dardanelles without internationalizing the Suez Canal. Thereupon the British quickly observed that it would be equally illogical to internationalize the Suez Canal without internationalizing the Panama Canal. And that was that.

Uncle Sam's Island Wards

Sometimes there is valid, reason for questioning the advantages of civilization. The natives of Micronesia, who are having civilization thrust upon them as a result of the transfer of control over their scattered islands to the United States since the end of the Pacific war, may perhaps not be blamed if they are inclined to raise the question.

The report made to the United Nations of U. S. trusteeship over the island area that was formerly a Japanese mandate is that the native people are "fast coming of age in a modern world" and showing "increasing ability to undertake responsibility."

But, alas, the Micronesians not only are being introduced to what are termed the advantages of civilization—trade and communications and governmental responsibility—but they have been required to give place for experimentation with that most horrendous development of modern science, the atom bomb.

It seems safe to predict that Micronesia, which includes the Marshalls, the Carolinas and the Mariana Islands, will never become a closely knit, throbbing, modern center. Its 55,730 inhabitants are likely to remain the wards of the United States for a long time, and fairly expensive ones, too. It cost $7,556,509 to care for them in the year ended June 30, offset only by revenues of $346,327.

The trusteeship report commented that a self-sustaining economy for the islands is remote, since "the meagerness of their natural resources precludes anything but a subsistence economy." The idyllic aspect of island life, often set forth in the theater and in fiction, seemed a delusion to thousands of Americans in the armed forces, who saw Micronesia during the war, where squalor, disease and want were obvious.

Basic reason for the presence of the United States in the former Japanese mandates is strategic. Nevertheless, there is something of an obligation to do as well as possible for the natives. But the cost should be held within reason.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Mites Get Under Your Skin

The itch is a synonym for one of our most common skin diseases, scabies. This condition is especially prevalent during the winter months and can produce lesions over the entire body except the face and scalp.

The culprit is a horrible looking parasite barely visible to the naked eye but discernible under a magnifying glass. The female is twice as large as the male and is the troublemaker so far as we are concerned. The married couple live originally on the surface but after impregnation papa dies and mama burrows beneath the uppermost layer of the skin to deposit her eggs. The burrow is seen under the magnifying glass as a slightly elevated, straight, tortuous, or dotted line with a blister at one end representing the site of penetration.

The webs between the fingers are favorite localities but the disease is likely to spread from the fingers to the wrists, forearms, armpits, abdomen, and genitals. If it were not for the itching the disorder would be easy to diagnose because of the typical burrow pattern with the tiny blister at one end but scratching distors the picture and before long the area becomes irritated, pustular, swollen and red. In many instances it looks like a severe form of eczema and feels twice as bad.

In this respect the eruption varies considerably in different cases. Its appearance is altered by the duration of the disorder, the degree of personal cleanliness, and treatment, as well as by the manner in which the infection is acquired. Those who picked up the itch mite in unclean beds or from linen in a dirty hotel or motel have lesions principally upon the trunk and lower abdomen. When it is contracted manually from other sources the outbreak usually begins on the hands.

Successful treatment requires perserverance and the ability to follow directions. The time honored sulfur ointment is being replaced gradually by benzyl benzoate. This product is the active ingredient of balsam of Peru and is preferred because it is easy to apply, has no odor, and does not stain the skin, underclothing, bedding, or linen. Furthermore, it rarely irritates unless the skin is tender or raw from previous scratching.

Treatment begins with a hot bath lasting 20 minutes. While the body is wet, the lotion is applied from the neck to the fingers and from the shoulders to the toes. A second application is advisable after the first dries. The same clothing may be worn after bathing and the medicine should be allowed to remain on the skin for 48 hours, after which another bath is taken and, if necessary, benzyl benzoate is applied for the third time. Fresh clothing is then donned.

Many other remedies for scabies are available but thoroness of application is more important than the type of ointment used. The victim of these bothersome mites should stick to one preparation that is known to be effective and avoid those with fantastic claims.

TEETHING

Mrs. S. writes: Every time my baby gets a new tooth he develops symptoms of a cold, with running nose and cough. Why should teething affect him in this way?

REPLY

This probably is coincidental; teething does not cause colds. The process does make the child more irritable and now and then interferes with sleeping and eating. Should these disturbances lower resistance, infections may take over.

VIRAL PNEUMONIA

L. W. writes: Is virus pneumonia considered a chronic condition?

REPLY

No. The disease comes and goes and the victim is left with little or no immunity. Fatigue is a common aftermath and some individuals get the impression that the disease is chronic when the tired feeling persists for months or years.

SUSPECTS MICE

Mrs. J. H. writes: I read your article about mice and rickettsialpox. I have the symptoms you mention; the illness started with a water blister on my thigh which became infected and spread. Several weeks later my temperature rose and my neck and armpits started bothering me. We have just built a new home and in the process we had to live in a garage where there were mice. How could I find out if I have this disease?

REPLY

Diagnosis is made through a study of the blood. Virus studies are difficult and only a few laboratories have the facilities for making tests of this nature. The skin eruption associated with this disease (which you do not mention) usually disappears in three to eight days. Even if you did have rickettsialpox, the chances are that you have recovered by now.

STOMACH CANCER

S. L. writes: Must cancer of the stomach be well along before the victim loses weight?

REPLY

In general, this is true.

Tax Delinquents Protected By Secrecy Law; Outcome Of New Orleans Gangsters' Tax Liens May Never Be Told; Law Should Permit Public Inspection

WASHINGTON—Down in New Orleans two big shots of the underworld have been in tax trouble but, under the present rules of the Internal Revenue Bureau, not one word can be said about it.

The two men are Carlos Marcello and Silvestro Carollo, the first having served time in Atlanta for selling marijuana; the second, a leader of the Mafia, having been ordered deported. Nevertheless, both are protected by official secrecy as far as their tax delinquency is concerned.

What the Internal Revenue Bureau states is that if any details of tax delinquency or tax frauds are revealed to the press or public, that official would be subject to $10,000 fine and a term in jail.

This strict secrecy is one reason why tax influence has been so rife in Washington. It is also one thing the King Committee on tax frauds should study this week.

Here is how the secrecy order works in the case of the New Orleans gangsters:

Carlos Marcello of Jefferson Parish, just outside New Orleans, was rated by the Kefauver Committee as the No. 1 bad man of the area. He is the associate of Dandy Phil Kastel, the partner of Frankie Costello, got a year and a day for peddling marijuana, and had a tax lien slapped on him and his brother Vincent for $76,800.

Only Washington Knows

This tax lien was filed by the Internal Revenue collector on May 19, 1939, in order to protect the government in its collection of taxes; but there is no record as to how that lien was settled. The public has no way of knowing whether Marcello's taxes were paid in full, compromised or dropped.

Local Deputy Collector John J. Sehrt, when queried by the New Orleans Item, said he did not know. The records, he said, had been destroyed; besides, these cases are settled in Washington.

Against the other New Orleans gangster, Silvestro Carollo, four tax liens were filed in 1945, totalling $62,024. All were marked discharged on March 28, 1946.

Carollo has a lot of political influence. Though he served three stretches for bootlegging, narcotics, and attempted murder, he always got out, and, in the case of the murder rap, received a full pardon from the governor of Louisiana. Later, 1936, when he went back to jail on a narcotics charge, the federal government decided he was an undesirable citizen and ordered him to Italy, only to have Louisiana's back-slapping Congressman Jimmy Morrison come to his rescue with several private bills to keep him in the U. S. A.

Despite Congressman Morrison, Carollo's record was too black, and he was deported, April 30, 1947, only to be picked up on July 4, 1950, right back in New Orleans. He had been ordered back by "Lucky" Luciano, the world's top narcotics smuggler.

In Carollo's case, local tax officials also did not know whether tax liens had been paid in full or "adjusted." All such matters, it was explained, were handled in Washington.

Accordingly, this columnist called on Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue Alvin Cross, in charge of accounts and collections. Mr. Cross has been in Internal Revenue for some 20 years and has a good record as a conscientious public servant. I explained the situation of the two New Orleans gangsters and asked whether their taxes had been paid in full or compromised.

"I do not know, and if I did know, I could not tell you," Mr. Cross replied. "Under Section 55 (E) it is a penitentiary offense for anyone to give out information regarding taxes."

"But these men have served in Atlanta and one has been ordered deported," I remonstrated.

"It doesn't make any difference," replied Mr. Cross, "the law is clear against publishing tax returns on tax settlements."

"These are two men who have had a lot of political influence," I continued. "How can the public ascertain whether they used their influence to adjust their taxes rather than pay up in full?"

Mr. Cross repeated that under the law passed by Congress there was just no way it could be done.

Secretary of Treasury Rules

"Who makes the final decision as to whether an unpaid tax is to be paid in full or compromised?" I asked.

"The secretary of the Treasury," replied Mr. Cross. "It cannot be made by the local collector, nor is it made in this bureau. It goes up to the secretary of the Treasury himself."

I then approached Mr. Cross from another angle. Pointing out that the secrecy statute on tax returns was passed to protect honest and prompt taxpayers, I suggested that the secrecy rule should be different when a man became delinquent and it was necessary to file a tax lien against him.

"When these two gangsters in New Orleans had liens slapped on them, it all became a matter of public record," I pointed out. "Automatically the cloak of secrecy was removed.

"This publication of a tax lien,"

These Days

Trouble Over Hollywood

The conflict among Communists, anti-Communists and simpletons in Hollywood is a source of grief to everyone in that industry. The number of Communists in the industry is comparatively small, but they are an effective, well-entrenched element who know how to fight. And they are now fighting for a livelihood.

The bulk of those involved in the present excitement, which includes a $1,000,000 libel suit and a shameless money settlement with some of the Hollywood Ten, are men and women who had a wonderful time posing as progressives and liberals when it was popular to be a pal of Uncle Joe, and who now want to pose as conservatives when it is perilous to be pro-Russian.

Most of them were insincere then and they are insincere now. Most of them are intellectual wisps in the wind, without purpose other than to be popular and to seem to be intelligent and to make a good-sized income. Most of them could not be pro-Marxist or anti-Marxist because they have not the slightest idea of what either term means. I have the conviction that the so-called greatest minds in Hollywood, who are often described as possessing little short of genius, could not pass a written examination on philosophic or economic subjects which they include in their repertoire.

The settlements with the Hollywood Ten started last summer when these men, who had established their own position before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, sued under their contracts. Most Americans were angered by their conduct, which included jail sentences for contempt.

The top men of the industry met at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and decided not to employ those who were in contempt of Congress—a perfectly sound and American decision. Those dismissed thereupon sued under the terms of their contracts for damages. As is usual in such matters, the lawyers got into the situation and some of them expressed the view that the meeting of the top men in the industry at the Waldorf might be interpreted as a conspiracy.

Conspiracy against whom—against avowed Communists? Against those who defied Congress and were sent to jail in contempt? Against men and women who had had their day in court and did not take it?

Such legalistic advice would be contemptible were it not that lawyers these days tell one — off the record, of course — that no one can know how a New Deal judge is going to decide a case. No cowardice can be as profound as the legalistic, because lawyers know the worst about their own profession and about judges.

Just ordinary Americans, like you and me, take chances every day that this is still a free country and that Americans can meet to discuss the problems of their country and condemn its enemies. I attend such meetings all the time and have not yet been sued for a conspiracy against Joe Stalin.

However, some Hollywood companies and their lawyers think otherwise. Last summer they sought advice, and one of the advisers told them not to make Communists rich by letting them win huge sums in court, as though their cases were sewed up.

Result: According to "Variety":

"Checks turned over to attorney Robert W. Kenny, acting for the plaintiffs, ended two suits — the breach of contract actions brought against Metro by Lester Cole and Dalton Trumbo. It also ended participation by Metro, WB (Warner Brothers), Universal and Columbia in the general conspiracy action brought against the studios by Albert Maltz and the other members of the group . . ."

This settlement clears no one of anything. It simply means that the companies were advised by their lawyers not to stand trial. It does not mean that the plaintiffs or the defendants are not at fault.

Hollywood has to face this problem constructively. Most actors, writers, directors, producers and even executives are not Communists. Many have made stupid records for themselves to show off; some were actually liberals and progressives. Most are just in the mummer business.

The few hundred Communists in show business are enemies of America and nobody needs to spend his money supporting enemies. And many Americans will not spend their money enriching Communists, or those who employ them.

The constructive job is to isolate the Communists, so that honest men may know them for what they are. Then the rest can go about their business properly. This can never be done as long as lawyers treat Stalin's conspiracy against America with the legalisms that only work in Stalin's favor.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON.—Just as Americans were beginning to feel a sense of relief that Great Britain and the United States were working together in their policies toward Korea and Red China, the British Foreign Office has thrown a monkey wrench into the machinery.

This comes at a time when almost everybody here was feeling enthusiastic about the success of Prime Minister Churchill's mission and about the splendid impression he made.

For the British Foreign Office has not only disheartened many Americans but it has also stabbed the prime minister in the back and cast doubt on his ability to make good on the pledges he so firmly gave to the American government.

The British prime minister told Congress last week: "Our two countries are agreed that if the truce we seek is reached only to be broken, our response will be prompt, resolute and effective."

Rug Pulled Out

Here was a warning that the Communists could not possibly misunderstand. They had been counting on the division between Britain and America over Korean policy. They have been successful in the past in driving a wedge between the two countries based on the unwise recognition of the Communist regime in China by Britain in the first place. Now, at the moment when the warning words of Churchill were calculated to show the Communists that Britain and America stood together, the British Foreign Office pulls the rug from under the feet of both governments and weakens the hand of the UN negotiators who are trying to work out an armistice calling for the return of prisoners and at the same time carrying the assurance that the flow of blood—largely American—will cease.

If the Communists had agents in the British Foreign Office they could not have done more than was accomplished in diluting the strength of the Churchill pledge. It revives in Congress impressing that the British are tricky—which impressions Mr. Churchill has done so much to dispel. It was certainly giving aid and comfort to the enemy at a crucial moment.

Various dispatches reflected the Foreign Office viewpoint. Thus the London correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune described the conference of the Foreign Office spokesman with the press as follows:

"It was explained here that Mr. Churchill's statement was not intended as a blanket approval for any action which the United States might like to adopt in retaliation for a Communist violation of a Korean truce. Britain, it was explained, has not finally agreed to any specific action, and adheres to the principle of prior consultation and agreement before any new action is taken.

"At the same time, Mr. Churchill's statement was said to have been intended as a warning to Communist China that Britain will not necessarily withhold approval of any forceful action proposed by the United States, such as direct air attack on China proper, in the event that a truce is violated."

This is the kind of double talk which not only confuses Americans but encourages the Communist negotiators to believe that they can break a truce and there will be a prolonged palaver about it such as has been going on for months in the Korean negotiations. It also misleads. For the implication there is that if a truce is broken, the United States alone would plan to take action and the British in their own time would give it lukewarm consideration. The truth is that all the representatives of the 12 nations which have troops in Korea meet regularly in Washington and when a decision is made it is the agreement of all UN nations and not America alone.

Disclosed Plans Prematurely

There were such meetings last week to explore a future course of action in Korea if the truce were not honored and it is to be presumed the British prime minister knew the nature of those agreements. Certainly this is top-secret stuff on the military side and it ill becomes the British Foreign Office to tell the enemy that no agreement has been reached or that the pledge given by the British prime minister doesn't really mean what it says and is subject to future debate and revision. This isn't the first time the Foreign Office has disclosed prematurely Allied intentions on military operations in Korea.

Some Americans will doubtless infer now that the British Foreign Office has in it men in sympathy with the attitude of the "left wing" of the British Labor party which has always wanted the Allies to quit Korea and make a peace at any price. Or it could mean that under pressure of British Labor politics, anticipating a partisan political attack on the prime minister when he gets home, the Foreign Office is trying to throw the partisans off the track and tell them that nothing really has been agreed to and that they will still have a chance to argue about it.

The net effect is to reassure the Communist negotiators in Korea that the solidarity of the Allies is merely a paper proposition and that actually it doesn't mean very much more.

Maybe the prime minister will look into all this when he gets home. Meanwhile the blood of American and British and other troops in Korea will continue to be shed as the disunited nations lumber along with an enemy ready to take advantage of such division and dissension instead of impressing them by policies of firmness and unity.

Matter Of Fact

WASHINGTON

In the general political hurly burly, too little attention is being paid to news from the South that may decisively influence the struggle for the Republican nomination. In brief, the Southern delegates rounded up by the forces of Senator Robert A. Taft show signs of not staying rounded up after all.

As everyone ought to know, the traffic in Republican delegates from the South is the only branch of the trade in human flesh not outlawed by the 14th Amendment and the Mann Act. The leading practicioner for many a year has been John Marshall, a Washington lawyer and longtime Taft friend. By the exertions of Marshall and other Taft lieutenants, the Taft forces have come into every convention from 1940 onwards with a nice lot of human cattle from the Southern states.

In the current struggle, the Taft camp claims to have secured over 150 Southern delegates already. This herd, if not dispersed before convention time, will be a Taft asset every bit as important as the Illinois and Ohio delegations.

These facts constitute no criticism of Senator Taft, since the supporters of every other Republican candidate seek Southern delegates in precisely the same manner, and merely envy the superior skill of the Taftian experts. Political human nature, the distinctly sordid quadrennial struggle for Southern delegates is an inevitable result of the immense over-representation of the one-party South in the Republican convention. At the same time, there is no doubt at all these serious losses in the Southern delegations will be about the most serious setback the Taft movement can suffer.

Taft Forces Set Back

All this in turn highlights to significance of the stirrings in the South since General Dwight D. Eisenhower declared his Republicanism and his candidacy. Because the Huey Long dynasty struggled to perpetuate itself afforded the main drama of the recent Louisiana primary, no one has even noticed that the Taft forces in Louisiana simultaneously suffered a heavy setback.

The improbable appearance of two Republican candidates for lieutenant governor caused a Republican primary also to be held in Louisiana last week. By some quirk in the Louisiana law, the voting was limited to New Orleans Parish. But in New Orleans Parish, which is of course vastly the most important in the state, a pro-Eisenhower faction headed by the able lawyer, John M. Wisdom, swept the board. Of 12 places on the state central committee, Eisenhower men took 10; and of 20 places on the parish executive committee, Eisenhower men took 15.

It is not clear as yet whether this heavy initial defeat will upset Republican national committeeman John E. Jackson's traditional control of Louisiana's 13 Republican delegates. Jackson, the Taft leader in the state, can perhaps neutralize Wisdom's triumph in New Orleans by appealing to the other Louisiana parishes. Yet this recent vote of Louisiana Republicans must still be accounted a highly significant straw in the wind. Louisiana can no longer be called in the bag for Taft, which has been the phrase thus far rather complacently used at Taft headquarters. Wisdom claims, indeed, that he will take an Eisenhower delegation to Chicago.

Another state officially claimed as in the bag for Taft was Kentucky. Judge Charles Dawson, Republican senatorial nominee at the last election and titular leader of Kentucky Republicans, some time ago organized a pro-Taft movement including 105 of the party chieftains in the state. Again, there seemed to be no likelihood that Taft would be successfully challenged in Kentucky until Eisenhower announced.

Kentucky Split Expected

Almost at that moment, however, an Eisenhower movement took shape, headed by the hard-hitting Representative Thurston Morton of Louisville and Judge James Park, of Lexington. Howes Mead, former congressman from Kentucky's Republican mountain district, has joined in, along with several other men of influence, and former Senator John Sherman Cooper, the Kentucky Republican commanding the widest personal support, is also strongly cooperating. The Taft men got into the field soon enough so that the local experts think they will told a majority of Kentucky's 25 man delegation, but a split is expected, with an undetermined but valuable share of the delegates going to Eisenhower.

One swallow does not make a summer, and a few delegates lost to Taft in Kentucky and Louisiana do not mean that his whole prospective herd of Southern delegates will scatter before Chicago. Yet the developments in Louisiana and Kentucky must be considered in conjunction with the powerful endorsement of Eisenhower by several of the leading newspapers in other Southern states. Overall, it can at least be said that the Taft headquarters claims to control almost the whole convention representation of the South, which formerly sounded so convincing, are not really convincing any longer. Taft still has the edge in the South, but the outcome there is uncertain, as it is elsewhere.

Union Voting Reported Heavy

Heavy voting in the annual election of officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), was reported yesterday at the union hall on North Mechanic Street by George Abrams, director for the Honest Ballot Association, which is conducting the balloting.

Abrams also announced that voting for union members employed by the General Textile Mills at Lonaconing is scheduled for today at the plant between 2:30 and 4 p. m. This is the only period scheduled for voting by these workers.

investigated the accident, two days after the fatality. Long was pronounced dead upon arrival at Memorial Hospital about 7:30 p. m. Christmas day.

Trooper Browning testified yesterday that the point where Long was struck was two-tenths of a mile east of the Cumberland city limits. He said the point was at the end of a double white line that extended around a curve for four-tenths of a mile over the route which Keister had traveled.

Cites Cause

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, who performed an autopsy several hours after Long's death, said that intra-abdominal hemorrhage caused by a crushed pelvis, and shock were responsible for his death. The doctor also related the results of an alcohol analysis upon the man's brain. This showed that the brain had two-tenths of one per cent of alcohol, which made it a borderline case between sobriety and drunkenness. He added that .272 of one per cent is considered a mark of definite drunkenness.

Another prosecution witness was Willard Wolford, City Dump Road, who lives about a half-mile from the point of the fatal mishap. He said that Long was at his home for lunch on Christmas day and was there from about 3 p. m. until shortly after 6 p. m. Wolford acknowledged that Long had had one drink of whiskey at his home that afternoon but was "perfectly all right" when he left the house about 30 minutes before he was fatally injured.

Howard Grimm, Jr., who was Long's son-in-law, said that he brought Long and his wife to his apartment above the Blue Room Tavern on Oldtown Road before noon on Christmas day. He added that he drove Long and Wolford to the latter's home about 3 p. m. Long was sober then, he said. That was the last he saw his father-in-law until he was called to identify the body that night.

Donald Haugh, Paw Paw, and Eugene Edwards, this city, who were driving behind Keister at the time of the fatal accident, both stated that they stopped to investigate. Both observed fresh tire tracks off the hard surface of the road a short distance from where Long's body lay.

Moberley, who came here in 1950 from Clear Field (Pa.) Hospital, where he was superintendent, said he saw how a blood bank of this type worked in Clear Field, and declared it can do the same wonders here.

He said by having blood banks at local hospitals, people in the area are assured of every type of blood and blood derivatives in emergencies. Also, the blood program will help relieve the shortage of blood in the armed forces.

One of the first veterans to donate blood yesterday was William J. Malachowski, 28, 34 South Street, whose life was saved by blood transfusion while wounded in the Philippines.

Malachowski was seriously wounded while serving with the 710th Tank Battalion. During the first weeks in a hospital in Leyte, he received five whole blood transfusions and a number of plasma transfusions

"I guess I want to replace some of the blood that was given to me while I was in the hospital," he said.

Yesterday, Malachowski gave his 10th pint of blood.

After that in 1929, the Cumberland Civic Club again took active interest in the Girl Scouts and under the presidency of Mrs. Harold W. Smith established a permanent organization in Cumberland.

The club appropriated funds in order to send Miss Lapp away for training in Girl Scout work. Mrs. George W. Legge was named chairman and Mrs. Irving Rosenbaum elected secretary of a group of 13 community women who worked to enroll volunteer leaders and provide them with training and secure meeting quarters for the troops. In two years, there were six troops totaling 97 members.

The Girl Scouts joined the Community Chest in 1931 and have been a member since. Miss Emily Lapp was the first director and an office was established in the County Court House in a room of the Board of Election Supervisors.

In March of 1937, the city building at 72 Greene Street, formerly the public library, was given to the Girl Scouts as headquarters and has been used ever since. The building has been repaired and furnished with equipment for troop activities, and club rooms were made available for women's organizations.

Today there are 620 active in Girl Scouting in Cumberland including 241 Brownies, 232 Intermediates, 10 Seniors and 137 adults including leaders, council members and committee women.

There are Girl Scouts in every section of Cumberland sponsored by Parent Teacher Associations and church organizations. Eleven troops meet at schools, eight at churches, four in the Girl Scout House and one at the North End Playground.

Lois Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Baker, LaVale, is able to be out of doors. She was in an automobile accident New Years day. She expects to return to school the last of the month.

investigated the accident, two days after the fatality. Long was pronounced dead upon arrival at Memorial Hospital about 7:30 p. m. Christmas day.

Trooper Browning testified yesterday that the point where Long was struck was two-tenths of a mile east of the Cumberland city limits. He said the point was at the end of a double white line that extended around a curve for four-tenths of a mile over the route which Keister had traveled.

Cites Cause

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, who performed an autopsy several hours after Long's death, said that intra-abdominal hemorrhage caused by a crushed pelvis, and shock were responsible for his death. The doctor also related the results of an alcohol analysis upon the man's brain. This showed that the brain had two-tenths of one per cent of alcohol, which made it a borderline case between sobriety and drunkenness. He added that .272 of one per cent is considered a mark of definite drunkenness.

Another prosecution witness was Willard Wolford, City Dump Road, who lives about a half-mile from the point of the fatal mishap. He said that Long was at his home for lunch on Christmas day and was there from about 3 p. m. until shortly after 6 p. m. Wolford acknowledged that Long had had one drink of whiskey at his home that afternoon but was "perfectly all right" when he left the house about 30 minutes before he was fatally injured.

Howard Grimm, Jr., who was Long's son-in-law, said that he brought Long and his wife to his apartment above the Blue Room Tavern on Oldtown Road before noon on Christmas day. He added that he drove Long and Wolford to the latter's home about 3 p. m. Long was sober then, he said. That was the last he saw his father-in-law until he was called to identify the body that night.

Donald Haugh, Paw Paw, and Eugene Edwards, this city, who were driving behind Keister at the time of the fatal accident, both stated that they stopped to investigate. Both observed fresh tire tracks off the hard surface of the road a short distance from where Long's body lay.

bank program be started here.

Moberley, who came here in 1950 from Clear Field (Pa.) Hospital, where he was superintendent, said he saw how a blood bank of this type worked in Clear Field, and declared it can do the same wonders here.

He said by having blood banks at local hospitals, people in the area are assured of every type of blood and blood derivatives in emergencies. Also, the blood program will help relieve the shortage of blood in the armed forces.

One of the first veterans to donate blood yesterday was William J. Malachowski, 28, 34 South Street, whose life was saved by blood transfusion while wounded in the Philippines.

Malachowski was seriously wounded while serving with the 710th Tank Battalion. During the first weeks in a hospital in Leyte, he received five whole blood transfusions and a number of plasma transfusions

"I guess I want to replace some of the blood that was given to me while I was in the hospital," he said.

Yesterday, Malachowski gave his 10th pint of blood.

Community Chest

After that in 1929, the Cumberland Civic Club again took active interest in the Girl Scouts and under the presidency of Mrs. Harold W. Smith established a permanent organization in Cumberland.

The club appropriated funds in order to send Miss Lapp away for training in Girl Scout work. Mrs. George W. Legge was named chairman and Mrs. Irving Rosenbaum elected secretary of a group of 13 community women who worked to enroll volunteer leaders and provide them with training and secure meeting quarters for the troops. In two years, there were six troops totaling 97 members.

The Girl Scouts joined the Community Chest in 1931 and have been a member since. Miss Emily Lapp was the first director and an office was established in the County Court House in a room of the Board of Election Supervisors.

In March of 1937, the city building at 72 Greene Street, formerly the public library, was given to the Girl Scouts as headquarters and has been used ever since. The building has been repaired and furnished with equipment for troop activities, and club rooms were made available for women's organizations.

Today there are 620 active in Girl Scouting in Cumberland including 241 Brownies, 232 Intermediates, 10 Seniors and 137 adults including leaders, council members and committee women.

There are Girl Scouts in every section of Cumberland sponsored by Parent Teacher Associations and church organizations. Eleven troops meet at schools, eight at churches, four in the Girl Scout House and one at the North End Playground.

Lois Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Baker, LaVale, is able to be out of doors. She was in an automobile accident New Years day. She expects to return to school the last of the month.

Walcott Must Defend Title

Christenberry Issues Ultimatum To Champ

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said tonight heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott will have his title taken from him unless he agress within 15 days to meet a legitimate contender."

The hard-hitting New York boxing boss said he considered former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and undefeated Rocky Marciano of Brockton, Mass., as the "foremost contenders."

Christenberry made the statement after he had been asked if he planned action similar to that of the Louisiana State Boxing Commission, which withdrew recognition from Walcott today.

The Louisiana commission said the action was taken because Walcott failed to defend his title within six months as required by the National Boxing Association.

Walcott won the title by knocking out Charles in the seventh round at Pittsburgh, July 18. His six months period of grace ended three days ago.

Christenberry said he had consulted with C. B. Powell, another member of the three-man state athletic commission, and they had sent a letter today to Walcott notifying him of the commission's action.

Christenberry said the letter pointed out Walcott won the title more than six months ago and said:

"Unless you notify the commission within 15 days that you are prepared to defend your title against a legitimate challenger, we shall have no alternative but to withdraw recognition of you as world heavyweight champion."

Christenberry interpreted that to mean the 38-year-old champion must be ready to agree to sign for a title defense within that period.

Asked whether he knew if Charles had a contract for a return bout with Walcott, Christenberry said: "we do not have such a contract on file at the commission."

The International Boxing Club has said that it has a contract for a return bout between Charles and Walcott and Tom Tannas, co-manager of Charles, has stated that he has such a contract.

12 Dodgers Signed

BROOKLYN, Jan. 21 (AP)—Catcher Dick Teed and utility infielder Wayne Terwilliger have signed 1952 contracts, the Brooklyn Dodgers announced today. This makes a total of 12 Dodgers signed.

Vanderbilt Puts Blast On Track At Santa Anita

Marylander Declares Heads Incompetent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (INS)—Sportsman Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the powerful Thoroughbred Racing Association, leveled a blast at Santa Anita Park today, a track at which Vanderbilt has a string of horses racing.

The famed Maryland owner and breeder told the Southern California Sportswriters Association:

"Santa Anita should devote less emphasis on how fast a horse runs, and more on how far. The officials are not competent, and Santa Anita is the only major track where stewards are on ground level, instead of on the roof."

The youthful owner of such famed stakes stars at Next Move, Bed 'O Roses and the $200,000 Santa Anita Maturity favorite, Whither, said that Santa Anita has more trouble than most other tracks.

He declared:

"The track is either too soft or too hard. Santa Anita tries to outguess the weather, but the weather usually out-guesses the track."

He said his condemnation of the officials was not as individuals but as a group and declared more rough riding is tolerated at Santa Anita at most eastern tracks.

Vanderbilt's sentiments were echoed by George Poole, trainer for the powerful and successful Greentree Stable.

Illinois Leads College Quints In Weekly Poll

West Virginia Moves To Ninth Position

BY JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—The University of Illinois basketball team, which has been threatening for some time to take over the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press poll, finally made it today and dropped Kansas to the runner-up place.

Thus Kansas, which barely managed a 69-66 win over Nebraska last week, skidded from the perch it had held since Jan. 2. Kansas had been No. 1 in the last three polls, with Illinois a close-up second each time.

A total of 119 ballots were received from the nation's sports writers and sportscasters, and Illinois got 25 first place votes, Kansas only 17. In point totals, Illinois had 860 and Kansas, 834.

Kansas obviously lost strength on the basis of comparative scores, for Kansas State had drubbed Nebraska, 71-36 Jan. 12. Two nights later Kansas barely got past Nebraska, which actually outscored the Jayhawks from the floor. It was Kansas' only game of the week, and still left the team with a 13-0 record.

Win Eleven In Row

Illinois, meanwhile, also played but once last week, beating Indiana, 78-66. It was the 11th win without defeat for the Illini.

For the third straight week, Kentucky is No. 3, with 707 points, while Iowa remains No. 4 with 663 votes. Iowa (12-0), beat Northwestern and Minnesota last week.

Otherwise in the top 10, there was some juggling around, although the same teams remained in the select list as a week ago.

St. Bonaventure (10-0) moved up from sixth to the No. 5 position, having stopped Cincinnati Saturday, 77-58. Duquesne, the only other major college team without a defeat, skidded from No. 7 last week to No. 10. The Dukes played one game during that time, beating Westminister (Pa.), 88-58.

Washington, leader in the Pacific Coast Conference northern division, solidified its position with twin victories over Oregon last week, 74-36 and 64-39. The Huskies, No. 8 last week, moved up to No. 6.

Kansas State, with a victory over Oklahoma early in the week, polished off Iowa State Saturday, 76-58, and took over No. 7, after being No. 9 last week.

Mountaineers Move Up

St. Louis, after beating New York University lost to Holy Cross in overtime, 66-65, and skidded from No. 5 to No. 8. West Virginia thumped Wake Forest and Waynesburg during the week, moving up a notch from No. 10. Holy Cross tops the second 10 in 11th place, moving up from No. 20 a week ago.

Today's rites brought mourners from all walks of life to a pontifical requiem high mass.

Gary Kerns Gets 33 That 194-Mile Trip

Lee, Johnson Score State Racing Dates

By C. V. BURNS

Gary Kerns, Berkeley Springs High School forward, hung up a season record for the Potomac Valley Conference the other day when he scored 33 points against Capon Bridge.

The previous high for the current campaign was 27 points credited to Neil Leary of Keyser and Max Pyles of the West Virginia Deaf School.

Kerns scored 14 field goals and 5-5 fouls, believed to be an all-time record for a Berkeley High player.

Berkeley won 64-44.

Carl Hartman's 62 points in a single game for Ridgeley last season is the conferences all-time high.

And speaking of Hartman we might add that the latest official statistics of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference, show Carl, now at Alderson-Broaddus College (Philippi) with a foul shooting average of 81.6 per cent, which is really dunking the leather, if anyone should ask you. He meshed 31 out of 38 free throws.

Moorefield feels that if Everett is admitted to the Interstate Baseball League it will present quite a mileage problem.

Manager "Huck" Seymour says that's a 97-mile trip, one way, and the team that makes it spends half a day on the road and arrives home just in time to go to bed.

Everett was in the league several years ago and both teams know what a tiresome grind that road trip really it.

Carl Engh, whose Westmont High (Johnstown) basketball teams play Allegany High annually, has been coaching for 33 years. Arthur Clyde, Morgantown (W. Va.) High has been tutoring for 30 years and Frank Wimer is in his 27th year at Elkins High.

Walter L. Bowers is rounding out his 26th cage season at AHS and Major J. J. Cavanaugh, Penn Avenue-Fort Hill mentor, is at it for the 24th consecutive season.

A snaggle-toothed, little guy who was known as "Jiggs," led the officials a dog's life while the Chicago Masked Marvels were taking it on the chin at the hands of the Spas on Sunday night.

"That guy has erupted so much tonight they oughta call him Vesuvius," remarked Major Cavanaugh.

The Maryland state amateur boxing tourney is being revived in Baltimore and will be held at Skateland Arena, Jan. 31, Feb. 7 and Feb. 14.

Joseph F. Harris, South Atlantic AAU ring chairman, announces open and novice classes will be contested in 10 weight divisions. They are 112, 119, 125, 132, 140, 147, 156, 165, 178-pounds-and-under, plus heavyweight (over 178). Entries close Jan. 26.

Norvel Lee, heavyweight, and Maurice Johnson, 160-pounder, who appeared in amateur shows here, are in the finals of the Washington, D. C. Golden Gloves Tournament which will be staged on Thursday night at Uline Arena.

Lee's opponent will be Barrett Kiff of the Quantico Marines. Norvel eked out a hairline decision over Edgar Smith in the semi-finals. Johnson whipped Ward Sullivan, the Merrick A. C. fighter, who made a big hit here.

Balloting in the Baseball Hall of Fame is now going on. Selections are made by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers' Association and vote must be for players active from 1926 through 1950. A player must receive a 75 per cent vote for nomination. Mel Ott and Jimmy Foxx made it last year, increasing to 60 the number now in the Hall of Fame.

Leading candidates for inclusion this year appear to be Paul Waner, Harry Heilmann, Bill Terry, Dizzy Dean, Bill Dickey, Al Simmons and Walter Maranville.

Hammaker Is Hero As Terrors Nose Out Mt. St. Mary's

EMMITSBURG, Md., Jan. 21—Charles "Chuck" Hammaker, former Fort Hill High School player of Cumberland, sank five field goals in the last quarter to break a nip-and-tuck Mason-Dixon Conference game wide open and give Western Maryland a 47-42 win over Mt. St. Mary's College here tonight.

The Green Terrors' victory was accomplished without the high scoring of Art Press, one of the top marksmen in the country. The Mounts' Jack Mazoureix hung on Press like a leech and permitted him only nine points—probably the lowest in Press' collegiate career.

Arnie Needleman got eight points and Ernie Makowski 11 to go with Hammaker's 12.

It was the Mounts' sixth conference loss, against one win. Score:

Western Maryland	8	15	11	23	—57
Mt. St. Mary's	10	10	13	9	—42

Michigan Defeated

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 21 (AP)—Northwestern defeated Michigan 59-57 in a big ten basketball thriller here tonight. The two teams were tied up a dozen times before Northwestern racked up its third conference win in six games.

LaSalle Plays Ridgeley High At Local Gym

Keyser Seeking 7th Win, Petersburg 6th In PVC Cage Race

Scholastic basketball teams of the tri-state district will engage in thirteen games tonight with most of the interest centered in the outcome of the Allegany-Bruce tilt at Westernport and the Fort Hill-Barton battle on the Barton court.

Allegany and Fort Hill are undefeated and they loom as the leading contenders for the W.M.I. League championship this year.

Gave Sentinels Battle

Bruce gave Fort Hill a great battle on the Sentinels' court before going down, 37-31, and might give AHS an interesting scrap tonight. The campers treated Ridgeley, Barton, Beall and Central like they owned them in their last four starts and if they shoot like they did in the Barton and Central games it's going to be curtains for Bruce.

Barton has lost its last three games and is the underdog in tonight's game but the Braves might have another good game in their system.

The third W.M.I. tilt on tonight's card finds Central of Lonaconing entertaining Beall of Frostburg.

The only local game on tap tonight finds LaSalle engaging Ridgeley High on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock. The Explorers (9-4) are figured to win over the Blackhawks who have gained one decision in nine games.

Four games are billed in the Potomac Valley Conference.

Keyser Seeks 7th In Row

Keyser will be shooting for its 7th straight win when it tests Fort Ashby on the latter's court and Petersburg, another undefeated team, will be gunning for No. 6 when it plays host to Bob Hartman's Franklin High quint. Capon Bridge visits Mathias and the Romney Pioneers invade Moorefield.

Other tilts include Oakland at Elk Garden, Hyndman at Berlin, Thomas at Tygarts Valley, Beverly at Parsons and St. Joseph's (Martinsburg) at West Virginia School for the Deaf, at Romney.

Louis Heads Negro Golfers On Phoenix Open Tournament

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21 (AP)—Forty places in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament field will be at stake in 18-hole qualifying rounds tomorrow, and among the aspirants will be former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis and five other negro players.

Louis broke the ice for his race and got into the San Diego Open last week end. It was the first time a negro had competed in a Professional Golfers Association tourney. The PGA has opened its tourneys to any player acceptable to the local sponsors and local host clubs.

The tournament field will be limited to 130 players.

Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., telephoned his entry today, after passing up the California events.

A pro-amateur event will be held Wednesday, and the open will get under way Thursday, winding up Sunday.

Carter Is Victor

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter won a 10-round split decision over welterweight Mario Trigo tonight in a non-title bout that was punctuated with boos and foot-stamping by the fans, and a warning from the boxing commission to both boys to stop stalling.

Walcott Must Defend Title

Christenberry Issues Ultimatum To Champ

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said tonight heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott will have his title taken from him unless he agress within 15 days to meet a legitimate contender."

The hard-hitting New York boxing boss said he considered former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and undefeated Rocky Marciano of Brockton, Mass., as the "foremost contenders."

Christenberry made the statement after he had been asked if he planned action similar to that of the Louisiana State Boxing Commission, which withdrew recognition from Walcott today.

The Louisiana commission said the action was taken because Walcott failed to defend his title within six months as required by the National Boxing Association .

Walcott won the title by knocking out Charles in the seventh round at Pittsburgh, July 18. His six months period of grace ended three days ago.

Christenberry said he had consulted with C. B. Powell, another member of the three-man state athletic commission, and they had sent a letter today to Walcott notifying him of the commission's action.

Christenberry said the letter pointed out Walcott won the title more than six months ago and said:

"Unless you notify the commission within 15 days that you are prepared to defend your title against a legitimate challenger, we shall have no alternative but to withdraw recognition of you as world heavyweight champion."

Christenberry interpreted that to mean the 38-year-old champion must be ready to agree to sign for a title defense within that period.

Asked whether he knew if Charles had a contract for a return bout with Walcott, Christenberry said: "we do not have such a contract on file at the commission."

The International Boxing Club has said that it has a contract for a return bout between Charles and Walcott and Tom Tannas, co-manager of Charles, has stated that he has such a contract.

Vanderbilt Puts Blast On Track At Santa Anita

Marylander Declares Heads Incompetent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (INS)—Sportsman Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the powerful Thoroughbred Racing Association, leveled a blast at Santa Anita Park today, a track at which Vanderbilt has a string of horses racing.

The famed Maryland owner and breeder told the Southern California Sportswriters Association:

"Santa Anita should devote less emphasis on how fast a horse runs, and more on how far. The officials are not competent, and Santa Anita is the only major track where stewards are on ground level, instead of on the roof."

The youthful owner of such famed stakes stars at Next Move, Bed 'O Roses and the $200,000 Santa Anita Maturity favorite, Whither, said that Santa Anita has more trouble than most other tracks.

He declared:

"The track is either too soft or too hard. Santa Anita tries to outguess the weather, but the weather usually out-guesses the track."

He said his condemnation of the officials was not as individuals but as a group and declared more rough riding is tolerated at Santa Anita at most eastern tracks.

Vanderbilt's sentiments were echoed by George Poole, trainer for the powerful and successful Greentree Stable.

Illinois Leads College Quints In Weekly Poll

West Virginia Moves To Ninth Position

BY JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—The University of Illinois basketball team, which has been threatening for some time to take over the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press poll, finally made it today and dropped Kansas to the runner-up place.

Thus Kansas, which barely managed a 69-66 win over Nebraska last week, skidded from the perch it had held since Jan. 2. Kansas had been No. 1 in the last three polls, with Illinois a close-up second each time.

A total of 119 ballots were received from the nation's sports writers and sportscasters, and Illinois got 25 first place votes, Kansas only 17. In point totals, Illinois had 860 and Kansas, 834.

Kansas obviously lost strength on the basis of comparative scores, for Kansas State had drubbed Nebraska, 71-36 Jan. 12. Two nights later Kansas barely got past Nebraska, which actually outscored the Jayhawks from the floor. It was Kansas' only game of the week, and still left the team with a 13-0 record.

Win Eleven In Row

Illinois, meanwhile, also played but once last week, beating Indiana, 78-66. It was the 11th win without defeat for the Illini.

For the third straight week, Kentucky is No. 3, with 707 points, while Iowa remains No. 4 with 663 votes. Iowa (12-0), beat Northwestern and Minnesota last week.

Otherwise in the top 10, there was some juggling around, although the same teams remained in the select list as a week ago.

St. Bonaventure (10-0) moved up from sixth to the No. 5 position, having stopped Cincinnati Saturday, 77-58. Duquesne, the only other major college team without a defeat, skidded from No. 7 last week to No. 10. The Dukes played one game during that time, beating Westminister (Pa.), 88-58.

Washington, leader in the Pacific Coast Conference northern division, solidified its position with twin victories over Oregon last week, 74-36 and 64-39. The Huskies, No. 8 last week, moved up to No. 6.

Kansas State, with a victory over Oklahoma early in the week, polished off Iowa State Saturday, 76-58, and took over No. 7, after being No. 9 last week.

Mountaineers Move Up

St. Louis, after beating New York University lost to Holy Cross in overtime, 66-65, and skidded from No. 5 to No. 8. West Virginia thumped Wake Forest and Waynesburg during the week, moving up a notch from No. 10. Holy Cross tops the second 10 in 11th place, moving up from No. 20 a week ago.

Gary Kerns Gets 33 That 194-Mile Trip

Lee, Johnson Score State Racing Dates

By C. V. BURNS

Gary Kerns, Berkeley Springs High School forward, hung up a season record for the Potomac Valley Conference the other day when he scored 33 points against Capon Bridge.

The previous high for the current campaign was 27 points credited to Neil Leary of Keyser and Max Pyles of the West Virginia Deaf School.

Kerns scored 14 field goals and 5-5 fouls, believed to be an all-time record for a Berkeley High player.

Berkeley won 64-44.

Carl Hartman's 62 points in a single game for Ridgeley last season is the conferences all-time high.

And speaking of Hartman we might add that the latest official statistics of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference, show Carl, now at Aldersen-Broaddus College (Philippi) with a foul shooting average of 81.6 per cent, which is really dunking the leather, if anyone should ask you. He meshed 31 out of 38 free throws.

Moorefield feels that if Everett is admitted to the Interstate Baseball League it will present quite a mileage problem.

Manager "Huck" Seymour says that's a 97-mile trip, one way, and the team that makes it spends half a day on the road and arrives home just in time to go to bed.

Everett was in the league several years ago and both teams know what a tiresome grind that road trip really it.

Carl Engh, whose Westmont High (Johnstown) basketball teams play Allegany High annually, has been coaching for 33 years. Arthur Clyde, Morgantown (W. Va.) High has been tutoring for 30 years and Frank Wimer is in his 27th year at Elkins High.

Walter L. Bowers is rounding out his 26th cage season at AHS and Major J. J. Cavanaugh, Penn Avenue-Fort Hill mentor, is at it for the 24th consecutive season.

A snaggle-toothed, little guy who was known as "Jiggs," led the officials a dog's life while the Chicago Masked Marvels were taking it on the chin at the hands of the Spas on Sunday night.

"That guy has erupted so much tonight they oughta call him Vesuvius," remarked Major Cavanaugh.

The Maryland state amateur boxing tourney is being revived in Baltimore and will be held at Skateland Arena, Jan. 31, Feb. 7 and Feb. 14.

Joseph F. Harris, South Atlantic AAU ring chairman, announces open and novice classes will be contested in 10 weight divisions. They are 112, 119, 125, 132, 140, 147, 156, 165, 178-pounds-and-under, plus heavyweight (over 178). Entries close Jan. 26.

Norvel Lee, heavyweight, and Maurice Johnson, 160-pounder, who appeared in amateur shows here, are in the finals of the Washington, D. C. Golden Gloves Tournament which will be staged on Thursday night at Uline Arena.

Lee's opponent will be Barrett Kiff of the Quantico Marines. Norvel eked out a hairline decision over Edgar Smith in the semi-finals. Johnson whipped Ward Sullivan, the Merrick A. C. fighter, who made a big hit here.

Balloting in the Baseball Hall of Fame is now going on. Selections are made by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers' Association and vote must be for players active from 1926 through 1950. A player must receive a 75 per cent vote for nomination. Mel Ott and Jimmy Foxx made it last year, increasing to 60 the number now in the Hall of Fame.

Leading candidates for inclusion this year appear to be Paul Waner, Harry Heilmann, Bill Terry, Dizzy Dean, Bill Dickey, Al Simmons and Walter Maranville.

Hammaker Is Hero As Terrors Nose Out Mt. St. Mary's

EMMITSBURG, Md., Jan. 21—Charles "Chuck" Hammaker, former Fort Hill High School player of Cumberland, sank five field goals in the last quarter to break a nip-and-tuck Mason-Dixon Conference game wide open and give Western Maryland a 47-42 win over Mt. St. Mary's College here tonight.

The Green Terrors' victory was accomplished without the high scoring of Art Press, one of the top marksmen in the country. The Mounts' Jack Mazoureix hung on Press like a leech and permitted him only nine points—probably the lowest in Press' collegiate career.

Arnie Needleman got eight points and Ernie Makowski 11 to go with Hammaker's 12.

It was the Mounts' sixth conference loss, against one win. Score: Western Maryland 8 15 11 23—57
Mt. St. Mary's ....10 10 13 9—42

Michigan Defeated

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 21 (AP)—Northwestern defeated Michigan 59-57 in a big ten basketball thriller here tonight. The two teams were tied up a dozen times before Northwestern racked up its third conference win in six games.

LaSalle Plays Ridgeley High At Local Gym

Keyser Seeking 7th Win, Petersburg 6th In PVC Cage Race

Scholastic basketball teams of the tri-state district will engage in thirteen games tonight with most of the interest centered in the outcome of the Allegany-Bruce tilt at Westernport and the Fort Hill-Barton battle on the Barton court.

Allegany and Fort Hill are undefeated and they loom as the leading contenders for the W.M.I. League championship this year.

Gave Sentinels Battle

Bruce gave Fort Hill a great battle on the Sentinels' court before going down, 37-31, and might give AHS an interesting scrap tonight. The campers treated Ridgeley, Barton, Beall and Central like they owned them in their last four starts and if they shoot like they did in the Barton and Central games it's going to be curtains for Bruce.

Barton has lost its last three games and is the underdog in tonight's game but the Braves might have another good game in their system.

The third W.M.I. tilt on tonight's card finds Central of Lonaconing entertaining Beall of Frostburg.

The only local game on tap tonight finds LaSalle engaging Ridgeley High on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock. The Explorers (9-4) are figured to win over the Blackhawks who have gained one decision in nine games.

Four games are billed in the Potomac Valley Conference.

Keyser Seeks 7th In Row

Keyser will be shooting for its 7th straight win when it tests Fort Ashby on the latter's court and Petersburg, another undefeated team, will be gunning for No. 6 when it plays host to Bob Hartman's Franklin High quint. Capon Bridge visits Mathias and the Romney Pioneers invade Moorefield.

Other tilts include Oakland at Elk Garden, Hyndman at Berlin, Thomas at Tygarts Valley, Beverly at Parsons and St. Joseph's (Martinsburg) at West Virginia School for the Deaf, at Romney.

Louis Heads Negro Golfers On Phoenix Open Tournament

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21 (AP)—Forty places in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament field will be at stake in 18-hole qualifying rounds tomorrow, and among the aspirants will be former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis and five other negro players.

Louis broke the ice for his race and got into the San Diego Open last week end. It was the first time a negro had competed in a Professional Golfers Association tourney. The PGA has opened its tourneys to any player acceptable to the local sponsors and local host clubs.

The tournament field will be limited to 130 players.

Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., telephoned his entry today, after passing up the California events.

A pro-amateur event will be held Wednesday, and the open will get under way Thursday, winding up Sunday.

Carter Is Victor

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter won a 10-round split decision over welterweight Mario Trigo tonight in a non-title bout that was punctuated with boos and foot-stamping by the fans, and a warning from the boxing commission to both boys to stop stalling.

Walcott Must Defend Title

Christenberry Issues Ultimatum To Champ

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said tonight heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott will have his title taken from him unless he agress within 15 days to meet a legitimate contender."

The hard-hitting New York boxing boss said he considered former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and undefeated Rocky Marciano of Brockton, Mass., as the "foremost contenders."

Christenberry made the statement after he had been asked if he planned action similar to that of the Louisiana State Boxing Commission, which withdrew recognition from Walcott today.

The Louisiana commission said the action was taken because Walcott failed to defend his title within six months as required by the National Boxing Association.

Walcott won the title by knocking out Charles in the seventh round at Pittsburgh, July 18. His six months period of grace ended three days ago.

Christenberry said he had consulted with C. B. Powell, another member of the three-man state athletic commission, and they had sent a letter today to Walcott notifying him of the commission's action.

Christenberry said the letter pointed out Walcott won the title more than six months ago and said:

"Unless you notify the commission within 15 days that you are prepared to defend your title against a legitimate challenger, we shall have no alternative but to withdraw recognition of you as world heavyweight champion."

Christenberry interpreted that to mean the 38-year-old champion must be ready to agree to sign for a title defense within that period.

Asked whether he knew if Charles had a contract for a return bout with Walcott, Christenberry said: "we do not have such a contract on file at the commission."

The International Boxing Club has said that it has a contract for a return bout between Charles and Walcott and Tom Tannas, co-manager of Charles, has stated that he has such a contract.

The Algerian boxer, who won his title in 1947 and lost it a year later to Louis Skena, was felled in the fight last night by a right hand smash to the temple, and was rushed to a hospital, still unconscious.

Vanderbilt Puts Blast On Track At Santa Anita

Marylander Declares Heads Incompetent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (INS)—Sportsman Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the powerful Thoroughbred Racing Association, leveled a blast at Santa Anita Park today, a track at which Vanderbilt has a string of horses racing.

The famed Maryland owner and breeder told the Southern California Sportswriters Association:

"Santa Anita should devote less emphasis on how fast a horse runs, and more on how far. The officials are not competent, and Santa Anita is the only major track where stewards are on ground level, instead of on the roof."

The youthful owner of such famed stakes stars at Next Move, Bed 'O Roses and the $200,000 Santa Anita Maturity favorite, Whither, said that Santa Anita has more trouble than most other tracks.

He declared:

"The track is either too soft or too hard. Santa Anita tries to outguess the weather, but the weather usually out-guesses the track."

He said his condemnation of the officials was not as individuals but as a group and declared more rough riding is tolerated at Santa Anita at most eastern tracks.

Vanderbilt's sentiments were echoed by George Poole, trainer for the powerful and successful Greentree Stable.

Illinois Leads College Quints In Weekly Poll

West Virginia Moves To Ninth Position

BY JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—The University of Illinois basketball team, which has been threatening for some time to take over the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press poll, finally made it today and dropped Kansas to the runner-up place.

Thus Kansas, which barely managed a 69-66 win over Nebraska last week, skidded from the perch it had held since Jan. 2. Kansas had been No. 1 in the last three polls, with Illinois a close-up second each time.

A total of 119 ballots were received from the nation's sports writers and sportscasters, and Illinois got 25 first place votes, Kansas only 17. In point totals, Illinois had 860 and Kansas, 834.

Kansas obviously lost strength on the basis of comparative scores, for Kansas State had drubbed Nebraska, 71-36 Jan. 12. Two nights later Kansas barely got past Nebraska, which actually outscored the Jayhawks from the floor. It was Kansas' only game of the week, and still left the team with a 13-0 record.

Win Eleven In Row

Illinois, meanwhile, also played but once last week, beating Indiana, 78-66. It was the 11th win without defeat for the Illini.

For the third straight week, Kentucky is No. 3, with 707 points, while Iowa remains No. 4 with 663 votes. Iowa (12-0), beat Northwestern and Minnesota last week.

Otherwise in the top 10, there was some juggling around, although the same teams remained in the select list as a week ago.

St. Bonaventure (10-0) moved up from sixth to the No. 5 position, having stopped Cincinnati Saturday, 77-58. Duquesne, the only other major college team without a defeat, skidded from No. 7 last week to No. 10. The Dukes played one game during that time, beating Westminister (Pa.), 88-58.

Washington, leader in the Pacific Coast Conference northern division, solidified its position with twin victories over Oregon last week, 74-36 and 64-39. The Huskies, No. 8 last week, moved up to No. 6.

Kansas State, with a victory over Oklahoma early in the week, polished off Iowa State Saturday, 76-58, and took over No. 7, after being No. 9 last week.

Mountaineers Move Up

St. Louis, after beating New York University lost to Holy Cross in overtime, 66-65, and skidded from No. 5 to No. 8. West Virginia thumped Wake Forest and Waynesburg during the week, moving up a notch from No. 10. Holy Cross tops the second 10 in 11th place, moving up from No. 20 a week ago.

DETROIT, Jan. 21 (AP)—Industry and the sports world, together with men of toil, met today to pay last respects to Walter O. Briggs.

Gary Kerns Gets 33 That 194-Mile Trip

Lee, Johnson Score State Racing Dates

By C. V. BURNS

Gary Kerns, Berkeley Springs High School forward, hung up a season record for the Potomac Valley Conference the other day when he scored 33 points against Capon Bridge.

The previous high for the current campaign was 27 points credited to Neil Leary of Keyser and Max Pyles of the West Virginia Deaf School.

Kerns scored 14 field goals and 5-5 fouls, believed to be an all-time record for a Berkeley High player.

Berkeley won 64-44.

Carl Hartman's 62 points in a single game for Ridgeley last season is the conferences all-time high.

And speaking of Hartman we might add that the latest official statistics of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference, show Carl, now at Alderson-Broaddus College (Philippi) with a foul shooting average of 81.6 per cent, which is really dunking the leather, if anyone should ask you. He meshed 31 out of 38 free throws.

Moorefield feels that if Everett is admitted to the Interstate Baseball League it will present quite a mileage problem.

Manager "Huck" Seymour says that's a 97-mile trip, one way, and the team that makes it spends half a day on the road and arrives home just in time to go to bed.

Everett was in the league several years ago and both teams know what a tiresome grind that road trip really it.

Carl Engh, whose Westmont High (Johnstown) basketball teams play Allegany High annually, has been coaching for 33 years. Arthur Clyde, Morgantown (W. Va.) High has been tutoring for 30 years and Frank Wimer is in his 27th year at Elkins High.

Walter L. Bowers is rounding out his 26th cage season at AHS and Major J. J. Cavanaugh, Penn Avenue-Fort Hill mentor, is at it for the 24th consecutive season.

A snaggle-toothed, little guy who was known as "Jiggs," led the officials a dog's life while the Chicago Masked Marvels were taking it on the chin at the hands of the Spas on Sunday night.

"That guy has erupted so much tonight they oughta call him Vesuvius," remarked Major Cavanaugh.

The Maryland state amateur boxing tourney is being revived in Baltimore and will be held at Skateland Arena, Jan. 31, Feb. 7 and Feb. 14.

Joseph F. Harris, South Atlantic AAU ring chairman, announces open and novice classes will be contested in 10 weight divisions. They are 112, 119, 125, 132, 140, 147, 156, 165, 178-pounds-and-under, plus heavyweight (over 178). Entries close Jan. 26.

Norvel Lee, heavyweight, and Maurice Johnson, 160-pounder, who appeared in amateur shows here, are in the finals of the Washington, D. C. Golden Gloves Tournament which will be staged on Thursday night at Uline Arena.

Lee's opponent will be Barrett Kiff of the Quantico Marines. Norvel eked out a hairline decision over Edgar Smith in the semi-finals. Johnson whipped Ward Sullivan, the Merrick A. C. fighter, who made a big hit here.

Balloting in the Baseball Hall of Fame is now going on. Selections are made by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers' Association and vote must be for players active from 1926 through 1950. A player must receive a 75 per cent vote for nomination. Mel Ott and Jimmy Foxx made it last year, increasing to 60 the number now in the Hall of Fame.

Leading candidates for inclusion this year appear to be Paul Waner, Harry Heilmann, Bill Terry, Dizzy Dean, Bill Dickey, Al Simmons and Walter Maranville.

Hammaker Is Hero As Terrors Nose Out Mt. St. Mary's

EMMITSBURG, Md., Jan. 21—Charles "Chuck" Hammaker, former Fort Hill High School player of Cumberland, sank five field goals in the last quarter to break a nip-and-tuck Mason-Dixon Conference game wide open and give Western Maryland a 47-42 win over Mt. St. Mary's College here tonight.

The Green Terrors' victory was accomplished without the high scoring of Art Press, one of the top marksmen in the country. The Mounts' Jack Mazoureix hung on Press like a leech and permitted him only nine points—probably the lowest in Press' collegiate career.

Arnie Needleman got eight points and Ernie Makowski 11 to go with Hammaker's 12.

It was the Mounts' sixth conference loss, against one win. Score: Western Maryland 8 15 11 23—57
Mt. St. Mary's ....10 10 13 9—42

Michigan Defeated

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 21 (AP)—Northwestern defeated Michigan 59-57 in a big ten basketball thriller here tonight. The two teams were tied up a dozen times before Northwestern racked up its third conference win in six games.

LaSalle Plays Ridgeley High At Local Gym

Keyser Seeking 7th Win, Petersburg 6th In PVC Cage Race

Scholastic basketball teams of the tri-state district will engage in thirteen games tonight with most of the interest centered in the outcome of the Allegany-Bruce tilt at Westernport and the Fort Hill-Barton battle on the Barton court.

Allegany and Fort Hill are undefeated and they loom as the leading contenders for the W.M.I. League championship this year.

Gave Sentinels Battle

Bruce gave Fort Hill a great battle on the Sentinels' court before going down, 37-31, and might give AHS an interesting scrap tonight. The campers treated Ridgeley, Barton, Beall and Central like they owned them in their last four starts and if they shoot like they did in the Barton and Central games it's going to be curtains for Bruce.

Barton has lost its last three games and is the underdog in tonight's game but the Braves might have another good game in their system.

The third W.M.I. tilt on tonight's card finds Central of Lonaconing entertaining Beall of Frostburg.

The only local game on tap tonight finds LaSalle engaging Ridgeley High on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock. The Explorers (9-4) are figured to win over the Blackhawks who have gained one decision in nine games.

Four games are billed in the Potomac Valley Conference.

Keyser Seeks 7th In Row

Keyser will be shooting for its 7th straight win when it tests Fort Ashby on the latter's court and Petersburg, another undefeated team, will be gunning for No. 6 when it plays host to Bob Hartman's Franklin High quint. Capon Bridge visits Mathias and the Romney Pioneers invade Moorefield.

Other tilts include Oakland at Elk Garden, Hyndman at Berlin, Thomas at Tygarts Valley, Beverly at Parsons and St. Joseph's (Martinsburg) at West Virginia School for the Deaf, at Romney.

Louis Heads Negro Golfers On Phoenix Open Tournament

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21 (AP)—Forty places in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament field will be at stake in 18-hole qualifying rounds tomorrow, and among the aspirants will be former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis and five other negro players.

Louis broke the ice for his race and got into the San Diego Open last week end. It was the first time a negro had competed in a Professional Golfers Association tourney. The PGA has opened its tourneys to any player acceptable to the local sponsors and local host clubs.

The tournament field will be limited to 130 players.

Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., telephoned his entry today, after passing up the California events.

A pro-amateur event will be held Wednesday, and the open will get under way Thursday, winding up Sunday.

Carter Is Victor

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter won a 10-round split decision over welterweight Mario Trigo tonight in a non-title bout that was punctuated with boos and foot-stamping by the fans, and a warning from the boxing commission to both boys to stop stalling.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21 (INS)—Annette Kellerman, former world swimming champion, was received like a queen when she walked on the Esther Williams set of "One Piece Bathing Suit" at MGM. Some of the people in the movie were with Annette on her vaudeville tour and they all adore her. This was quite a thrill for Annette, as is the picture which is her life story.

Esther Williams

Esther has herself a male cast of top stars, with such actors as Victor Mature, Walter Pidgeon, and now David Brian, who is being borrowed from Warners.

The Williams gal, who is on all lists of top ten stars, is being given a big production, with Arthur Hornblow as the producer.

I was impressed with Julia Adams in "Bend Of The River," a honey of a western. She is different, and there is a true sweetness about her personality.

I happen to know that this sweetness is also in her real life, for Julia and her bridegroom of a year agreed that she should go to Korea to spend Christmas entertaining the GIs. It was a great sacrifice because they are very happily married and it was their first Christmas together.

Inquiring about Julia I was told she has the lead in "Texas Man," starring Robert Ryan, who has been borrowed by Universal-International from RKO.

Sadao Nagata, who has a complete monopoly on entertainment in Japan—he's the czar of movie theaters, stage shows and the opera—wants some American stars to tour his dynasty plus appearing in Japanese hospitals.

The top three requests on his list may surprise you. He wants Margaret O'Brien (I've heard before that she is very popular in the Orient), then Laurel and Hardy and—Deanna Durbin whose pictures are still going strong there.

Nagata has asked Cowboy Star Kennie Duncan to be his agent here and help round up the talent.

The treatment of "Melba," based on the career of the famous Australian operatic singer, Dame Nellie Melba, has been finished by Walter Reisch. So eager is Sam Spiegel, the producer, that he and his attorney, I. H. Prinzmetal, flew to London Saturday with Reisch's script. They will close the deal with Melba's estate, for the film rights.

As I told you, Patrice Munsel has been optioned for the title role, and this, I should think, will be one of our important 1952 pictures.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frankie Darrow and Joyce Mills motored to Las Vegas to get married and then changed their minds. Mighty sensible, since Frankie's Los Angeles divorce is not yet final.

Ginger Rogers gets 30 changes of costume in "Dreamboat," all dreamed up by Charles Le Maire and all of them dreamy.

The actor who slipped into the makeup department and mixed up all the hair pieces of our balding leading men is known and he'd better confess. The little prank caused plenty of trouble. The hair pieces were neatly arranged by name, and were shifted around so that each actor would be sure to get the wrong top piece.

'Tis said that Roberto Rossellini is trying to get backing from Aga Khan to make a picture in Europe.

Preston Sturges, who directed and wrote "Miracle Of Morgan Creek," one of Betty Hutton's best pictures, will write the screenplay for "Look Ma, I'm Dancing" for Betty.

Tony Curtis, who paints one picture after another between scenes is just finishing the portrait of a monk he saw in a Paris cathedral.

Ida Lupino and Howard Duff have rented a house in the Hollywood hills which Ida is completely redecorating. Fortunately, they hadn't moved in when the rains came.

Zsa Zsa Gabor too kso many jools to MGM when she went for still photographs that the studio promptly took out a $50,000 insurance policy on the baubles. Did I say baubles?

Eleanor Parker, Cedarville, Ohio's leading citizen, gets a nice honor from her hometown. A plaque will be placed on the house where Eleanor was born. She also may be in line for another honor—the Oscar nomination for her work in "Detective Story."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Do people love you for "what you are"?

Answer: No, because they do not know this, and at bottom, neither do you. All that others know or really care about is how you behave toward them. If you feel there is something about you that makes you unworthy to be loved, don't think others will "sense" it unless you reveal it; and conversely, don't expect to be loved just for being a deserving person. Of course, you will show to others aspects of your character which you yourself are unaware of—everybody does that—but you will reveal them only by your words and actions, and if you can control these, what goes on in your mind is nobody's business but yours.

May you feel your clothes are part of you?

(which the psychiatrists call your "body image") includes the way you are dressed, the more vital it will be

Answer: Many neurotics feel that way—at least, unconsciously—says the British psychologist, J. C. Fluegel, quoted in the magazine, Why. To a woman of this type, perfect grooming implied physical perfection, while to be badly or shabbily dressed is like being ill. The more your mental picture of yourself to your self-esteem to be well-groomed, while extreme preoccupation with clothes may be a defense against doubt of your physical attractiveness. The "clothes horse" is generally an anxiety neurotic.

Can hypnosis change your "time sense"?

Answer: Yes, report Drs. Linn F. Cooper and Milton H. Erickson. In an experiment at Georgetown University Medical Center, six hypnotized subjects were directed to perform imaginary tasks and were asked on awaking to say how long they had worked. Their answers proved to depend entirely on how long it had been suggested to them that the tasks would take, showing that "time sense can be deliberately altered to a predetermined degree by hypnotic suggestion." Even when you are awake, your "time sense" largely depends on how much attention you are paying to what is going on around you.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21 (INS)—Annette Kellerman, former world swimming champion, was received like a queen when she walked on the Esther Williams set of "One Piece Bathing Suit" at MGM. Some of the people in the movie were with Annette on her vaudeville tour and they all adore her. This was quite a thrill for Annette, as is the picture which is her life story.

Esther Williams

Esther has herself a male cast of top stars, with such actors as Victor Mature, Walter Pidgeon, and now David Brian, who is being borrowed from Warners.

The Williams gal, who is on all lists of top ten stars, is being given a big production, with Arthur Hornblow as the producer.

I was impressed with Julia Adams in "Bend Of The River," a honey of a western. She is different, and there is a true sweetness about her personality.

I happen to know that this sweetness is also in her real life, for Julia and her bridegroom of a year agreed that she should go to Korea to spend Christmas entertaining the GIs. It was a great sacrifice because they are very happily married and it was their first Christmas together.

Inquiring about Julia I was told she has the lead in "Texas Man," starring Robert Ryan, who has been borrowed by Universal-International from RKO.

Sadao Nagata, who has a complete monopoly on entertainment in Japan—he's the czar of movie theaters, stage shows and the opera—wants some American stars to tour his dynasty plus appearing in Japanese hospitals.

The top three requests on his list may surprise you. He wants Margaret O'Brien (I've heard before that she is very popular in the Orient), then Laurel and Hardy and—Deanna Durbin whose pictures are still going strong there.

Nagata has asked Cowboy Star Kennie Duncan to be his agent here and help round up the talent.

The treatment of "Melba," based on the career of the famous Australian operatic singer, Dame Nellie Melba, has been finished by Walter Reisch. So eager is Sam Spiegel, the producer, that he and his attorney, I. H. Prinzmetal, flew to London Saturday with Reisch's script. They will close the deal with Melba's estate, for the film rights.

As I told you, Patrice Munsel has been optioned for the title role, and this, I should think, will be one of our important 1952 pictures.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frankie Darrow and Joyce Mills motored to Las Vegas to get married and then changed their minds. Mighty sensible, since Frankie's Los Angeles divorce is not yet final.

Ginger Rogers gets 30 changes of costume in "Dreamboat," all dreamed up by Charles Le Maire and all of them dreamy.

The actor who slipped into the makeup department and mixed up all the hair pieces of our balding leading men is known and he'd better confess. The little prank caused plenty of trouble. The hair pieces were neatly arranged by name, and were shifted around so that each actor would be sure to get the wrong top piece.

'Tis said that Roberto Rossellini is trying to get backing from Aga Khan to make a picture in Europe.

Preston Sturges, who directed and wrote "Miracle Of Morgan Creek," one of Betty Hutton's best pictures, will write the screenplay for "Look Ma, I'm Dancing" for Betty.

Tony Curtis, who paints one picture after another between scenes is just finishing the portrait of a monk he saw in a Paris cathedral.

Ida Lupino and Howard Duff have rented a house in the Hollywood hills which Ida is completely redecorating. Fortunately, they hadn't moved in when the rains came.

Zsa Zsa Gabor too kso many jools to MGM when she went for still photographs that the studio promptly took out a $50,000 insurance policy on the baubles. Did I say baubles?

Eleanor Parker, Cedarville, Ohio's leading citizen, gets a nice honor from her hometown. A plaque will be placed on the house where Eleanor was born. She also may be in line for another honor—the Oscar nomination for her work in "Detective Story."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

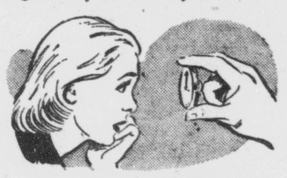
Do people love you for "what you are"?

Answer: No, because they do not know this, and at bottom, neither do you. All that others know or really care about is how you behave toward them. If you feel there is something about you that makes you unworthy to be loved, don't think others will "sense" it unless you reveal it; and conversely, don't expect to be loved just for being a deserving person. Of course, you will show to others aspects of your character which you yourself are unaware of—everybody does that—but you will reveal them only by your words and actions, and if you can control these, what goes on in your mind is nobody's business but yours.

May you feel your clothes are part of you?

(which the psychiatrists call your "body image") includes the way you are dressed, the more vital it will be

Answer: Many neurotics feel that way — at least, unconsciously — says the British psychologist, J. C. Fluegel, quoted in the magazine, Why. To a woman of this type, perfect grooming implied physical perfection, while to be badly or shabbily dressed is like being ill. The more your mental picture of yourself to your self-esteem to be well-groomed, while extreme preoccupation with clothes may be a defense against doubt of your physical attractiveness. The "clothes horse" is generally an anxiety neurotic.



Can hypnosis change your "time sense"?

Answer: Yes, report Drs. Linn F. Cooper and Milton H. Erickson. In an experiment at Georgetown University Medical Center, six hypnotized subjects were directed to perform imaginary tasks and were asked on awaking to say how long they had worked. Their answers proved to depend entirely on how long it had been suggested to them that the tasks would take, showing that "time sense can be deliberately altered to a predetermined degree by hypnotic suggestion." Even when you are awake, your "time sense" largely depends on how much attention you are paying to what is going on around you.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21 (INS)—Annette Kellerman, former world swimming champion, was received like a queen when she walked on the Esther Williams set of "One Piece Bathing Suit" at MGM. Some of the people in the movie were with Annette on her vaudeville tour and they all adore her. This was quite a thrill for Annette, as is the picture which is her life story.

Esther Williams

Esther has herself a male cast of top stars, with such actors as Victor Mature, Walter Pidgeon, and now David Brian, who is being borrowed from Warners.

The Williams gal, who is on all lists of top ten stars, is being given a big production, with Arthur Hornblow as the producer.

I was impressed with Julia Adams in "Bend Of The River," a honey of a western. She is different, and there is a true sweetness about her personality.

I happen to know that this sweetness is also in her real life, for Julia and her bridegroom of a year agreed that she should go to Korea to spend Christmas entertaining the GIs. It was a great sacrifice because they are very happily married and it was their first Christmas together.

Inquiring about Julia I was told she has the lead in "Texas Man," starring Robert Ryan, who has been borrowed by Universal-International from RKO.

Sadao Nagata, who has a complete monopoly on entertainment in Japan—he's the czar of movie theaters, stage shows and the opera—wants some American stars to tour his dynasty plus appearing in Japanese hospitals.

The top three requests on his list may surprise you. He wants Margaret O'Brien (I've heard before that she is very popular in the Orient), then Laurel and Hardy and—Deanna Durbin whose pictures are still going strong there.

Nagata has asked Cowboy Star Kennie Duncan to be his agent here and help round up the talent.

The treatment of "Melba," based on the career of the famous Australian operatic singer, Dame Nellie Melba, has been finished by Walter Reisch. So eager is Sam Spiegel, the producer, that he and his attorney, I. H. Prinzmetal, flew to London Saturday with Reisch's script. They will close the deal with Melba's estate, for the film rights.

As I told you, Patrice Munsel has been optioned for the title role, and this, I should think, will be one of our important 1952 pictures.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frankie Darrow and Joyce Mills motored to Las Vegas to get married and then changed their minds. Mighty sensible, since Frankie's Los Angeles divorce is not yet final.

Ginger Rogers gets 30 changes of costume in "Dreamboat," all dreamed up by Charles Le Maire and all of them dreamy.

The actor who slipped into the makeup department and mixed up all the hair pieces of our balding leading men is known and he'd better confess. The little prank caused plenty of trouble. The hair pieces were neatly arranged by name, and were shifted around so that each actor would be sure to get the wrong top piece.

'Tis said that Roberto Rossellini is trying to get backing from Aga Khan to make a picture in Europe.

Preston Sturges, who directed and wrote "Miracle Of Morgan Creek," one of Betty Hutton's best pictures, will write the screenplay for "Look Ma, I'm Dancing" for Betty.

Tony Curtis, who paints one picture after another between scenes is just finishing the portrait of a monk he saw in a Paris cathedral.

Ida Lupino and Howard Duff have rented a house in the Hollywood hills which Ida is completely redecorating. Fortunately, they hadn't moved in when the rains came.

Zsa Zsa Gabor too kso many jools to MGM when she went for still photographs that the studio promptly took out a $50,000 insurance policy on the baubles. Did I say baubles?

Eleanor Parker, Cedarville, Ohio's leading citizen, gets a nice honor from her hometown. A plaque will be placed on the house where Eleanor was born. She also may be in line for another honor—the Oscar nomination for her work in "Detective Story."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Do people love you for "what you are"?

Answer: No, because they do not know this, and at bottom, neither do you. All that others know or really care about is how you behave toward them. If you feel there is something about you that makes you unworthy to be loved, don't think others will "sense" it unless you reveal it; and conversely, don't expect to be loved just for being a deserving person. Of course, you will show to others aspects of your character which you yourself are unaware of—everybody does that—but you will reveal them only by your words and actions, and if you can control these, what goes on in your mind is nobody's business but yours.

May you feel your clothes are part of you?

(which the psychiatrists call your "body image") includes the way you are dressed, the more vital it will be

Answer: Many neurotics feel that way — at least, unconsciously — says the British psychologist, J. C. Fluegel, quoted in the magazine, Why. To a woman of this type, perfect grooming implied physical perfection, while to be badly or shabbily dressed is like being ill. The more your mental picture of yourself to your self-esteem to be well-groomed, while extreme preoccupation with clothes may be a defense against doubt of your physical attractiveness. The "clothes horse" is generally an anxiety neurotic.

Can hypnosis change your "time sense"?

Answer: Yes, report Drs. Linn F. Cooper and Milton H. Erickson. In an experiment at Georgetown University Medical Center, six hypnotized subjects were directed to perform imaginary tasks and were asked on awaking to say how long they had worked. Their answers proved to depend entirely on how long it had been suggested to them that the tasks would take, showing that "time sense can be deliberately altered to a predetermined degree by hypnotic suggestion." Even when you are awake, your "time sense" largely depends on how much attention you are paying to what is going on around you.

Do you always listen attentively? Poor listeners lose in charm and pay heavy penalties for lapses!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It is said that the capacity to listen attentively is the final mark of the cultivated. Be that as it may, one thing is sure: Most people consider conversation one of the great pleasures in life and being a good listener is half of being a good conversationalist.

To have others consider you a good listener should be reward enough for lending your ear ungrudgingly and effectively. There are others, of course — increased understanding, popularity, charm, enjoyment, knowledge, not to mention the saving to you in time and trouble by getting times, places and directions straight. Poor listeners pay penalties in exact relation to their lapses and the ever-increasing boredom that inattention breeds is an important one.

Expanding Interest

Do you frequently find yourself bored by the conversation of others —in business, at school or socially? Check up on your powers of attention! Not all the talkers and tales you hear could be that dull!

You can expand your ability to take in the words of others. Look directly at the speaker; it will help keep your attention in focus whenever it tends to wander. Sublimate your own thoughts to those of the speaker; force stray thoughts from your mind. Both of these steps take conscious effort and sometimes are quite difficult. The more difficult they are the more determined you must be.

There are some bemused folk who think they can fake attention. They try to put up a show of listening by making a few gestures, leaning toward the speaker with an occasional nod of the head, by now and then murmuring, "Is that so," and "You don't say!" But it never works. If your mind is blank, thinking of something else, or saying "So what" silently, the expression of your eyes and face gives you away.

Interest Repaid

Remember this the next time you find yourself getting bored with someone's conversation and let it spur you into consciously turning your full attention to what is being said. You'll be astonished at the fresh slant you'll get on the value of the words. The speaker, appreciating your interest, will dig deeper for the kind of stuff that will hold your attention easily.

Then you'll turn into a two-person conversational team and be really charmed with each other.

every resident of Allegany County should know about the Red Cross Blood Donor Program

1. The American Red Cross is the sole collecting agency of blood for the armed forces. Red Cross has never failed to meet their quota for blood on the Korean front and three shipments weekly go to the battle zone.

2. The Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross is participating in the National Blood Program and is now the sole collecting agency of blood for the armed forces and civilian needs in Allegany County.

3. Blood collected by Red Cross will not be sold. The only charge is for administrative expenses made by the hospitals over which the Red Cross has no control.

4. Under this new program there will be free whole blood and blood derivatives for every person living in Allegany County. No longer will persons needing blood have to pay for it, nor secure blood donors to replace blood taken from hospital blood banks.

5. If a resident needs blood while visiting in another community or is sent to a hospital in a community that does not participate in a civilian blood program free blood will be available through an arrangement with their doctor and the Red Cross Chapter Office — Post Office Building, Cumberland, Md. The only cost will be necessary charges of the hospital and doctor for administration over which the Red Cross has no control.

6. This program will become effective seventy-two hours after the visit of the Blood Mobile Unit to Cumberland.

7. All expenses entailed by participation of the County in the Blood Program will be met from the Red Cross Chapter funds.

8. This is to be a continuing program and Red Cross will have a Mobile Blood Unit two days each month, operating at the Eagles Lodge Room, 65 North Mechanic Street, from 12:00 noon until 6:00 P. M., beginning Monday, January 21, and Tuesday, January 22. The next scheduled dates are Monday, February 25, and Tuesday, February 26, and each month thereafter on dates to be announced.

9. The Allegany County Red Cross Chapter urges every resident to support the National Blood Program to furnish blood to the armed forces and to enable the people of the County to receive through the local hospitals whole blood and blood derivatives, without cost except for hospital laboratory charges. Even more important than the fact that the blood itself is free, is the satisfaction of knowing that there will always be blood obtainable without the usual frantic search for donors to save a life.

Do you always listen attentively? Poor listeners lose in charm and pay heavy penalties for lapses!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It is said that the capacity to listen attentively is the final mark of the cultivated. Be that as it may, one thing is sure: Most people consider conversation one of the great pleasures in life and being a good listener is half of being a good conversationalist.

To have others consider you a good listener should be reward enough for lending your ear ungrudgingly and effectively. There are others, of course — increased understanding, popularity, charm, enjoyment, knowledge, not to mention the saving to you in time and trouble by getting times, places and directions straight. Poor listeners pay penalties in exact relation to their lapses and the ever-increasing boredom that inattention breeds is an important one.

Expanding Interest

Do you frequently find yourself bored by the conversation of others —in business, at school or socially? Check up on your powers of attention! Not all the talkers and tales you hear could be that dull!

You can expand your ability to take in the words of others. Look directly at the speaker; it will help keep your attention in focus whenever it tends to wander. Sublimate your own thoughts to those of the speaker; force stray thoughts from your mind. Both of these steps take conscious effort and sometimes are quite difficult. The more difficult they are the more determined you must be.

There are some bemused folk who think they can fake attention. They try to put up a show of listening by making a few gestures, leaning toward the speaker with an occasional nod of the head, by now and then murmuring, "Is that so," and "You don't say!" But it never works. If your mind is blank, thinking of something else, or saying "So what" silently, the expression of your eyes and face gives you away.

Interest Repaid

Remember this the next time you find yourself getting bored with someone's conversation and let it spur you into consciously turning your full attention to what is being said. You'll be astonished at the fresh slant you'll get on the value of the words. The speaker, appreciating your interest, will dig deeper for the kind of stuff that will hold your attention easily.

Then you'll turn into a two-person conversational team and be really charmed with each other.

Keyser Citizens Will Protest Crossing Block

Will Attend Next Council Meeting

KEYSER, W. Va.—Aroused North End citizens will attend the next meeting of the Mayor and City Council on Tuesday, February 5, to lodge an emphatic protest to the constant blocking by Baltimore and Ohio Railroad trains of both the main and East Street crossings.

Miss Madalyn Bazzle, justice of the peace, who also teaches at Limestone, said last night she was held up at the crossing for 45 minutes yesterday on her way home.

Three times last week she was late getting to her classroom because the crossing was blocked.

She stressed that on each occasion the engine was stopped on the crossing, so that with a backward movement of only a few feet the crossing would have been cleared of its barricade.

If no action results from the meeting February 5, Miss Bazzle said that the citizens of the North End will hold a mass meeting and decide on some definite further action.

The North End section of Keyser is the only exclusively residential area of this Mineral County seat. Affected by the blocked crossings have been some 238 families, representing well over 10 per cent of the community's population.

Residents of that section have been delayed in getting to Sunday School and church by the blocked crossings.

Several weeks ago C. T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said that arrangements would be made to keep the crossings open between 7 and 9 a. m. when North Enders are on their way to work.

However, the blocking during these rush hours has continued.

Keyser Audience Hears Concert

KEYSER, W. Va.—A talented trio appeared before an appreciative Keyser audience in the second of the Community Concert series.

The Columbia Concert Trio is composed of Richard Gregor, a pianist whose technique belied his youthful appearance; Miss Mary Becker, violinist, who kept her audience enthralled, and Miss Ardyth Alton, cellist, whose playing was rich in volume and tone.

The trio played numbers that included music by Handel-Halvorsen, Beethoven, Gaspar Cassado, Chopin-Milstein, Sarasate, Mendelssohn, Frescobaldi, Sergei Rachmaninoff, and "Ballads of the Open Road," arranged by Dorothy Cadzow.

Each member gave one encore at the close of the program with Miss Becker playing, "Londonderry Air"; Miss Alton, "Jamaican Rumba"; and Gregor, Strauss' waltzes.

The trio is in its fifth year before the public and is playing an extensive coast-to-coast tour this season.

New Planning Group Named For Keyser

Mayor Compton Selects Members

KEYSER, W. Va.—Mayor Chester J. Compton has announced appointment of a new planning commission.

The mayor earlier promised the commission would be an integral part of his government as soon as possible after his election in July. Since then there have been so many matters occupying his working time that he has been unable to launch the new plan, but says he hopes to have the commission functioning in the very near future.

The purpose of the commission is for local men to act in an advisory capacity with the city government on important matters. The appointments are for one year for each member. Their work will be to assist in financial matters, consider the corporate limits of the city, a matter that has come before the Mayor and Council on several occasions, improvements in streets and public properties, and long-range planning of community activities and improvements generally.

The new commission will not have any power over any previously accepted bodies now functioning. It will be made up of the following citizens, who are named together with the business interests or occupations: Charles E. Miller, machinist; William E. Michael, college instructor; Richard E. Romig, pharmacist; John W. Barger, newspaper editor; C. Arnold Ludwick, Sr., automobile dealer; J. Paul Blundon, consulting engineer, and Ernest A. See, judge of the Mineral County Circuit Court.

Lonaconing Chief Gets Suspension

LONACONING—Chief of Police Stanley Davis began serving a 30-day suspension last week after being charged with "holding out" on city officials.

According to Mayor Virgil Alexander, Davis admitted tampering with a time clock recently installed for municipal employes, having a key to the clock in his possession.

Keyser Citizens Will Protest Crossing Block

Will Attend Next Council Meeting

KEYSER, W. Va.—Aroused North End citizens will attend the next meeting of the Mayor and City Council on Tuesday, February 5, to lodge an emphatic protest to the constant blocking by Baltimore and Ohio Railroad trains of both the main and East Street crossings.

Miss Madalyn Bazzle, justice of the peace, who also teaches at Limestone, said last night she was held up at the crossing for 45 minutes yesterday on her way home.

Three times last week she was late getting to her classroom because the crossing was blocked.

She stressed that on each occasion the engine was stopped on the crossing, so that with a backward movement of only a few feet the crossing would have been cleared of its barricade.

If no action results from the meeting February 5, Miss Bazzle said that the citizens of the North End will hold a mass meeting and decide on some definite further action.

The North End section of Keyser is the only exclusively residential area of this Mineral County seat. Affected by the blocked crossings have been some 238 families, representing well over 10 per cent of the community's population.

Residents of that section have been delayed in getting to Sunday School and church by the blocked crossings.

Several weeks ago C. T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said that arrangements would be made to keep the crossings open between 7 and 9 a. m. when North Enders are on their way to work.

However, the blocking during these rush hours has continued.

Lonaconing Chief Gets Suspension

LONACONING—Chief of Police Stanley Davis began serving a 30-day suspension last week after being charged with "holding out" on city officials.

According to Mayor Virgil Alexander, Davis admitted tampering with a time clock recently installed for municipal employes, having a key to the clock in his possession.

At the last meeting of the Lonaconing Mayor and Council, Alexander preferred charges and Police Commissioner William H. Berry recommended the 30-day suspension. The order was passed by a 3-0 vote. Two members of the council refused to vote and a sixth was ill at the time of the meeting.

Mayor Alexander said the officer is required to punch the clock on the hour at the Lonaconing City Hall as a means of increasing the efficiency of the department. With this system, residents know that an officer is available at the City Hall every hour in case he is needed.

Chief Davis began his suspension on Tuesday.

Will Attend Next Council Meeting

KEYSER, W. Va.—Aroused North End citizens will attend the next meeting of the Mayor and City Council on Tuesday, February 5, to lodge an emphatic protest to the constant blocking by Baltimore and Ohio Railroad trains of both the main and East Street crossings.

Miss Madalyn Bazzle, justice of the peace, who also teaches at Limestone, said last night she was held up at the crossing for 45 minutes yesterday on her way home.

Three times last week she was late getting to her classroom because the crossing was blocked.

She stressed that on each occasion the engine was stopped on the crossing, so that with a backward movement of only a few feet the crossing would have been cleared of its barricade.

If no action results from the meeting February 5, Miss Bazzle said that the citizens of the North End will hold a mass meeting and decide on some definite further action.

The North End section of Keyser is the only exclusively residential area of this Mineral County seat. Affected by the blocked crossings have been some 238 families, representing well over 10 per cent of the community's population.

Residents of that section have been delayed in getting to Sunday School and church by the blocked crossings.

Several weeks ago C. T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said that arrangements would be made to keep the crossings open between 7 and 9 a. m. when North Enders are on their way to work.

However, the blocking during these rush hours has continued.

Lonaconing Chief Gets Suspension

LONACONING—Chief of Police Stanley Davis began serving a 30-day suspension last week after being charged with "holding out" on city officials.

According to Mayor Virgil Alexander, Davis admitted tampering with a time clock recently installed for municipal employes, having a key to the clock in his possession.

At the last meeting of the Lonaconing Mayor and Council, Alexander preferred charges and Police Commissioner William H. Berry recommended the 30-day suspension. The order was passed by a 3-0 vote. Two members of the council refused to vote and a sixth was ill at the time of the meeting.

Mayor Alexander said the officer is required to punch the clock on the hour at the Lonaconing City Hall as a means of increasing the efficiency of the department. With this system, residents know that an officer is available at the City Hall every hour in case he is needed.

DO YOU CREDIT LUCK?

HOW many people do you know who credit their luck when it is the factor that has caused them to make or defeat some contract? Are you that way yourself? We are not referring to those occasions when a brilliant conception has enabled the declarer or a defender to accomplish what he attempted, because the unseen cards happened to be located as he hoped. We are considering only those cut-and-dried situations like that in which possession of a doubleton in one side suit and a trebleton in another decided the issue, whereas if those two holdings had been transposed the result would have been reversed.

Upon scoring the diamond K and seeing the dummy's singleton, West shifted to the club 2, whereupon the three swift tricks in that suit put South down one.

What would you comment if you had been South? Or West? Or East?

In this case the first to speak was West, who realized that, if South had held three diamonds and two clubs, no power other than a revoke could have beaten his contract. West acknowledged that good fortune of his own side openly, and consoled South with "tough luck, old top."

After being thanked by an appreciative South, West poured still more hot oil on the situation by pointing out that his own side could not have made either 4 Clubs or 4-Diamonds if South or North had seen fit to retire from their own bidding and resort to a pass or double. Two tricks in each major would have been scored by North and South to beat either of those contracts. West explained his own double by saying he felt the 4-Spades could be defeated and was fearful about a minor contract of five for his own side, and he considered that the double might keep East from bidding the game in one minor or the other.

In this case the first to speak was West, who realized that, if South had held three diamonds and two clubs, no power other than a revoke could have beaten his contract. West acknowledged that good fortune of his own side openly, and consoled South with "tough luck, old top."

After being thanked by an appreciative South, West poured still more hot oil on the situation by pointing out that his own side could not have made either 4 Clubs or 4-Diamonds if South or North had seen fit to retire from their own bidding and resort to a pass or double. Two tricks in each major would have been scored by North and South to beat either of those contracts. West explained his own double by saying he felt the 4-Spades could be defeated and was fearful about a minor contract of five for his own side, and he considered that the double might keep East from bidding the game in one minor or the other.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

S Z S B V F K Y L R Q L K S A P Y W F — W S S K F.

DO YOU CREDIT LUCK?

HOW many people do you know who credit their luck when it is the factor that has caused them to make or defeat some contract? Are you that way yourself? We are not referring to those occasions when a brilliant conception has enabled the declarer or a defender to accomplish what he attempted, because the unseen cards happened to be located as he hoped. We are considering only those cut-and-dried situations like that in which possession of a doubleton in one side suit and a trebleton in another decided the issue, whereas if those two holdings had been transposed the result would have been reversed.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and sympathetic during our sad bereavement at the death of our son, Arthur "Mickey" William Wolf. We especially want to thank John Kesler and Edward Shank, Rev. Father Hopkins, the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Co., the State Police and the Boy Scouts. We are grateful for the floral tributes, Mass cards, for the use of the cars for the funeral and for other kind expressions of sympathy.

Card Of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and sympathetic during our sad bereavement at the death of our son, Arthur "Mickey" William Wolf. We especially want to thank John Kesler and Edward Shank, Rev. Father Hopkins, the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Co., the State Police and the Boy Scouts. We are grateful for the floral tributes, Mass cards, for the use of the cars for the funeral and for other kind expressions of sympathy.
FATHER, MOTHER, BROTHERS and SISTERS

We want to extend our deep appreciation to our friends and neighbors during the recent illness and death of our beloved Mother, Rose H. Jones. We especially thank those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

Fourteen selectees of Cumberland draft boards left yesterday for Baltimore and induction into the armed forces.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator, listed the draftees as:

Board No. 28 — Joseph Arnold Bennett, 1618 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, formerly of 428 Walnut Street; Vernon Lee Beale, Jr., 428 Beall Street; Louis Wilson Caldwell, 7 South Waverly Terrace; John Francis Billing, 2716 Louise Avenue, Baltimore, formerly of 419 Columbia Avenue; George Harry Harris, 483 Eastern Avenue, and Richard Pearson Henry, 9 South Waverly Terrace.

Board No. 29 — Richard Dale Moyer, 624 North Centre Street; John Robert Jones, Route 3, Bedford Road; Frederick Charles Dusch, 304 Meyers Avenue, Meyersdale, Pa., formerly of 213 Water Street; Charles W. Myers, 329 South 12th Avenue, Hopewell, Va., formerly of Ellerslie; James W. Stevenson, Jr., 824 Greene Street; Norman Edward Sell, 305 Mt. View Drive, and Earl Kenneth Kline, Corriganville.

Twenty registrants of Board No. 29 and two from Board No. 28 accompanied the contingent for preinduction physical examinations.

Merry-Go-Round

I argued, "is the penalty suffered by those who get behind in their taxes. Now, once a taxpayer gets behind and is subjected to this publicity, why should not the final compromise he makes with the secretary of the Treasury also be a matter of public record? Why should the Treasury lean over backward to protect the final adjustment of a delinquent taxpayer? How is the public to know that some politician hasn't reached into the Treasury and scaled down the final payments of Messrs. Carollo and Marcello?"

Mr. Cross reached into his desk and pulled out a copy of a Treasury Department order marked "Disclosure of Informa n."

"Under the law passed by Congress, we can't do it," he said, and handed me a copy.

That's why Congress should do one of two things: 1) Change the law so as to permit public inspection of tax returns and tax adjustments; or 2) keep a vigilant committee similar to the King Committee constantly in session as a watchdog over tax-finagling inside the Treasury.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUCS" BAER

It can never be a bad year when men like Carlsen start it off looking gale-engined eternity in the lidless eyes.

You don't have to ask if he won or if he lost. There's a man who didn't keep score.

England flipped its national lid over an American sea-captain. He's the greatest guy they've seen since John Paul Jones.

We hope he didn't forget his toothbrush. There's a guy who would go back for it.

We have two peace conferences going with the Russians. And getting nowhere on a round trip ticket.

No place is better tagged than Pan Mun Jom. That's upper Korean for "you tell 'em, I'll hold the crowd back."

The Big Three in Paris promised Pussia full study of the atom bomb plan. They're as generous as an old lady emptying ash trays out the window.

Here's the way the Russians figure on the burglarized atomic blueprints. If there is anything we know that they don't know — then neither do we.

I argued, "is the penalty suffered by those who get behind in their taxes. Now, once a taxpayer gets behind and is subjected to this publicity, why should not the final compromise he makes with the secretary of the Treasury also be a matter of public record? Why should the Treasury lean over backward to protect the final adjustment of a delinquent taxpayer? How is the public to know that some politician hasn't reached into the Treasury and scaled down the final payments of Messrs. Carollo and Marcello?"

Mr. Cross reached into his desk and pulled out a copy of a Treasury Department order marked "Disclosure of Informa n."

"Under the law passed by Congress, we can't do it," he said, and handed me a copy.

That's why Congress should do one of two things: 1) Change the law so as to permit public inspection of tax returns and tax adjustments; or 2) keep a vigilant committee similar to the King Committee constantly in session as a watchdog over tax-finagling inside the Treasury.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

It can never be a bad year when men like Carlsen start it off looking gale-engined eternity in the lidless eyes.

You don't have to ask if he won or if he lost. There's a man who didn't keep score.

England flipped its national lid over an American sea-captain. He's the greatest guy they've seen since John Paul Jones .

We hope he didn't forget his toothbrush. There's a guy who would go back for it.

We have two peace conferences going with the Russians. And getting nowhere on a round trip ticket.

No place is better tagged than Pan Mun Jom. That's upper Korean for "you tell 'em, I'll hold the crowd back."

The Big Three in Paris promised Pussia full study of the atom bomb plan. They're as generous as an old lady emptying ash trays out the window.

Here's the way the Russians figure on the burglarized atomic blueprints. If there is anything we know that they don't know — then neither do we.

I argued, "is the penalty suffered by those who get behind in their taxes. Now, once a taxpayer gets behind and is subjected to this publicity, why should not the final compromise he makes with the secretary of the Treasury also be a matter of public record? Why should the Treasury lean over backward to protect the final adjustment of a delinquent taxpayer? How is the public to know that some politician hasn't reached into the Treasury and scaled down the final payments of Messrs. Carollo and Marcello?"

Mr. Cross reached into his desk and pulled out a copy of a Treasury Department order marked "Disclosure of Informa n."

"Under the law passed by Congress, we can't do it," he said, and handed me a copy.

That's why Congress should do one of two things: 1) Change the law so as to permit public inspection of tax returns and tax adjustments; or 2) keep a vigilant committee similar to the King Committee constantly in session as a watchdog over tax-finagling inside the Treasury.

City Will Join Drive To Keep Dyehouse Here

Union Will Meet With County Today

The Mayor and Council yesterday joined in the campaign underway here to halt the closing of the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant.

Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday told a delegation from Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), that the city's first step will be to inform the Celanese Corporation of America that "the city will oppose the closing of the dyehouse."

The joint meeting was held in Mayor Post's office yesterday after the union solicited the city's support in its campaign to halt the closing of the unit.

Meeting Set Today

A Local 1874 delegation will meet with the Board of County Commissioners today at 2 p. m. to solicit county aid in the campaign.

The company announced recently that it would close the dyehouse sometime in the spring and said approximately 400 employes would be affected.

But the union claims the number will be closer to 500.

In a statement issued last week Aldridge urged the company to use what he estimated as a $500,000 severance allowance fund as an investment to modernize the dyeing and finishing plant and keep it running. The company in its announcement said the severance allowance would be approximately $400,000.

After yesterday's meeting Aldridge said: "The union appreciates the interest shown by the Mayor and Council members.

Will Seek Support

"In addition, we are planning appearances before other civic groups to enlist their support in all out efforts to save the dyehouse operations for Amcelle.

"The union will be glad to provide detailed information to any groups or individuals who wish to join us in these efforts," Aldridge concluded.

Local Guard Recruit Drive Intensified

CD's Need Men For Various Fields

Requests of youths seeking enlistment in the local National Guard companies have indicated a number of misunderstandings concerning a recruiting drive being carried on by the organization.

First Lt. John R. Jackle, commanding officer of C Company, said many men between the ages of 17 and 21 have the misconception they do not need their parents' consent to enlist in the Guard.

Lt. Jackle explained that men between the ages of 17 and 18½ years must have parental consent to enlist. He pointed out that they must fill out a consent agreement which must be notarized.

Although enlistees are not guaranteed an indefinite deferment, they are classified 1-D by their local draft board, Lt. Jackle said.

He stated a recruit may be deferred under three conditions:

He may be deferred for one year from the date of his induction in the Guard, or he may be deferred for the balance of his enlistment, or he may be deferred until he reaches the age of 26 years.

However, Lt. Jackle noted, an enlistee may be classified only for the one condition of the three which gives him the shortest deferment.

Once a guardsman, the enlistee, in order to keep his 1-D classification must not miss 10 per cent of his drill classes during a year, and must attend summer encampment, Lt. Jackle said.

According to Lt. Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., public information officer, the two local companies are still in need of men. Lt. Conlon said Headquarters Company has openings for men with radio aptitude or who have had experience in the field.

Company C also needs men, he said. The company has openings in the three rifle platoons, the weapons platoon and for men to handle the light machine gun. Lt. Conlon pointed out that men are wanted who can fire the .22 calibre rifle and are eligible for the company's rifle team.

Last week, Daryl A. Manges, 312 Baltimore Avenue, was recommended and enlisted into Company C by Sgt. James A. Stemple, the unit's public information noncommissioned officer.

Post Playground Association To Meet

The Thomas Post Playground Association will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the home of Fred Soulsby, 1017 Virginia Avenue.

The program for the coming year is to be discussed, after which refreshments will be served.

Registration Deadline Is February 13

Rush Is Expected As Election Nears

Only 17 registration days remain before election books will be closed for the coming city elections.

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, reported yesterday that the deadline for registering for the city primary and general election will be February 13.

After that the books will be closed until March 26, one week after the general election.

There was a slight increase in the rate of registration yesterday, but not enough to get excited about.

237 Register Here

New registrations, which have been running at the rate of three or four a day, jumped to 14 yesterday for a total of 237 since Cumberland's new continuous registration system was placed in operation in September.

The City Registration Headquarters, located in the basement of City Hall, is expecting a registration rush to develop soon.

In 1950, when there were only two registration days, some 3,000 persons registered in this city. Under the previous election laws, the third and fourth Mondays in Febraury were set aside for registration.

The continuous registration law requires that books be closed 20 days before the primary election so they can be prepared for election officials, and another seven days after the general election for any necessary processing.

Names Are Dropped

Eligible voters may register from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday through Friday.

Many of the citizens who have registered recently are 21-year-olds, who will be voting for the first time in the March 4 primary.

When the City Registration staff completed its check of the city election books several months ago, it was necessary to remove the names of 6,791 persons who had not voted for five years.

The revision left 14,572 on the books from the 21,516 citizens who were registered in the 1950 elections.

In the meanwhile, 237 other names of known dead, which exceeded 150 some time ago, were dropped from the records.

Police Seek Missing Woman

Police are looking for a 52-year-old mother who has been missing from her Baltimore Aenue home since last Tuesday.

Sponaugle, who offered a $20 reward for information leading to discovery of his wife's whereabouts, said she apparently left home, taking with her a handbag and a few pieces of clothing.

He also said he and his wife, married since 1919, had no quarrels. They have 10 living children, four of whom are residing at home and range in age from 11 to 17.

The missing woman has graying dark brown hair, blue eyes, is five feet, three inches tall, weighs 135 pounds and has upper dentures and a partial lower denture. She injured her right index finger with lye some time ago.

Sponaugle requested that anyone who knows her whereabouts contact him or notify Juvenile Court, the Sheriff's Office or police.

Jenkins Released From County Jail

John E. Jenkins, who had been confined in the County Jail since last October 15, was released last Saturday night upon payment of his $1,000 fine, according to the sheriff's office.

Jenkins drew a 90-day jail sentence besides the fine when he pleaded guilty to horse race betting at The Scoreboard, 20 North Mechanic Street.

He was one of three men who drew similar sentences for operations at The Scoreboard. The 90 days expired January 12. Robert Shrout, one of the three, paid his fine and was discharged that day. Jenkins was the second to gain his freedom. Still in jail is the third defendant, Richard Fox.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 20 YEARS AGO—Shown above is a group of Girl Scouts and leaders in Emmanuel Episcopal Church House at Christmas time in 1932 as they remodeled and repaired dolls as gifts to needy children. This picture was taken one year after the Girl Scouts joined the local Community Chest which will observe its 25th anniversary, January 25. Pictured (left to right) are Mrs. George W. Legge, wife of a former mayor. She is now dietician at Fort Hill High School; Miss Helen Boughton, former teacher in Allegany County schools; Miss Theckla Price, now a member of the Ursuline Order; Miss Emily Lapp, former teacher in the county and sister of Miss Irene Lapp, head of the commercial department of Allegany High School; Miss Dorothy Witherup, now Mrs. William D. Claus; an unidentified Girl Scout; Miss Vivian Wright, former resident of Beall Street; Mrs. Caroline Whittaker, a volunteer scout leader, now secretary in the Girl Scout office; and Mrs. J. Henry Holzshu, troop leader who is still active in scouting in charge of a Brownie troop at Mt. Royal School.

Community Chest Recounts History Of Girl Scouts Here

The first Girl Scout troop to be formed in Cumberland was organized in 1917 from a group of girls formed as the Junior Civic League and sponsored by the Cumberland Civic Club headed by Miss Elizabeth Lowndes.

Today the Cumberland Girl Scouts are a member agency of the Cumberland Community Chest which will observes its 25th anniversary this week

One year after the Girl Scouts organized, Mrs. Orville L. Shirey became the first captain in Cumberland to receive a commission from National Headquarters.

Meet In City Hall

The first troop was made up of 16 girls and met in the City Hall and later in the Schwarzenbach Building. An officer of Company G, Maryland National Guard, instructed them in military drill. Emphasis was placed on Red Cross work as the United States became involved in World War I.

After the war, the Girl Scouts struggled for existence and when finally they could not find a suitable meeting place, the troop disbanded. The $110 that was in the treasury at that time was given to the YMCA to furnish a room in its new building.

Interest in Girl Scouting died until 1927 when Cora Virginia Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl C. Perry, organized a troop at St. Mark's Church with Miss Emily Lapp as captain. In February of 1928, the first girls registered with the national organization and the new troop grew to a membership of two leaders, three troop committee members and 18 girls.

Six Dogs Shot By Ridgeley Police Chief

Animals Were Found Frothing At Mouth

Six dogs were killed in Ridgeley, W. Va., last week by Chief of Police H. L. Henry who reported to town officials that the animals were running at large and frothing at their mouths.

Chief Henry said he could not determine definitely if the dogs had been poisoned or were mad. In a couple of instances, the dogs, in bad condition, attempted to attack him, so were immediately shot and killed.

There has been a wave of dogs running at large in the neighboring West Virginia community, and town officials issue a warning to dog owners to keep their pets tied or impounded.

Chief Henry has been instructed to destroy all stray dogs found frothing at the mouth and to pick up habitual strays if necessary.

Chief Henry also reported to town officials that the recent holiday season in the community was free of traffic and other accidents and there were no fires or other mishaps. Only two arrests were made during the holiday period, both for drunkness and neither of these involved Ridgeley or Cumberland citizens.

Officials expressed the view that the Christmas and New Year holiday period was the most peaceable and law abiding ts well as the most accident-free holiday time in recent years.

Union May Form Carlsen Brigade

The TWUA may seek volunteers for a Carlsen Brigade which may be formed here to preserve the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant.

James Blackwell, Atlanta, Ga., TWUA publicity director, said the corps will follow the example of Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who refused to leave the Flying Enterprise until it sank under him.

Sent here by Emil Rieve, TWUA president, to assist Local 1874, TWUA (CIO), in its fight to keep the dyehouse, Blackwell said:

"It is not our intention to accept the belief that we are on a sinking ship."

Duck Busters To Hold Dinner

The 29th annual dinner of the Cumberland Duck Busters Club has been scheduled for 6:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Ali Ghan Country Club, according to Somerville Nicholson, treasurer.

This year's toastmaster for the occasion will be William A. Gunter.

The Duck Busters Club is composed of prominent business and professional men in the Tri State area who gather each year to enjoy ducks bagged by the members.

This year, the ducks for the dinner will be provided by Dr. A. H. Hawkins, this city, and Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton, who captured the fowl during their annual hunt in Arkansas.

Attending the dinner will be guests and members from Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. A number of guests have also been invited from Arkansas.

Passengers Say Keister's Car Weaved On Road

Defense Will Be Heard Today

Two young women who were passengers in the automobile driven by Gene Gilbert Keister, 24-year-old Cresaptown man, when he struck and fatally injured a 52-year old pedestrian on Oldtown Road Christmas evening, testified in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon that the car was weaving at times and left the road at least once on the return trip from Paw Paw, W. Va.

After presenting testimony by 12 witnesses yesterday afternoon, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher rested his case about 4:30 p. m. Keister is charged with manslaughter in the death of James Richard "Dude" Long, 52, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker who lived at 620 Montreal Avenue at the time of his death. Keister entered a plea of not guilty.

Resumes Today

Associate Judge George Henderson, who is hearing the case in the absence of a jury, recessed the trial until 9:15 o'clock this morning. Keister's attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., said that they would present three or four defense witnesses.

The women witnesses were Mrs. Peggy Jean Ramsey, 22, 505 Decatur Street, and Mrs. Catherine May Bonner, 18, who lives in Cresaptown.

Several Drinks

Both testified that on the trip from Cresaptown to Paw Paw Christmas afternoon, Keister and another passenger, Bruce E. Twigg, Jr., 28, Cresaptown, each had two or three drinks of whiskey. The girls related that they had Christmas dinner at Mrs. Ramsey's mother's home in Paw Paw and then met the two young men about 5 o'clock for the return to Cumberland.

They said that in the meantime the men had obtained another pint or half pint bottle of whiskey and each had one more drink on the way back. Each of the four had a bottle of beer during a brief stop at Rosie's Tavern on Oldtown Road.

Did Not See

The young women and Twigg all testified that they did not see Long until he loomed directly in front of the car as Keister was passing another automobile. They said that the driver hesitated briefly but did not stop until the car developed mechanical trouble on Maryland Avenue. They said they did not urge Keister to stop because they were "scared."

Keister was arrested by State Trooper John F. Browning, who

City Will Plan Civil Defense Warning System

Council Approves CD Appropriation

Plans for a Civil Defense warning system for this city will get under way late this week.

Arthur B. Gibson, city CD director, said yesterday he will confer with William G. Barger, Allegany County Civil Defense director, to expedite plans for a city warning system.

The Mayor and Council yesterday agreed to provide $656.25 as Cumberland's share in the $875 needed to set up a county warning system.

Gibson said a number of decisions, including the type of sirens and their locations, must be decided before the system is installed.

During World War II, the city installed five horse power sirens on top of City Hall and in South End and six smaller sirens throughout the city.

In spite of the coverage, Gibson said, results were not altogether satisfactory in World War II tryouts, chiefly due to the topography of the city.

More powerful equipment placed on higher location, he said, will be used in an attempt to improve efficiency of the warning system.

Equipment will be adopted from lists approved by state CD authorities, since the state will share in the cost.

The Mayor and Council approved payment of $2,012.54 to the Cumberland Contracting Company as a fifth estimate for the paving of Valley Street under the flood control program.

The council authorized Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, to advertise for bids to re-equip the men's public rest rooms in City Hall.

An application by Clinton G. Brotemarkle, 208 Laing Avenue, to operate a taxi stand in the vicinity of the Court House was referred to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn. Flynn told the council he recalled a controversy before his tenure as chief during which the council limited the number of cab stands at the Court House to the one which is in operation. He suggested that a check be made of records before action is taken on the application.

Harry D. Smith and Clifton J. Cook, having completed probationary periods, were confirmed as regular members of the Fire Department.

Civil Service Report

The Civil Service Commission in a report on its activities for the year said it had conducted four examinations and listed city personnel as follows: Airport, 3; engineering 9; finance, 15; fire, 53; health, 13; park (Constitution), 5; parks and playgrounds, 2; police, 53; street, 61, and water, 53.

It said 18 promotions were granted during the year, five suspended, nine resignations received and six pensioned.

A check for $1.82 was ordered paid Charles A. Shipe, Washington, D. C., for overpayment of taxes on a Frederick Street lot.

Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was 90,310,000 gallons as compared to 88,660,000 in the same period a year ago. The daily average was 12,901,000 gallons. The water level at Lake Gordon is three feet, seven inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon six feet below the crest.

Pickens Is Named To Housing Board

EDGAR REYNOLDS

Reynolds Will Seek Seventh Council Term

Former Street Head Seeks Seventh Term

Edgar (Buck) Reynolds, 615 Louisiana Avenue, businessman and former commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday he is a candidate for City Council in the March municipal elections.

Reynolds will be seeking his seventh elective term to public office. He was first elected to council in 1934 and served five consecutive terms. He was elected to his sixth term in 1948 but was unsuccessful in his bid in 1950.

Expressing confidence in the economic future of Cumberland, Reynolds said he will support a "far-seeing program aimed at not only attracting new industry but attempting to maintain industrial facilities already here."

"Cooperate with industry," Reynolds said, "and industry will cooperate with us."

Four Main Planks

The former commissioner listed four main planks in his platform as follows:

"1. A cooperative program between the city and interested agencies to attract new industry and maintain those already here.

"2. Streets must be widened by reducing the width of sidewalks. As long as 12 years ago I advocated this move and during my last term in office, Baltimore Avenue was improved and a traffic hazard removed.

"3. No streets should be closed without some assurance that future benefits can be derived for the city as a whole.

"4. The traffic pattern should be thoroughly investigated to determine what revisions are needed."

Reynolds said in his previous administration he had attempted to complete urgent street projects and will continue those efforts if elected.

Seventh To File

Reynolds is the seventh candidate to file for City Council. Others are former water commissioner, William J. Edwards; former police commissioner, William V. Keegan; former fire chief, Jeremiah T. Defibaugh; Police Commissioner John J. Long, J. Walter Byer and Attorney Edwin M. Horchler.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz has officially filed for Mayor. The incumbent, Mayor Thomas S. Post, will not be a candidate for re-election.

Deadline for filing for the March 4 primary is midnight February 22.

Blood Program First Day Is Huge Success

Over 100 Contribute At Mobile Unit

More than 100 donors contributed blood to the Allegany County Blood Bank Program yesterday at the first visit of the mobile unit from Johnstown, Pa.

Red Cross officials here said the operation was carried on successfully under the supervision of Dr. D. P. Ray, medical director of the mobile unit.

Among the first to donate blood was John A. Moberley, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, one of those who suggested that a blood

The high temperature yesterday according to the weather station at Constition Park was 39 degrees, the low was 32, and at 8 p. m., thermometers stopped at 32 degrees. Burkett Gets Life Sentence In Wife's Death

Other Penalties Added To Term

A life sentence yesterday afternoon was meted out to Clarence Edward Burkett, 32-year old Ellerslie man, by Judge J. Calvin Wright, who found the man guilty of first-degree murder in Bedford County (Pa). Court of Oyer and Terminer.

Burkett, who formerly worked at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here, was convicted in the fatal shooting of his estranged wife, Mrs. Myra Grace Burkett, 23, at the home of her parents near Hyndman, Pa., last September 12.

Two Other Terms

Besides the life sentence, Judge Wright also imposed two other lesser sentences which he said were to run consecutively. Burkett received an indeterminate term running from three-and-one-half-to seven years on a charge of assaulting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Deremer Shaffer, with intent to kill her. On a third charge of carrying a gun without a permit, Burkett got another year.

District Attorney Charles Koontz, who presented his final arguments in the case before Judge Wright passed sentence, said that the effect of the additional sentences beside the life term will be to prevent the paroling of Burkett after he has served part of his sentence. The district attorney was assisted during the trial the week of December 17 by his brother, Paul A. Koontz.

Before Judge Wright determined the degree of Burkett's guilt, one of Burkett's court-appointed attorneys, William McIntyre, presented closing argument. Burkett's other attorney, Richard C. Snyder argued for leniency before the judge passed sentence.

Mrs. Shaffer testified that Burkett shot her twice while she was wrestling with him before he shot his wife.

Burkett had pleaded guilty to murder before his trial began. Judge Wright expressed a desire to hear the evidence before determining his degree of murder guilt.

The convicted man soon will be transported to Western State Penitentiary at Pittsburgh to begin serving his sentence.

Campbell Gets Suspended Term In Liquor Case

Other Criminal Trials Heard

Raymond Campbell, who pleaded guilty to a charge of sale and possession of alcoholic beverages, drew a one-year suspended sentence yesterday from Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The judge stipulated that the suspension would remain in effect as long as Campbell keeps the peace, is of good behavior and stays away from places that sell liquor. Campbell was booked after a raid November 10 at the Boulevard Hotel, 725 Kelly Boulevard, where he was employed.

Reimbursement Ordered

Nellie Albright, who pleaded guilty to obtaining $42.50 illegally from the Allegany County Welfare Board through false pretenses, was fined $25 and $9.15 court costs on her guilty plea. She also received a one-month sentence in the County Jail, which was suspended provided the board is reimbursed at a rate of $10 per month.

Judge Henderson took under advisement the case against Mrs. Evelyn L. Wilson, 44, of the George's Creek area who pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting her 78-year old husband to obtain $130 in Old Age Assistance and Aid To Dependent Children illegally.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher told Judge Henderson that the woman's offense was that she failed to inform the Welfare Board of $6 a week she obtained over a five-month period by working several days a week in the rectory of St. Michael's Catholic Church in Frostburg.

Under board regulations, any earning above $1 per month are to be reported to the board and deducted from assistance payments. The Wilson family, including three teen-age children, has been receiving $120 per month in assistance.

Woman Fined $25

Mrs. Evelyn Bible, this city, was fined $25 and ordered to make restitution of $51.24 to the Allegany County Welfare Board. She had been indicted on a charge of false pretenses in obtaining the money. She entered a guilty plea.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the woman, asked the court to be lenient as she is a widow with seven children ranging in age from six months to 16 years.

Mrs. Bible told the court her husband had died early last summer and that the $1,030 she had in the bank was being held for emergencies and to help put her children through school. Five of the children are attending school.

She also told the court she had spent $1,200 for her husband's funeral and for a number of debts. Judge Henderson said that these cases are difficult, but the Welfare Board has certain rules and regulations which must be observed. He added a warning to any other person who may be inclined to obtain

City Will Join Drive To Keep Dyehouse Here

Union Will Meet With County Today

The Mayor and Council yesterday joined in the campaign underway here to halt the closing of the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant.

Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday told a delegation from Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), that the city's first step will be to inform the Celanese Corporation of America that "the city will oppose the closing of the dyehouse."

The joint meeting was held in Mayor Post's office yesterday after the union solicited the city's support in its campaign to halt the closing of the unit.

Meeting Set Today

A Local 1874 delegation will meet with the Board of County Commissioners today at 2 p. m. to solicit county aid in the campaign.

The company announced recently that it would close the dyehouse sometime in the spring and said approximately 400 employes would be affected.

But the union claims the number will be closer to 500.

In a statement issued last week Aldridge urged the company to use what he estimated as a $500,000 severance allowance fund as an investment to modernize the dyeing and finishing plant and keep it running. The company in its announcement said the severance allowance would be approximately $400,000.

After yesterday's meeting Aldridge said: "The union appreciates the interest shown by the Mayor and Council members.

Will Seek Support

"In addition, we are planning appearances before other civic groups to enlist their support in all out efforts to save the dyehouse operations for Amcelle.

"The union will be glad to provide detailed information to any groups or individuals who wish to join us in these efforts," Aldridge concluded.

Local Guard Recruit Drive Intensified

CD's Need Men For Various Fields

Requests of youths seeking enlistment in the local National Guard companies have indicated a number of misunderstandings concerning a recruiting drive being carried on by the organization.

First Lt. John R. Jackle, commanding officer of C Company, said many men between the ages of 17 and 21 have the misconception they do not need their parents' consent to enlist in the Guard.

Lt. Jackle explained that men between the ages of 17 and 18½ years must have parental consent to enlist. He pointed out that they must fill out a consent agreement which must be notarized.

Although enlistees are not guaranteed an indefinite deferment, they are classified 1-D by their local draft board, Lt. Jackle said.

He stated a recruit may be deferred under three conditions:

He may be deferred for one year from the date of his induction in the Guard, or he may be deferred for the balance of his enlistment, or he may be deferred until he reaches the age of 26 years.

However, Lt. Jackle noted, an enlistee may be classified only for the one condition of the three which gives him the shortest deferment.

Once a guardsman, the enlistee, in order to keep his 1-D classification must not miss 10 per cent of his drill classes during a year, and must attend summer encampment, Lt. Jackle said.

According to Lt. Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., public information officer, the two local companies are still in need of men. Lt. Conlon said Headquarters Company has openings for men with radio aptitude or who have had experience in the field.

Company C also needs men, he said. The company has openings in the three rifle platoons, the weapons platoon and for men to handle the light machine gun. Lt. Conlon pointed out that men are wanted who can fire the .22 calibre rifle and are eligible for the company's rifle team.

Last week, Daryl A. Manges, 312 Baltimore Avenue, was recommended and enlisted into Company C by Sgt. James A. Stemple, the unit's public information noncommissioned officer.

Post Playground Association To Meet

The Thomas Post Playground Association will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the home of Fred Soulsby, 1017 Virginia Avenue.

The program for the coming year is to be discussed, after which refreshments will be served.

Registration Deadline Is February 13

Rush Is Expected As Election Nears

Only 17 registration days remain before election books will be closed for the coming city elections.

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, reported yesterday that the deadline for registering for the city primary and general election will be February 13.

After that the books will be closed until March 26, one week after the general election.

There was a slight increase in the rate of registration yesterday, but not enough to get excited about.

237 Register Here

New registrations, which have been running at the rate of three or four a day, jumped to 14 yesterday for a total of 237 since Cumberland's new continuous registration system was placed in operation in September.

The City Registration Headquarters, located in the basement of City Hall, is expecting a registration rush to develop soon.

In 1950, when there were only two registration days, some 3,000 persons registered in this city. Under the previous election laws, the third and fourth Mondays in Febraury were set aside for registration.

The continuous registration law requires that books be closed 20 days before the primary election so they can be prepared for election officials, and another seven days after the general election for any necessary processing.

Names Are Dropped

Eligible voters may register from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday through Friday.

Many of the citizens who have registered recently are 21-year-olds, who will be voting for the first time in the March 4 primary.

When the City Registration staff completed its check of the city election books several months ago, it was necessary to remove the names of 6,791 persons who had not voted for five years.

The revision left 14,572 on the books from the 21,516 citizens who were registered in the 1950 elections.

In the meanwhile, 237 other names of known dead, which exceeded 150 some time ago, were dropped from the records.

Police Seek Missing Woman

Police are looking for a 52-year-old mother who has been missing from her Baltimore Aenue home since last Tuesday.

Sponaugle, who offered a $20 reward for information leading to discovery of his wife's whereabouts, said she apparently left home, taking with her a handbag and a few pieces of clothing.

He also said he and his wife, married since 1919, had no quarrels. They have 10 living children, four of whom are residing at home and range in age from 11 to 17.

The missing woman has graying dark brown hair, blue eyes, is five feet, three inches tall, weighs 135 pounds and has upper dentures and a partial lower denture. She injured her right index finger with lye some time ago.

Sponaugle requested that anyone who knows her whereabouts contact him or notify Juvenile Court, the Sheriff's Office or police.

Jenkins Released From County Jail

John E. Jenkins, who had been confined in the County Jail since last October 15, was released last Saturday night upon payment of his $1,000 fine, according to the sheriff's office.

Jenkins drew a 90-day jail sentence besides the fine when he pleaded guilty to horse race betting at The Scoreboard, 20 North Mechanic Street.

He was one of three men who drew similar sentences for operations at The Scoreboard. The 90 days expired January 12. Robert Shrout, one of the three, paid his fine and was discharged that day. Jenkins was the second to gain his freedom. Still in jail is the third defendant, Richard Fox.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 20 YEARS AGO—Shown above is a group of Girl Scouts and leaders in Emmanuel Episcopal Church House at Christmas time in 1932 as they remodeled and repaired dolls as gifts to needy children. This picture was taken one year after the Girl Scouts joined the local Community Chest which will observe its 25th anniversary, January 25. Pictured (left to right) are Mrs. George W. Legge, wife of a former mayor. She is now dietician at Fort Hill High School; Miss Helen Boughton, former teacher in Allegany County schools; Miss Theckla Price, now a member of the Ursuline Order; Miss Emily Lapp, former teacher in the county and sister of Miss Irene Lapp, head of the commercial department of Allegany High School; Miss Dorothy Witherup, now Mrs. William D. Claus; an unidentified Girl Scout; Miss Vivian Wright, former resident of Beall Street; Mrs. Caroline Whittaker, a volunteer scout leader, now secretary in the Girl Scout office; and Mrs. J. Henry Holzshu, troop leader who is still active in scouting in charge of a Brownie troop at Mt. Royal School.

Community Chest Recounts History Of Girl Scouts Here

The first Girl Scout troop to be formed in Cumberland was organized in 1917 from a group of girls formed as the Junior Civic League and sponsored by the Cumberland Civic Club headed by Miss Elizabeth Lowndes.

Today the Cumberland Girl Scouts are a member agency of the Cumberland Community Chest which will observes its 25th anniversary this week

One year after the Girl Scouts organized, Mrs. Orville L. Shirey became the first captain in Cumberland to receive a commission from National Headquarters.

Meet In City Hall

The first troop was made up of 16 girls and met in the City Hall and later in the Schwarzenbach Building. An officer of Company G, Maryland National Guard, instructed them in military drill. Emphasis was placed on Red Cross work as the United States became involved in World War I.

After the war, the Girl Scouts struggled for existence and when finally they could not find a suitable meeting place, the troop disbanded. The $110 that was in the treasury at that time was given to the YMCA to furnish a room in its new building.

Interest in Girl Scouting died until 1927 when Cora Virginia Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl C. Perry, organized a troop at St. Mark's Church with Miss Emily Lapp as captain. In February of 1928, the first girls registered with the national organization and the new troop grew to a membership of two leaders, three troop commitee members and 18 girls.

Six Dogs Shot By Ridgeley Police Chief

Animals Were Found Frothing At Mouth

Six dogs were killed in Ridgeley, W. Va., last week by Chief of Police H. L. Henry who reported to town officials that the animals were running at large and frothing at their mouths.

Chief Henry said he could not determine definitely if the dogs had been poisoned or were mad. In a couple of instances, the dogs, in bad condition, attempted to attack him, so were immediately shot and killed.

There has been a wave of dogs running at large in the neighboring West Virginia community, and town officials issue a warning to dog owners to keep their pets tied or impounded.

Chief Henry has been instructed to destroy all stray dogs found frothing at the mouth and to pick up habitual strays if necessary.

Chief Henry also reported to town officials that the recent holiday season in the community was free of traffic and other accidents and there were no fires or other mishaps. Only two arrests were made during the holiday period, both for drunkness and neither of these involved Ridgeley or Cumberland citizens.

Officials expressed the view that the Christmas and New Year holiday period was the most peaceable and law abiding ts well as the most accident-free holiday time in recent years.

Union May Form Carlsen Brigade

The TWUA may seek volunteers for a Carlsen Brigade which may be formed here to preserve the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant.

James Blackwell, Atlanta, Ga., TWUA publicity director, said the corps will follow the example of Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who refused to leave the Flying Enterprise until it sank under him.

Sent here by Emil Rieve, TWUA president, to assist Local 1874, TWUA (CIO), in its fight to keep the dyehouse, Blackwell said:

"It is not our intention to accept the belief that we are on a sinking ship."

This year's toastmaster for the occasion will be William A. Gunter.

The Duck Busters Club is composed of prominent business and professional men in the Tri State area who gather each year to enjoy ducks bagged by the members.

This year, the ducks for the dinner will be provided by Dr. A. H. Hawkins, this city, and Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton, who captured the fowl during their annual hunt in Arkansas.

Attending the dinner will be guests and members from Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. A number of guests have also been invited from Arkansas.

Passengers Say Keister's Car Weaved On Road

Defense Will Be Heard Today

Two young women who were passengers in the automobile driven by Gene Gilbert Keister, 24-year-old Cresaptown man, when he struck and fatally injured a 52-year old pedestrian on Oldtown Road Christmas evening, testified in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon that the car was weaving at times and left the road at least once on the return trip from Paw Paw, W. Va.

After presenting testimony by 12 witnesses yesterday afternoon, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher rested his case about 4:30 p. m. Keister is charged with manslaughter in the death of James Richard "Dude" Long, 52, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker who lived at 620 Montreal Avenue at the time of his death. Keister entered a plea of not guilty.

Resumes Today

Associate Judge George Henderson, who is hearing the case in the absence of a jury, recessed the trial until 9:15 o'clock this morning. Keister's attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., said that they would present three or four defense witnesses.

The women witnesses were Mrs. Peggy Jean Ramsey, 22, 505 Decatur Street, and Mrs. Catherine May Bonner, 18, who lives in Cresaptown.

Several Drinks

Both testified that on the trip from Cresaptown to Paw Paw Christmas afternoon, Keister and another passenger, Bruce E. Twigg, Jr., 28, Cresaptown, each had two or three drinks of whiskey. The girls related that they had Christmas dinner at Mrs. Ramsey's mother's home in Paw Paw and then met the two young men about 5 o'clock for the return to Cumberland.

They said that in the meantime the men had obtained another pint or half pint bottle of whiskey and each had one more drink on the way back. Each of the four had a bottle of beer during a brief stop at Rosie's Tavern on Oldtown Road.

Did Not See

The young women and Twigg all testified that they did not see Long until he loomed directly in front of the car as Keister was passing another automobile. They said that the driver hesitated briefly but did not stop until the car developed mechanical trouble on Maryland Avenue. They said they did not urge Keister to stop because they were "scared."

Keister was arrested by State Trooper John F. Browning, who

Council Approves CD Appropriation

Plans for a Civil Defense warning system for this city will get under way late this week.

Arthur B. Gibson, city CD director, said yesterday he will confer with William G. Barger, Allegany County Civil Defense director, to expedite plans for a city warning system.

The Mayor and Council yesterday agreed to provide $656.25 as Cumberland's share in the $875 needed to set up a county warning system.

Gibson said a number of decisions, including the type of sirens and their locations, must be decided before the system is installed.

During World War II, the city installed five horse power sirens on top of City Hall and in South End and six smaller sirens throughout the city.

In spite of the coverage, Gibson said, results were not altogether satisfactory in World War II tryouts, chiefly due to the topography of the city.

More powerful equipment placed on higher location, he said, will be used in an attempt to improve efficiency of the warning system.

Equipment will be adopted from lists approved by state CD authorities, since the state will share in the cost.

The Mayor and Council approved payment of $2,012.54 to the Cumberland Contracting Company as a fifth estimate for the paving of Valley Street under the flood control program.

The council authorized Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, to advertise for bids to re-equip the men's public rest rooms in City Hall.

An application by Clinton G. Brotemarkle, 208 Laing Avenue, to operate a taxi stand in the vicinity of the Court House was referred to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn. Flynn told the council he recalled a controversy before his tenure as chief during which the council limited the number of cab stands at the Court House to the one which is in operation. He suggested that a check be made of records before action is taken on the application.

Harry D. Smith and Clifton J. Cook, having completed probationary periods, were confirmed as regular members of the Fire Department.

Civil Service Report

The Civil Service Commission in a report on its activities for the year said it had conducted four examinations and listed city personnel as follows: Airport, 3; engineering 9; finance, 15; fire, 53; health, 13; park (Constitution), 5; parks and playgrounds, 2; police, 53; street, 61, and water, 53.

It said 18 promotions were granted during the year, five suspended, nine resignations received and six pensioned.

A check for $1.82 was ordered paid Charles A. Shipe, Washington, D. C., for overpayment of taxes on a Frederick Street lot.

Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was 90,310,000 gallons as compared to 88,660,000 in the same period a year ago. The daily average was 12,901,000 gallons. The water level at Lake Gordon is three feet, seven inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon six feet below the crest.

Pickens Is Named To Housing Board

Paul D. Pickens, Braddock Road, was named a member of the Housing Authority of Cumberland at a meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Pickens will complete the term of the late Robert L. Stallings. He will serve until October 17, 1956.

EDGAR REYNOLDS

Reynolds Will Seek Seventh Council Term

Former Street Head Seeks Seventh Term

Edgar (Buck) Reynolds, 615 Louisiana Avenue, businessman and former commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday he is a candidate for City Council in the March municipal elections.

Reynolds will be seeking his seventh elective term to public office. He was first elected to council in 1934 and served five consecutive terms. He was elected to his sixth term in 1948 but was unsuccessful in his bid in 1950.

Expressing confidence in the economic future of Cumberland, Reynolds said he will support a "far-seeing program aimed at not only attracting new industry but attempting to maintain industrial facilities already here."

"Cooperate with industry," Reynolds said, "and industry will cooperate with us."

Four Main Planks

The former commissioner listed four main planks in his platform as follows:

"1. A cooperative program between the city and interested agencies to attract new industry and maintain those already here.

"2. Streets must be widened by reducing the width of sidewalks. As long as 12 years ago I advocated this move and during my last term in office, Baltimore Avenue was improved and a traffic hazard removed.

"3. No streets should be closed without some assurance that future benefits can be derived for the city as a whole.

"4. The traffic pattern should be thoroughly investigated to determine what revisions are needed."

Reynolds said in his previous administration he had attempted to complete urgent street projects and will continue those efforts if elected.

Seventh To File

Reynolds is the seventh candidate to file for City Council. Others are former water commissioner, William J. Edwards; former police commissioner, William V. Keegan; former fire chief, Jeremiah T. Defibaugh; Police Commissioner John J. Long, J. Walter Byer and Attorney Edwin M. Horchler.

Campbell Gets Suspended Term In Liquor Case

Other Criminal Trials Heard

Raymond Campbell, who pleaded guilty to a charge of sale and possession of alcoholic beverages, drew a one-year suspended sentence yesterday from Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The judge stipulated that the suspension would remain in effect as long as Campbell keeps the peace, is of good behavior and stays away from places that sell liquor. Campbell was booked after a raid November 10 at the Boulevard Hotel, 725 Kelly Boulevard, where he was employed.

Reimbursement Ordered

Nellie Albright, who pleaded guilty to obtaining $42.50 illegally from the Allegany County Welfare Board through false pretenses, was fined $25 and $9.15 court costs on her guilty plea. She also received a one-month sentence in the County Jail, which was suspended provided the board is reimbursed at a rate of $10 per month.

Judge Henderson took under advisement the case against Mrs. Evelyn L. Wilson, 44, of the George's Creek area who pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting her 78-year old husband to obtain $130 in Old Age Assistance and Aid To Dependent Children illegally.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher told Judge Henderson that the woman's offense was that she failed to inform the Welfare Board of $6 a week she obtained over a five-month period by working several days a week in the rectory of St. Michael's Catholic Church in Frostburg.

Under board regulations, any earning above $1 per month are to be reported to the board and deducted from assistance payments. The Wilson family, including three teen-age children, has been receiving $120 per month in assistance.

Woman Fined $25

Mrs. Evelyn Bible, this city, was fined $25 and ordered to make restitution of $51.24 to the Allegany County Welfare Board. She had been indicted on a charge of false pretenses in obtaining the money. She entered a guilty plea.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the woman, asked the court to be lenient as she is a widow with seven children ranging in age from six months to 16 years.

Mrs. Bible told the court her husband had died early last summer and that the $1,030 she had in the bank was being held for emergencies and to help put her children through school. Five of the children are attending school.

She also told the court she had spent $1,200 for her husband's funeral and for a number of debts. Judge Henderson said that these cases are difficult, but the Welfare Board has certain rules and regulations which must be observed. He added a warning to any other person who may be inclined to obtain

City Will Join Drive To Keep Dyehouse Here

Union Will Meet With County Today

The Mayor and Council yesterday joined in the campaign underway here to halt the closing of the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant.

Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday told a delegation from Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), that the city's first step will be to inform the Celanese Corporation of America that "the city will oppose the closing of the dyehouse."

The joint meeting was held in Mayor Post's office yesterday after the union solicited the city's support in its campaign to halt the closing of the unit.

Meeting Set Today

A Local 1874 delegation will meet with the Board of County Commissioners today at 2 p. m. to solicit county aid in the campaign.

The company announced recently that it would close the dyehouse sometime in the spring and said approximately 400 employes would be affected.

But the union claims the number will be closer to 500.

In a statement issued last week Aldridge urged the company to use what he estimated as a $500,000 severance allowance fund as an investment to modernize the dyeing and finishing plant and keep it running. The company in its announcement said the severance allowance would be approximately $400,000.

After yesterday's meeting Aldridge said: "The union appreciates the interest shown by the Mayor and Council members.

Will Seek Support

"In addition, we are planning appearances before other civic groups to enlist their support in all out efforts to save the dyehouse operations for Amcelle.

"The union will be glad to provide detailed information to any groups or individuals who wish to join us in these efforts," Aldridge concluded.

In addition to Aldridge, other members of the official TWUA delegation at the meeting were John G. Thomas, business agent; James A. Blackwell, southern publicity director for the international TWUA; Howard Bush, vice-president and dyehouse chairman; Lee Emerson and Ralph Valentine, dyehouse representatives; John L. Estes, a member of Local 1874 and of the State Unemployment Board who was invited by the union to attend the meeting; and Charles W. Davis, recording secretary.

Local Guard Recruit Drive Intensified

CD's Need Men For Various Fields

Requests of youths seeking enlistment in the local National Guard companies have indicated a number of misunderstandings concerning a recruiting drive being carried on by the organization.

First Lt. John R. Jackle, commanding officer of C Company, said many men between the ages of 17 and 21 have the misconception they do not need their parents' consent to enlist in the Guard.

Lt. Jackle explained that men between the ages of 17 and 18½ years must have parental consent to enlist. He pointed out that they must fill out a consent agreement which must be notarized.

Although enlistees are not guaranteed an indefinite deferment, they are classified 1-D by their local draft board, Lt. Jackle said.

He stated a recruit may be deferred under three conditions:

He may be deferred for one year from the date of his induction in the Guard, or he may be deferred for the balance of his enlistment, or he may be deferred until he reaches the age of 26 years.

However, Lt. Jackle noted, an enlistee may be classified only for the one condition of the three which gives him the shortest deferment.

Once a guardsman, the enlistee, in order to keep his 1-D classification must not miss 10 per cent of his drill classes during a year, and must attend summer encampment, Lt. Jackle said.

According to Lt. Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., public information officer, the two local companies are still in need of men. Lt. Conlon said Headquarters Company has openings for men with radio aptitude or who have had experience in the field.

Company C also needs men, he said. The company has openings in the three rifle platoons, the weapons platoon and for men to handle the light machine gun. Lt. Conlon pointed out that men are wanted who can fire the .22 calibre rifle and are eligible for the company's rifle team.

Last week, Daryl A. Manges, 312 Baltimore Avenue, was recommended and enlisted into Company C by Sgt. James A. Stemple, the unit's public information noncommissioned officer.

Post Playground Association To Meet

The Thomas Post Playground Association will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the home of Fred Soulsby, 1017 Virginia Avenue.

The program for the coming year is to be discussed, after which refreshments will be served.

Registration Deadline Is February 13

Rush Is Expected As Election Nears

Only 17 registration days remain before election books will be closed for the coming city elections.

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, reported yesterday that the deadline for registering for the city primary and general election will be February 13.

After that the books will be closed until March 26, one week after the general election.

There was a slight increase in the rate of registration yesterday, but not enough to get excited about.

237 Register Here

New registrations, which have been running at the rate of three or four a day, jumped to 14 yesterday for a total of 237 since Cumberland's new continuous registration system was placed in operation in September.

The City Registration Headquarters, located in the basement of City Hall, is expecting a registration rush to develop soon.

In 1950, when there were only two registration days, some 3,000 persons registered in this city. Under the previous election laws, the third and fourth Mondays in February were set aside for registration.

The continuous registration law requires that books be closed 20 days before the primary election so they can be prepared for election officials, and another seven days after the general election for any necessary processing.

Names Are Dropped

Eligible voters may register from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday through Friday.

Many of the citizens who have registered recently are 21-year-olds, who will be voting for the first time in the March 4 primary.

When the City Registration staff completed its check of the city election books several months ago, it was necessary to remove the names of 6,791 persons who had not voted for five years.

The revision left 14,572 on the books from the 21,516 citizens who were registered in the 1950 elections.

In the meanwhile, 237 other names of known dead, which exceeded 150 some time ago, were dropped from the records.

Police Seek Missing Woman

Police are looking for a 52-year-old mother who has been missing from her Baltimore Aenue home since last Tuesday.

Sponaugle, who offered a $20 reward for information leading to discovery of his wife's whereabouts, said she apparently left home, taking with her a handbag and a few pieces of clothing.

He also said he and his wife, married since 1919, had no quarrels. They have 10 living children, four of whom are residing at home and range in age from 11 to 17.

The missing woman has graying dark brown hair, blue eyes, is five feet, three inches tall, weighs 135 pounds and has upper dentures and a partial lower denture. She injured her right index finger with lye some time ago.

Sponaugle requested that anyone who knows her whereabouts contact him or notify Juvenile Court, the Sheriff's Office or police.

Jenkins Released From County Jail

John E. Jenkins, who had been confined in the County Jail since last October 15, was released last Saturday night upon payment of his $1,000 fine, according to the sheriff's office.

Jenkins drew a 90-day jail sentence besides the fine when he pleaded guilty to horse race betting at The Scoreboard, 20 North Mechanic Street.

He was one of three men who drew similar sentences for operations at The Scoreboard. The 90 days expired January 12. Robert Shrout, one of the three, paid his fine and was discharged that day. Jenkins was the second to gain his freedom. Still in jail is the third defendant, Richard Fox.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 20 YEARS AGO—Shown above is a group of Girl Scouts and leaders in Emmanuel Episcopal Church House at Christmas time in 1932 as they remodeled and repaired dolls as gifts to needy children. This picture was taken one year after the Girl Scouts joined the local Community Chest which will observe its 25th anniversary, January 25. Pictured (left to right) are Mrs. George W. Legge, wife of a former mayor. She is now dietician at Fort Hill High School; Miss Helen Boughton, former teacher in Allegany County schools; Miss Theckla Price, now a member of the Ursuline Order; Miss Emily Lapp, former teacher in the county and sister of Miss Irene Lapp, head of the commercial department of Allegany High School; Miss Dorothy Witherup, now Mrs. William D. Claus; an unidentified Girl Scout; Miss Vivian Wright, former resident of Beall Street; Mrs. Caroline Whittaker, a volunteer scout leader, now secretary in the Girl Scout office; and Mrs. J. Henry Holzshu, troop leader who is still active in scouting in charge of a Brownie troop at Mt. Royal School.

Community Chest Recounts History Of Girl Scouts Here

The first Girl Scout troop to be formed in Cumberland was organized in 1917 from a group of girls formed as the Junior Civic League and sponsored by the Cumberland Civic Club headed by Miss Elizabeth Lowndes.

Today the Cumberland Girl Scouts are a member agency of the Cumberland Community Chest which will observes its 25th anniversary this week

One year after the Girl Scouts organized, Mrs. Orville L. Shirey became the first captain in Cumberland to receive a commission from National Headquarters.

Meet In City Hall

The first troop was made up of 16 girls and met in the City Hall and later in the Schwarzenbach Building. An officer of Company G, Maryland National Guard, instructed them in military drill. Emphasis was placed on Red Cross work as the United States became involved in World War I.

After the war, the Girl Scouts struggled for existence and when finally they could not find a suitable meeting place, the troop disbanded. The $110 that was in the treasury at that time was given to the YMCA to furnish a room in its new building.

Interest in Girl Scouting died until 1927 when Cora Virginia Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl C. Perry, organized a troop at St. Mark's Church with Miss Emily Lapp as captain. In February of 1928, the first girls registered with the national organization and the new troop grew to a membership of two leaders, three troop commitee members and 18 girls.

Six Dogs Shot By Ridgeley Police Chief

Animals Were Found Frothing At Mouth

Six dogs were killed in Ridgeley, W. Va., last week by Chief of Police H. L. Henry who reported to town officials that the animals were running at large and frothing at their mouths.

Chief Henry said he could not determine definitely if the dogs had been poisoned or were mad. In a couple of instances, the dogs, in bad condition, attempted to attack him, so were immediately shot and killed.

There has been a wave of dogs running at large in the neighboring West Virginia community, and town officials issue a warning to dog owners to keep their pets tied or impounded.

Chief Henry has been instructed to destroy all stray dogs found frothing at the mouth and to pick up habitual strays if necessary.

Chief Henry also reported to town officials that the recent holiday season in the community was free of traffic and other accidents and there were no fires or other mishaps. Only two arrests were made during the holiday period, both for drunkness and neither of these involved Ridgeley or Cumberland citizens.

Officials expressed the view that the Christmas and New Year holiday period was the most peaceable and law abiding ts well as the most accident-free holiday time in recent years.

Union May Form Carlsen Brigade

The TWUA may seek volunteers for a Carlsen Brigade which may be formed here to preserve the dyehouse at the Amcelle plant.

James Blackwell, Atlanta, Ga., TWUA publicity director, said the corps will follow the example of Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who refused to leave the Flying Enterprise until it sank under him.

Sent here by Emil Rieve, TWUA president, to assist Local 1874, TWUA (CIO), in its fight to keep the dyehouse, Blackwell said:

"It is not our intention to accept the belief that we are on a sinking ship."

Passengers Say Keister's Car Weaved On Road

Defense Will Be Heard Today

Two young women who were passengers in the automobile driven by Gene Gilbert Keister, 24-year-old Cresaptown man, when he struck and fatally injured a 52-year old pedestrian on Oldtown Road Christmas evening, testified in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon that the car was weaving at times and left the road at least once on the return trip from Paw Paw, W. Va.

After presenting testimony by 12 witnesses yesterday afternoon, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher rested his case about 4:30 p. m. Keister is charged with manslaughter in the death of James Richard "Dude" Long, 52, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker who lived at 620 Montreal Avenue at the time of his death. Keister entered a plea of not guilty.

Resumes Today

Associate Judge George Henderson, who is hearing the case in the absence of a jury, recessed the trial until 9:15 o'clock this morning. Keister's attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., said that they would present three or four defense witnesses.

The women witnesses were Mrs. Peggy Jean Ramsey, 22, 505 Decatur Street, and Mrs. Catherine May Bonner, 18, who lives in Cresaptown.

Several Drinks

Both testified that on the trip from Cresaptown to Paw Paw Christmas afternoon, Keister and another passenger, Bruce E. Twigg, Jr., 28, Cresaptown, each had two or three drinks of whiskey. The girls related that they had Christmas dinner at Mrs. Ramsey's mother's home in Paw Paw and then met the two young men about 5 o'clock for the return to Cumberland.

They said that in the meantime the men had obtained another pint or half pint bottle of whiskey and each had one more drink on the way back. Each of the four had a bottle of beer during a brief stop at Rosie's Tavern on Oldtown Road.

Did Not See

The young women and Twigg all testified that they did not see Long until he loomed directly in front of the car as Keister was passing another automobile. They said that the driver hesitated briefly but did not stop until the car developed mechanical trouble on Maryland Avenue. They said they did not urge Keister to stop because they were "scared."

Keister was arrested by State Trooper John F. Browning, who

Council Approves CD Appropriation

Plans for a Civil Defense warning system for this city will get under way late this week.

Arthur B. Gibson, city CD director, said yesterday he will confer with William G. Barger, Allegany County Civil Defense director, to expedite plans for a city warning system.

The Mayor and Council yesterday agreed to provide $656.25 as Cumberland's share in the $875 needed to set up a county warning system.

Gibson said a number of decisions, including the type of sirens and their locations, must be decided before the system is installed.

During World War II, the city installed five horse power sirens on top of City Hall and in South End and six smaller sirens throughout the city.

In spite of the coverage, Gibson said, results were not altogether satisfactory in World War II tryouts, chiefly due to the topography of the city.

More powerful equipment placed on higher location, he said, will be used in an attempt to improve efficiency of the warning system.

Equipment will be adopted from lists approved by state CD authorities, since the state will share in the cost.

The Mayor and Council approved payment of $2,012.54 to the Cumberland Contracting Company as a fifth estimate for the paving of Valley Street under the flood control program.

The council authorized Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, to advertise for bids to re-equip the men's public rest rooms in City Hall.

An application by Clinton G. Brotemarkle, 208 Laing Avenue, to operate a taxi stand in the vicinity of the Court House was referred to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn. Flynn told the council he recalled a controversy before his tenure as chief during which the council limited the number of cab stands at the Court House to the one which is in operation. He suggested that a check be made of records before action is taken on the application.

Harry D. Smith and Clifton J. Cook, having completed probationary periods, were confirmed as regular members of the Fire Department.

Civil Service Report

The Civil Service Commission in a report on its activities for the year said it had conducted four examinations and listed city personnel as follows: Airport, 3; engineering 9; finance, 15; fire, 53; health, 13; park (Constitution), 5; parks and playgrounds, 2; police, 53; street, 61, and water, 53.

It said 18 promotions were granted during the year, five suspended, nine resignations received and six pensioned.

A check for $1.82 was ordered paid Charles A. Shipe, Washington, D. C., for overpayment of taxes on a Frederick Street lot.

Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was 90,310,000 gallons as compared to 88,660,000 in the same period a year ago. The daily average was 12,901,000 gallons. The water level at Lake Gordon is three feet, seven inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon six feet below the crest.

Pickens Is Named To Housing Board

Paul D. Pickens, Braddock Road, was named a member of the Housing Authority of Cumberland at a meeting of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Pickens will complete the term of the late Robert L. Stallings. He will serve until October 17, 1956.

EDGAR REYNOLDS

Reynolds Will Seek Seventh Council Term

Former Street Head Seeks Seventh Term

Edgar (Buck) Reynolds, 615 Louisiana Avenue, businessman and former commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday he is a candidate for City Council in the March municipal elections.

Reynolds will be seeking his seventh elective term to public office. He was first elected to council in 1934 and served five consecutive terms. He was elected to his sixth term in 1948 but was unsuccessful in his bid in 1950.

Expressing confidence in the economic future of Cumberland, Reynolds said he will support a "far-seeing program aimed at not only attracting new industry but attempting to maintain industrial facilities already here."

"Cooperate with industry," Reynolds said, "and industry will cooperate with us."

Four Main Planks

The former commissioner listed four main planks in his platform as follows:

"1. A cooperative program between the city and interested agencies to attract new industry and maintain those already here.

"2. Streets must be widened by reducing the width of sidewalks. As long as 12 years ago I advocated this move and during my last term in office, Baltimore Avenue was improved and a traffic hazard removed.

"3. No streets should be closed without some assurance that future benefits can be derived for the city as a whole.

"4. The traffic pattern should be thoroughly investigated to determine what revisions are needed."

Reynolds said in his previous administration he had attempted to complete urgent street projects and will continue those efforts if elected.

Seventh To File

Reynolds is the seventh candidate to file for City Council. Others are former water commissioner, William J. Edwards; former police commissioner, William V. Keegan; former fire chief, Jeremiah T. Defibaugh; Police Commissioner John J. Long, J. Walter Byer and Attorney Edwin M. Horchler.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz has officially filed for Mayor. The incumbent, Mayor Thomas S. Post, will not be a candidate for re-election.

Deadline for filing for the March 4 primary is midnight February 22.

Shortly after arriving here, personnel began setting up equipment and supplies in the home of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, which turned over the first floor to the Red Cross.

City Police and Firemen aided with traffic and moving of the heavy equipment.

Red Cross officials here said the operation was carried on successfully under the supervision of Dr. D. P. Ray, medical director of the mobile unit.

Burkett Gets Life Sentence In Wife's Death

Other Penalties Added To Term

A life sentence yesterday afternoon was meted out to Clarence Edward Burkett, 32-year old Ellerslie man, by Judge J. Calvin Wright, who found the man guilty of first-degree murder in Bedford County (Pa). Court of Oyer and Terminer.

Burkett, who formerly worked at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here, was convicted in the fatal shooting of his estranged wife, Mrs. Myra Grace Burkett, 23, at the home of her parents near Hyndman, Pa., last September 12.

Two Other Terms

Besides the life sentence, Judge Wright also imposed two other lesser sentences which he said were to run consecutively. Burkett received an indeterminate term running from three-and-one-half-to seven years on a charge of assaulting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Deremer Shaffer, with intent to kill her. On a third charge of carrying a gun without a permit, Burkett got another year.

District Attorney Charles Koontz, who presented his final arguments in the case before Judge Wright passed sentence, said that the effect of the additional sentences beside the life term will be to prevent the paroling of Burkett after he has served part of his sentence. The district attorney was assisted during the trial the week of December 17 by his brother, Paul A. Koontz.

Before Judge Wright determined the degree of Burkett's guilt, one of Burkett's court-appointed attorneys, William McIntyre, presented closing argument. Burkett's other attorney, Richard C. Snyder argued for leniency before the judge passed sentence.

Mrs. Shaffer testified that Burkett shot her twice while she was wrestling with him before he shot his wife.

Burkett had pleaded guilty to murder before his trial began. Judge Wright expressed a desire to hear the evidence before determining his degree of murder guilt.

The convicted man soon will be transported to Western State Penitentiary at Pittsburgh to begin serving his sentence.

Campbell Gets Suspended Term In Liquor Case

Other Criminal Trials Heard

Raymond Campbell, who pleaded guilty to a charge of sale and possession of alcoholic beverages, drew a one-year suspended sentence yesterday from Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The judge stipulated that the suspension would remain in effect as long as Campbell keeps the peace, is of good behavior and stays away from places that sell liquor. Campbell was booked after a raid November 10 at the Boulevard Hotel, 725 Kelly Boulevard, where he was employed.

Reimbursement Ordered

Nellie Albright, who pleaded guilty to obtaining $42.50 illegally from the Allegany County Welfare Board through false pretenses, was fined $25 and $9.15 court costs on her guilty plea. She also received a one-month sentence in the County Jail, which was suspended provided the board is reimbursed at a rate of $10 per month.

Judge Henderson took under advisement the case against Mrs. Evelyn L. Wilson, 44, of the George's Creek area who pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting her 78-year old husband to obtain $130 in Old Age Assistance and Aid To Dependent Children illegally.

Under board regulations, any earning above $1 per month are to be reported to the board and deducted from assistance payments. The Wilson family, including three teen-age children, has been receiving $120 per month in assistance.

Woman Fined $25

Mrs. Evelyn Bible, this city, was fined $25 and ordered to make restitution of $51.24 to the Allegany County Welfare Board. She had been indicted on a charge of false pretenses in obtaining the money. She entered a guilty plea.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the woman, asked the court to be lenient as she is a widow with seven children ranging in age from six months to 16 years.

Mrs. Bible told the court her husband had died early last summer and that the $1,030 she had in the bank was being held for emergencies and to help put her children through school. Five of the children are attending school.

She also told the court she had spent $1,200 for her husband's funeral and for a number of debts. Judge Henderson said that these cases are difficult, but the Welfare Board has certain rules and regulations which must be observed. He added a warning to any other person who may be inclined to obtain
